EIGHT PERISHED.

The Davidson Theater in Milwaukee Destroyed by Fire This Morning With Terrible Loss of Life.

Score or More of Firemen Fell With the Roof Into a Seething Mass of Flames.

Several Escaped But the Others Were Caught By the Burning Roof and Roasted to Death.

Valuable Scenery of the Lilliputians, to Have Appeared in Duluth This Week, Totally Destroyed.

MILWAUKEE, April 9.—The Davidson theater, the finest play house in Milwaukee, and one of the handsomest and costliest theaters in the country, was destroyed by fire which broke out between 4 and 5 o'clock this morning. The valuable scenery carried by the Lilliputians, whose ten days' engagement at the theater was to close on Wednesday, is all gone. Manager Rosenthal, of the company, says it was worth $25,000. Shortly after 5 o'clock, when the fire was seemingly under control, the theater roof, on which a score or more of the brave firemen stood, as they fought the flames, went down, and the brave men were carried with it to the floor of the auditorium below. Some were extricated from the furnace of flames, in which the whole interior was now enveloped by their brave and more fortunate comrades, who risked their lives to drag out the prostrate forms of the dead and injured men.

Six or eight men were soon brought out, and those who were able to speak said there must be ten more in the theater where living death awaited them. For these poor fellows there was no chance. The burning roof had fallen on them and they were roasted to death, if they had not been killed in that terrible plunge from the roof. A cry of horror went up from the firemen who saw the awful catastrophe.

The members of the insurance patrol were covering up the seats in the parquet of the theater when suddenly a light was seen through the roof above. The men in the theater ran back just in time and the next moment the roof fell into the parquet of the theater. Several of the men in the theater were caught by the falling timbers. The scene that followed is never to be forgotten by those who witnessed it. For a moment all was dark, then suddenly a tremendous sheet of flame shot up, and with it came the cries of the firemen who had fallen through the roof to the theater below. One man was heard to cry: "My God, help me. I am roasting to death."

Ten were buried under the blazing roof and there seemed to be little hope that any would come out alive, if indeed they had not been killed by the terrible fall. There was trouble in getting water on the fire, which now rapidly made its way through the theater and scenery. The water was finally turned on and several of the firemen, who had fallen nearest the front of the lobby, were dragged from the burning debris and carried out more or less injured. The men were removed to the saloon across the street and their wounds dressed, while the firemen bravely kept at work pouring a deluge of water on the debris and trying to rescue others of the unfortunate. But soon no more cries were heard and it was evident that all who had not been brought out must now be past hope.

The interior of the auditorium soon became a seething mass of flames which the firemen vainly endeavored to subdue in order to save their doomed comrades. While the frantic men were at work amidst the ruins on the floor of the parquet, the gallery began to burn and while directing their attention to the blaze another portion of the roof fell, making the rescue of the imprisoned men impossible and adding more fuel to the fire.

A Previous Fatality.
The first fatality of the fire happened before the more awful tragedy on the roof. Ollie Reis, a fireman, lost his life while trying to reach the roof of the theater before the roof fell. He had put up a ladder from the northern wing of the hotel building, which is two stories lower than the theater proper, when the ladder swayed and he fell with it to the roof of the wing. He was carried away and died in the arms of his comrades.

He was a member of Engine Company No. 3.

Assistant Chief Dever, who was among those on the roof when the crash came, said: "The members of Engine Companies 3, 4, 5 and 11 were on the roof, where the main portion of the fire was raging. Suddenly, without a moment's warning, the roof gave way and down it went with all the men. Third Assistant Chief August Janesen was among those who were down with the crash. He managed to catch a fire escape just as the roof was swaying and held on. We have tried all we can to rescue the men but can't reach them. Assistant Chief Janesen is among those who are missing. I think he is buried in the debris."

John Yeo, pipeman of Company No. 4, was stretched out on one of the comfortable cots at the emergency at 6:30 o'clock, frightfully injured, but as calm and cool, apparently, as if he had retired for a night's rest. Yeo said: "We were all on the roof of the building with No. 4's men when she sunk with us. There were near me at the time Capt. Luedan, Lieut. Freeman, Pipeman O'Neill, and Pipeman White. Oh, but it was a terrible thing; I am afraid some of the poor fellows are gone for. I never saw or heard from them since. It seems almost impossible that I should be alive here at this moment, but, thank God, I am. I saw the presence of mind of the men when down in the ruins and the quick work of the relief party that came after me."

When I struck the bottom I was pinned down by bricks and timbers and I struggled around to get loose. There was flames all around me and plenty of smoke. My clothing was tangled up with something and so I began to strip off my clothes, and that's the way I got loose—undressing myself there in the burning ruins. My head is badly burned and cut. How did I finally reach a place of safety? Why, the boys came to my aid. I was in a tight spot and was yanked over a wall into the alley or somewhere.

List of the Victims.
Following is a partial list of the men who were buried under the smoldering ruins:

George Janesen, Company No. 2.
Capt. Lindehan, Company No. 4.
Lieut. Janesen, Company No. 4.
Archie Campbell, fireboat Cataract.
Thomas Morgan, Company No. 1.
Frank McGurk.
James Freeman, Company No. 4.
O'Neill.
Crowley, Company No. 14.
The following were rescued and taken to the emergency hospital:
Lieut. Curran, of Company No. 1, Central fire station, probably fatally injured.
Fred Marsh, of Company 5, foot crushed.
Fred Schroeder.
James Freeman, No. 5, badly burned, back hurt.
Capt. Lindehan, of No. 4, probably fatally injured.

At the morgue: Ollie Reis, Company No. 3, fatally injured by a fall of a ladder, died on the way to the hospital.
The guests of the Davidson hotel, which occupies a part of the building, fled panic-stricken from their rooms when the alarm of fire ran through the corridors. They were really in no danger and had ample time to get out. None were injured.

The Lilliputians' loss is heavy. Rosenthal Bros., of New York, proprietors of the theater, own the property. It is one of the most elaborately costumed productions on the road and its scenic property was generally considered magnificent. All this is gone. L. J. Rodriguez, of the Academy of Music, said: "The loss to Manager Rosenthal will be between $50,000 and $75,000."
The Davidson theater was opened in September, 1891, by the Emma Juch Opera company.
Sherman Brown stated, as he watched the smoke curling up the studded and frescoed ceiling which had been his pride: "The original cost to John and Alexander Davidson was between $30,000 and $40,000. The loss is mainly on the interior. The walls will stand when all else is gone. There is no way to estimate the loss but it may be above half of the original investment. It will be at least a year, of course, before we can reopen. I have no doubt the theater will be rebuilt."

As nearly as is known, eight or nine firemen lost their lives in the fire.
Fire Around Him.
The work of rescuing the bodies of the killed and the men who were not killed began immediately after the roof fell. William Crowley remained in the ruins alive for several hours and comrades put forth tremendous exertions to save him. There was fire all round him and the spot where he was pinned down, was kept flooded. Along about 10 o'clock the firemen got near enough to him to speak to him and were a good deal surprised to find him conscious and able to talk. He asked his rescuers to be careful and not drown him with the streams. He said there was a dead man near him, but did not know who it was.
After that Crowley's voice could not be heard for some time and it was feared that he had died, but he subsequently was able to make himself heard again. He said the body near him was that of a man who had been drowned. At 12:15 Crowley was released from the ruins and taken to the emergency hospital. He is badly hurt and may die. He had been imprisoned for seven hours.

ATTACK BY HILL.

Protest By the New York Senator Against the Income Tax Feature of the Wilson Bill.

His Opening Remarks Took a Wider Range and He Criticized the Administration Very Sharply.

The Hawaiian Blunder Was the Natural Result of Making a Republican Secretary of State.

In Revising the Tariff the Changed Condition of the Country Should Be Carefully Considered.

WASHINGTON, April 9.—The speech of Senator Hill, delivered in the senate today, was chiefly devoted to an extensive and bitter attack on the income tax feature of the Wilson bill. His opening remarks, however, took a wider range, and he criticized the administration very sharply. "The political revolution," he began, "which commenced in 1890 and culminated in 1893, was an emphatic expression of the popular will in behalf of several governmental policies. Measures and not men were largely the issues involved in that movement. Rightly interpreted, it indicated the public sentiment in opposition to intrenchment upon the reserved rights upon states through odious federal election laws, some proposed and others then existing; it voiced the general demand for a discontinuance of the unwise and indefensible financial system of silver bullion purchased by the government instead of the coinage contentedly by the constitution, assisting equally a hindrance to the return to bimetalism as well as an impediment to sound and stable currency; it manifested the desire for a better administration of public affairs, greater economy in governmental expenditures and the evasion of higher official standards in the execution of public trusts; it demanded a more safe, dignified and consistent foreign policy and it condoned that abuse or perversion of the taxing power of the government which is known as the policy of protection for protection's sake alone, and declared in favor of a tariff for revenue."

The Hawaiian Blunder.
He then turned to the foreign policy of the administration, saying: "It is sad to think that some mistakes have occurred. Our foreign policy, especially our policy in regard to Hawaii, it must be admitted, has not met the expectations of the people. A sense of humiliation prevailed when the project for the restoration of the Hawaiian monarchy was unfolded by the administration, and gratification ensued when its abandonment or failure was reluctantly announced, influenced heavily by an assumed public sentiment."

"That unfortunate contemplated policy was abandoned, and a blunder is sometimes worse than a crime. It was, however, the natural consequence of one might well have been anticipated, that mistake in placing the department of state in charge of a Republican statesman, distinguished and estimable though he may be, whose public services have always been identified in opposition to the Democratic party, who was without sympathy for its traditions and purposes, and whose political convictions upon the disputed public questions of the day, if charged at all, are carefully concealed. "It is to be regretted that the president should not have been able to find in his own party some safer and honored statesman in whom he and his party could have placed confidence, one of Democratic instincts and training, whose management of foreign affairs would have reflected credit upon the country, and would have avoided the promulgation of the un-American policy—a departure from Democratic precedents—which was sought to be forced upon an unwilling people. In this view of the situation our opponents must accept some share of the responsibility for the blunders committed in our foreign affairs. In other respects the present administration of our government affords scant ground for just criticism."

He spoke of the repeal of the federal election law as a fulfillment of the party's pledges and a triumph for the just doctrine of state's right, and endorsed the repeal of the Sherman law.
Changed Conditions.
Coming then to the main question—tariff reform—he said that revision should be approached with circumspection and with a realizing sense of the changed condition of the country since 1887 and 1890.
"An extreme reduction of tariff duties at a time when the treasury was swollen with a surplus of $100,000,000, when the country was reasonably prosperous, when all our industries were in operation and when all our workmen were employed, assumed a different aspect and presented a different question than when proposed now, with a large and growing treasury deficit instead of a surplus standing us in the face, with our industries paralyzed, our manufacturing closed, our workmen idle, and following upon the heels of one of the most disastrous financial panics in our history."
What was safe and prudent and wise then, it would be criminal folly to attempt now. The present was no time for partisanship, he said, and Democrats and Republicans alike should strive to solve existing problems in a spirit of broad patriotism.

"In the face of the present reduction of private industries," he said, "and in the presence of such a paralysis of general depression as the treasury attests and proclaims, this bill, as framed by its authors and as passed by the house, sought to double the deficit by discarding customs revenue and to fill the void with an income tax."

The rest of the speech was given up to the income tax question and his opening words defined his position in unequivocal and forcible language.

"Against such a scheme," he said, "unnecessary, ill timed and mischievous—suddenly sprung upon the country in the hour of its distress, un-Democratic in its nature and socialistic in its tendencies—I enter the protest of the people of the state of New York. They utterly dissent from any proposal to get revenue for the general government by taxing incomes. Their dissent is practically unanimous and altogether implacable."

A Slip at Groves.
He intimated that the tariff bill was constructed on lines laid down by the administration, that it was an anomalous state of affairs, when the president should be able to give congress information of what had occurred in a committee of the house and said:

"In these latter days the distinction between the functions and prerogatives of the executive department on one hand and the legislative department on the other hand, do not seem to be always observed. The truth is that the first information which congress had of the alleged details of the proposed bill was in the message itself."

"But the strangest part of this unprecedented proceeding was the fact that at the very date of the message—40th Dec. 14, 1893—neither the full committee of ways and means, nor the Democratic members thereof had agreed upon any income tax or upon other internal taxation."

The senior senator from Indiana, Mr. Voorhes, calls the allegation a noisy and resounding charge. Let me tell you that it is not half as noisy as the constant vituperations we hear on every side and deny the right of a Democratic congress to make new principles for the party not sanctified by its representatives in national convention, duly assembled.

In outlining his policy he said a dollar of tariff taxation should be collected for the needs of the government economically expended, but whatever these needs were the revenues necessary should be got from tariff taxation and that alone, except the taxes upon liquor, oleomargarine and tobacco, to which the country has been long accustomed and which for obvious reasons need not be disturbed.

He Follows Jefferson.
"For my own part, as a Democrat," he said, "I prefer indirect taxation and tariff duties over direct taxes and tariff extinction. I prefer taxing foreign products rather than taxing home products. I follow Jefferson in regard to the species of indirect taxation on home products by internal revenue taxes as not good to be extended and the first to be rid of when their need is past."

"If McKinleyism is socialism for the benefit of the rich, and the income tax is socialism for the benefit of the poor, no true American Democrat will look at the hair of the dog to show his belief. Americans will reject socialism of both kinds. The McKinley bill lost the country to our opponents by its extreme features in one direction, and we should avoid the opposite extreme."

He quoted from the speech of Senator Voorhes that the passage of the bill would produce a surplus, and said that according to this statement the bill has jumped out of the frying pan into the fire.
"From a deficiency there has arisen an immediate surplus. One extreme has been succeeded by another. The committee made many changes taking sugar, iron, coal, lead and other articles from the free list and making them dutiable and providing for a tax upon sugar estimated by official experts to realize $11,822,624.61 and an additional tax on spirits from which $10,000,000 is anticipated. Yet, notwithstanding these large additions of revenue sources to the bill, the committee still retained the income tax."

In conclusion he defended his position in these earnest words: "I stand ready to support any reasonable measure for tariff reform framed within the lines and based upon the principles which I have here partially indicated and which were fully set forth in my speech in opening the political campaign in Brooklyn on Sept. 10, 1892. I stand today where I stood then. I have nothing to add and nothing to retract."

He cheerfully voted for the Mills bill and joined with you in making any material reductions of duties therein. I am ready to waive all minor differences of details, which do not involve a question of principle."

An Important Crisis.
"Mr. President, this is an important crisis in the history of the Democratic party. The failure of the tariff revision means the defeat, the demoralization, if not the disruption and the annihilation of our party. Moreover, it means, as we believe, injury to the best interests of the country. Let those who insist upon injecting into the bill this odious and un-Democratic feature of an income tax, a relic of war legislation, pause and reflect upon the possible consequences of their unwarranted demands."

"They should realize that it means the loss of the control of the senate, now equally divided between the two great parties; it means the loss of the next house of representatives; it means the loss of the electoral votes of New York, New Jersey, Connecticut and probably every Northern state, and finally it means the loss of the next presidency and all that it implies."

"They should consider whether there is anything about an income tax so sacred, so desirable, so popular, so just and so defensible that its maintenance is worth the risk which they are precipitating. Let them remember 1860 and ultra demands then made upon the Democratic party, to which it could not honorably accede, demands which led to our defeat, the devastation, the destruction, the suffering, the humiliation that followed; the military and carpet bag government which flourished; the force bills which threatened and all the incidents of the terrible years which darkened our party's and our country's history from 1860 to 1884, when through wiser counsel, moderate action, conciliatory methods, we were restored to power."

TERRIBLE PANIC.

Bursting of a Steam Pipe Caused An Awful Panic in the Humboldt School in Chicago.

The Children Rushed Wildly Through the Halls and Down the Stairs, Shrieking With Fear.

Dozens Fell and Were Trampled Upon Until the Stairs Were Covered With Unconscious Bodies.

One Boy Was Killed and Over a Score of Children Were Crushed, One Probably Fatally.

CHICAGO, April 9.—A panic occurred in the Humboldt public school this afternoon, and in the mad rush of the children to escape from the building, one boy was killed and over a score were crushed and trampled. Fourteen children lie in St. Elizabeth hospital under the care of physicians while many others were carried to their homes by the police.
The children were preparing to leave for a recess, when a loud explosion startled every teacher and pupil in the school. A steam pipe had burst in one of the rooms, and a moment later the children were rushing pell-mell through the halls and down the stairs, shrieking with fear. The stairways became choked with the terrified children, and as they continued to pour out of the rooms to swell the surging mass in the hallways, those in advance were thrown down by the onward rush of those behind.
Firemen soon removed fifteen children who were hurled to the St. Elizabeth hospital. On the way one boy died. He was David Gunstin, 702 Dana avenue. Among the injured and likely to die is Grace Schubert, daughter of Fire Marshal Schubert.

SIX OF THE CREW LOST.
Bark Belmont With Sugar From Trinidad Is a Total Wreck.

CHATHAM, Mass., April 9.—The bark Belmont, of Boston, from Trinidad for Boston, with 487 bags of sugar to the American Sugar Refining company, went ashore on Beacon Hill bar during last night's storm and is a total wreck today. Six of the crew are lost and three drifted ashore on a spar.

The vessel was owned by John S. Emery, of Boston, and was valued at $10,000. She was insured for half her value. The cargo was fully covered by insurance. Last December she was extensively repaired and redressed. The captain is W. R. Hagan, of Prospect Ferry, Maine, and the mate was Charles Carlsson, of Boston.

Murder and Suicide.
CHICAGO, April 9.—William Sabar, a German laborer, shot and killed himself and wife today at their home, 338 Thirty-ninth street. The couple quarreled over a family matter. Sabar has been out of employment for some months. The couple leave five daughters who have been supporting the family.

Tea Traders Protest.
LONDON, April 9.—The wholesale tea traders met in London today and resolved to request Sir Charles Tupper, the Canadian commissioner, to receive a deputation to protest against the 10 per cent duty on tea imported into Canada from bond in London.

Commercial Treaty Adopted.
BERLIN, April 9.—The reichstag today adopted the commercial treaty with Uruguay.

HIS REASON SHATTERED.
The Plaintiff in an Important Case Has Become Insane.

CHICAGO, April 9.—William Sturges, plaintiff in the suit to recover $200,000 from John V. Farwell and others, now pending before Judge Tuley, lies at his hotel—his mind a blank. His fortune is at stake. The nervous anxiety and worry over his business interests have shattered his reason.
Physicians who attended Mr. Sturges have given their judgment that he would never recover his mental faculties. Mr. Sturges' collapse will not materially affect his suit, which will still be prosecuted.

Postmaster of Duluth.
WASHINGTON, April 9.—The term of Julius D. Howard as postmaster of Duluth expires April 10, and Maj. Baldwin has recommended T. M. Helluski as his successor.

ADVERSE TO RETIRING.

Federal Judges Disinclined to Resign, Even When They Are Disabled From Performing Their Work.

Senator Martin of Kansas Has Introduced a Bill Offering Inducements For Them to Resign.

After Twenty Years Continuous Service or When Disabled They May Retire on Full Pay.

WASHINGTON, April 9.—Senator Martin, of Kansas, has two bills before the senate committee on judiciary which he is very anxious to have considered. They provide for the retirement on full pay of United States judges, one of them after twenty years of continuous service, and the other on account of physical or mental disability rendering a judge incapable of service. Discussing the merits of the bills, Senator Martin said today:

"The present law does not provide for the retirement of a federal judge until he is 70 years of age and has served for twenty years continuously. There is no means provided for retirement under other conditions, and the situation often becomes embarrassing. No matter what a judge's condition physically or mentally may be, there is no means provided for getting rid of him in that capacity except by impeachment for crime or voluntary retirement.

"Very few men, advanced in years as federal judges, usually are willing to voluntarily relinquish a lucrative position as long as they can hold on, and disability is no crime upon which to base impeachment proceedings. Hence the necessity for a change of the law in the line of my bills. The need for such amendment was shown in the cases of Judge Hunt, of New York, and Judge Daly, of Oregon, and is again illustrated in the case of Judge Foster, of Kansas, who has been physically disabled by ill-health for service for more than three years past.

"A judge who has served in that capacity for twenty years continuously or who has broken down in the work ought to be retired whether 70 years of age or not, and it will often be in the interest of the public welfare to induce them to do so. Not many of them will retire voluntarily, and the only remedy for the situation is to provide an inducement for them to do so."

HE WAS TIRED OF LIVING.

A Cigar Packer Grew Despondent in New York and Hanged Himself.

NEW YORK, April 9.—Anton Ruschick, formerly a packer in a cigar factory, was found dead in a vacant room on the third floor of 401 East Seventieth street, where he used to live. He had committed suicide, having been driven to a transom over the door. His method of suicide was somewhat unusual, for he had fastened a string around his feet in addition to the noose hanging from his neck which had strangled him.

Ruschick was out of work and despondent. He had been employed up to a couple of weeks ago, when he was discharged because he had complained of the wages, which he said were not enough for the support of his wife and four children. His wife was at that time in the hospital, and he was unable to pay her rent and was despondent a week ago last Thursday.

But every day since he left the place, the unfortunate man hung around his former home. On Saturday night he spent several hours in a nearby saloon. He left there about midnight and, taking a rope from a wagon in front of the saloon, went in the direction of his old home.

Yesterday afternoon some children who were playing in the house went into the vacant rooms on the third floor and there they found Ruschick hanging dead.

ASK THEM WHY?

Ask the men who are making imitations of COTOLENE, the new vegetable shortening, why they give up lard and try to trade on the merits of COTOLENE? Perhaps you can guess why.

ASK HIM WHY?

Ask the grocer who attempts substitution, why he tries to sell an imitation when people call for that pure, palatable and popular vegetable shortening, COTOLENE? Perhaps you can guess.

ASK YOURSELF WHY?

Why should not YOU use COTOLENE, instead of lard for all cooking purposes? It has the highest possible endorsement; from Physicians as to healthfulness; from Cooking Experts as to superiority; from housekeepers as to economy. Use COTOLENE and stick to it.

OPIUM SMUGGLERS CAUGHT.

Three Men Arrested in Buffalo and a Quantity of Opium Captured.

BUFFALO, April 9.—It is believed that a gang of opium smugglers, which has been operating in this city for a long time, has been captured. A month ago Collector Doyle placed the matter with Chief Inspector Dernberger and Deputy Inspector Frank Mayer, Thomas Downer and Charles Dantz, and recently they located the smugglers. Word reached the officers Friday that a heavy consignment of opium was on its way to this city and to keep a sharp lookout for the smugglers. They believed the stuff would in all probability be sent to the Chinese supply depot at 110 North Division street.

Dernberger and his assistants stationed themselves outside the store and awaited the arrival of the smugglers. They waited until midnight, when they saw three white men enter the yard on the side of the store and drop several suspicious looking packages down into the cellar. The police were called and the whole party swooped down upon the smugglers and took them to the station house.

They were identified as Charles Kennedy alias Lockport Kennedy, Ed Patterson and Joe Henderson. The police and the inspector went back to the laundry and found over 100 pounds of opium concealed in the dock. All of it was wrapped in newspapers printed at Vancouver, B. C. The opium was estimated to be worth $4000. The duty on it would be $12 a pound. The Chinamen who run the place are named Wing Wong and Lee. They escaped.

SOUTH CAROLINA'S TRADE MARK.

The Supreme Court May Not Reach the Case for Years.

WASHINGTON, April 9.—That South Carolina's counsel in the suit to compel issuance of a trade mark on the word "Palmetto" to be used on the dispensary liquors of the state are determined in their fight is shown by the steps taken today in the supreme court.

Assistant Attorney General Hall and Law Clerk Campbell, counsel for Commissioner of Patents Seymour, filed with the clerk of the court a motion to dismiss the appeal for want of jurisdiction. Attorney J. Albion Johnson, of this city, counsel for the state, also filed a motion protesting against the action of dismissal.

It will probably be a fortnight or a month before the question of allowing the motion to dismiss will be decided. If Commissioner Seymour's motion is not sustained by the court, the case will proceed with a hearing of arguments on the facts produced in the controversy. Under these circumstances it is doubtful if the case will be reached for several years, owing to the large number of cases ahead of it on the docket.

Distress in Argentina.

LONDON, April 9.—A despatch to the Times from Buenos Ayres says that increased fears are entertained of a financial crisis in the Argentine Republic within three months, owing to the universal distress that has been incurred through the drought and agricultural distress.

Escaped From Prison.

LOUISVILLE, April 9.—A special to the Courier Journal from Jackson, Miss., says: Charles O. Summers, the detective sentenced to the penitentiary for five years for stealing $5000 from the Southern Express company at Meriden, Miss., in 1883, escaped yesterday with a guard named Funches. This is the second time he has escaped.

A Double Tragedy.

ST. LOUIS, April 9.—Early yesterday morning, while returning from a ball, Henry Enragard shot and fatally wounded Emma Strauss, his sweetheart, and then shot himself. It is thought neither can live. The couple had been to a ball and soon after midnight the girl wanted to go home. Enragard insisted she stay, but she was obstinate and left. Enragard followed and when near the girl's home he shot her and himself.

Hail in Oklahoma.

EL RENO, April 9.—The heaviest hail storm in the history of Oklahoma Territory passed over this city about 7 o'clock last night. Much damage has been done to growing crops and unprotected live stock. Some of the hailstones were as big as a man's fist and fell to a depth of two inches.

A Short Fight.

ELGIN, Ill., April 9.—J. F. McGrath of Indiana was knocked out in the second round yesterday morning by Robert Costello, of Elgin. The fight took place at South Elgin for $50 a side.

Interfere the Foreigners.

PITTSBURGH, April 9.—H. C. Frick, in a interview today, defends the foreign cokers and says they are hardly responsible for the trouble. He will not dispute with their labor as other operators declare they will, and will not discriminate against them in any way.

An Authored Dead.

LONDON, April 9.—Miss Owens Blackburne, a well-known Irish authoress, died on Friday from the effects of burns received through the upsetting of a lighted lamp.

Cheap Rates to California.

The Northern Pacific Railroad company has put into effect a series of low round trip rates to California points. Tickets are good until July 15th, 1904 and are good for stopover under certain conditions.

These rates will enable those desiring to do so, to spend the winter in Southern California, or to visit the Midwinter fair to be held at San Francisco. This latter event will undoubtedly be second only to the World's fair, and will repay a visit as it will exhibit the resources and capabilities of California.

St. Paul, Minneapolis and Duluth to San Francisco, returning via Portland to St. Paul, or returning to Missouri river, $80.50. For further information apply to Charles S. Fee, G. P. and T. A., St. Paul, Minn.

AN OMINOUS SILENCE.

The Peace Which Now Reigns Throughout the Coke Region May Precede an Early Outbreak.

At All Yesterday's Meetings the Strikers Were Enthusiastic in Their Decision to Remain Out.

Now Acting Under the Direction of a New Leader and Hope For Better Success.

CONNELLSVILLE, Pa., April 9.—All the works closed down by the strikers are in operation again except the Wheeler, of the Cambria Iron company, Hill Farm, of the Dunbar Furnace company, and Lemonts Nos. 1 and 2 of the McClure company.

The Frick company resumed today at Kyle, Olyphant, Redstone, Leith, Trotter, Leisenring Nos. 1 and 2, Youngstown and Davidson.

The Rainey company resumed at Elm Grove, and the Juniata company fired up at the Juniata plant. The McClure company had intended to resume at the Lemont plants, but so many of their men were frightened out by the fear of an attack that they decided to wait till tomorrow to start. James Cochran & Sons now have all their plants running.

The peace which reigns today throughout the region is no indication that the strikers have given up. Many operators admit that it is an ominous silence. At all the meetings yesterday, the strikers were enthusiastic in their decision to remain out and fight to the end. They are now acting under the direction of a new leader, and they hope for better success.

A crowd of Slav strikers are assembled in the vicinity of the Trotter and Leisenring. The crowd began to gather at 8 o'clock and has been growing rapidly since. The strikers say they are gathering for a meeting, but the impression prevails that they are contemplating an attack on the Trotter works.

Some of the miners and coke drawers, who went to work there today, have come out, fearing an attack. A crowd is also said to be gathering at Mount Braddock and Davidson.

Six Fishermen Lost.

LONDON, April 9.—A steam fish trawler, bound home from Iceland, has been wrecked near Grimby, Lincolnshire, and six of her crew were lost. The vessel got off her course in a dense fog and ran ashore on a rocky coast. A heavy sea was running, and the bottom of the steamer was soon ground to pieces.

Catholic Church Burned.

NEW YORK, April 9.—St. Augustine's Catholic church at 367 Jefferson street was entirely destroyed by fire last night. The fire started in the organ loft and extended to the parochial school building adjoining, which was also destroyed. Loss, $15,000.

A Missionary's Death.

DENVER, April 9.—Rev. W. Thompson, aged 87, well known as the author of "The Land and the Book," and for forty-five years a missionary in Siam, died here yesterday.

Popular Preacher

Says HOOD'S Rallies the Vital Forces and Gives Strength

Rev. J. Merritt Driver, D. D.

Is widely known as pastor of the First M. E. Church at Columbia City, Indiana, and is a powerful pulpit orator. His book, "Samsa and Shylock, or a Preacher's Plea for the Workman," has received much praise from press and clergy. Dr. Driver says:

"Columbia City, Ind., June 9, 1888.

"Dear Sirs:—Among the rallies of all the vital forces, I regard Hood's Sarsaparilla as the general-in-chief. Crowded and overworked, as a preacher and lecturer, I sometimes am conscious that I am not measuring up to the best that I am capable of doing. A few doses of a bottle or two of Hood's, however, greatly

DIED FROM BLACK SMALLPOX.

A Lively Commotion Created in a Chicago Police Station.

CHICAGO, April 9.—A case of black smallpox caused the liveliest kind of a commotion in the Harrison street police station last evening. A man suffering from the plague died in a cell there, and from forty-five to fifty persons were exposed to the disease. The victim's name was Benson Sherman, but nothing further has been ascertained regarding him.

At 4 o'clock in the afternoon he was brought to the station by a man who informed the desk sergeant that Sherman was drunk and asked the police to lock him up in a cell until he was sober. This was done and about three hours afterwards the lock keeper noticed that Sherman's face and hands had turned black.

The health department was at once notified, and as soon as the health officer saw the man he pronounced the disease as black smallpox. Dr. Gunn, of the health office, at once instituted a thorough fumigation of the place. Everything was done to relieve the suffering of the man and preparations were made to remove him to the pest house, but before the ambulance arrived he died.

BRAZILIAN REBELS GAINED.

Great Enthusiasm Over Their Success in Rio Grande do Sul.

NEW YORK, April 9.—The Herald's Montevideo dispatch says: In accordance with orders sent by Gen. Saravia to the western and central districts of Rio Grande, the entire federalist army in that state is now making forced marches to Ciudad Rio Grande and Porto Alegre to operate with Admiral Mello's fleet.

The troops of Gen. Saravia, under command of Gen. Salgado and Gen. Laurencio Alencastro, are already besieging Porto Alegre. The commander of the latter place has telegraphed President Peixoto that he cannot hold out long.

The forts at Rio Grande do Sul at the entrance to the harbor did not respond to the fire of Admiral de Mello. The torpedoes that had been placed in the harbor were located and removed before the ships entered the harbor.

There is great enthusiasm on account of the rebels' success. One of Gen. Mello's generals predicts that Saravia will return to Sao Paulo before long at the head of 2500 men.

ONE MAN WAS DROWNED.

A Schooner Went Ashore on Lake Michigan This Morning.

MILWAUKEE, April 9.—A special to the Wisconsin from Sheboygan, Wis., says the schooner Lottie Cooper, laden with hard wood lumber, dragged her anchor and went ashore near the harbor at that point at 5 o'clock yesterday morning.

The life-saving crew rescued all the crew but Edward Christianson, aged 30, who was swept overboard and drowned. He leaves a wife and ten children in Norway.

Three Men Arrested in Milwaukee While Passing Counterfeit Money.

MILWAUKEE, April 9.—Collin McDonald, a Bay City, Mich., saloonkeeper, Frank Westbrook, alias Matcomb, and "Hy" Weed, an unknown, were arrested early yesterday morning while passing counterfeit money on the all-night saloons of the West Side.

On their persons were found nearly $1000 in counterfeit bank notes, all of the denomination of $20, except one "queer" $5 note. The $20 note was an excellent photograph of a South Bend National Bank bill, numbered H6,386,196.

Hailstones Did Damage.

EMPORIA, Kas., April 9.—A fall of the largest hailstones ever witnessed in this part of the state occurred yesterday afternoon about 4 o'clock. The streets were white with snow, and although there was not much wind many windows were broken and it is thought much damage to the fruit crop was done. Many stones were as large as hen's eggs.

WEST DULUTH ITEMS.

The ice in the Bay is interfering with the Opening up of the Saw Mills.

Merrill & Ring Believe That a Start May Be Possibly Made Early Next Week.

Progress of Work at Other Industries—Murray Mill Machinery is Being Placed in Position.

The ice in the bay is still intact and the cold wave of the past few days has chilled all prospect of starting up the lumber mills for a week at least. Repairs are completed at both of the big mills and the opening now solely hangs on the moving of the ice. Mr. Little, of the Merrill & Ring mill, was seen this morning and said that with favorable weather a start could probably be made next Monday or Tuesday.

When asked about the prospects of the lumber market the coming summer, he said that they were not the best, but he thought that the mills would saw as much as possible during the season with day crews only.

Manufacturing is still very dull and most of the orders coming in are in the nature of repairs and consequently of small significance. "Nothing new" is the customary answer to inquiry at the various works.

The Duluth Manufacturing company has been filling some small orders from the machine shop and this week is getting out lumber in the planing mill for some dump cars.

The Marinette company is shipping several car loads of machinery to the Knox Lumber company besides being quite busy with the New Orleans contract.

The box factory has a number of men and boys at work and for a small institution seems to be working the most energetically of all the West Duluth industries.

The machinery is being put into place at the new Murray mill. The docks and runways are about finished and judging from appearances the mill will only be a few weeks behind the old ones in beginning the season's run.

West Duluth Briefs.
Born, April 9, to Mr. and Mrs. William McClelland, a son.

Extensive repairs are being made to the Tremont house on Central avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Skinner, of Second avenue west, rejoice in the birth of a son on April 8.

A shilling social will be given by the Ladies' guild of the Episcopal church at the residence of Mrs. A. Rockwell, Fourth avenue west, on Wednesday evening. Refreshments and a musical program will be the principal features of the entertainment.

The Sunshine circle will repeat the fan drill at the entertainment to be given at the Congregational church Friday evening.

W. J. Holmes and family have returned from a visit of several months in California.

A. A. Smith left Saturday for Evergreen Ala., called there by the sad announcement of the death of his sister.

Rev. Mr. Keithy, of Chicago, delivered two excellent sermons at the Presbyterian church yesterday, which made a good impression and he will probably be asked to accept a call from the congregation.

Mrs. Termath who has been the guest of her daughter, Mrs. Charles Colby, for some time, left yesterday for her home in Le Sueur.

Charles Birch is expected to return today from Harris, Minn., where he has been engaged for several months.

Dr. John H. Jenks Dead.
St. Louis, April 9.—Dr. John Howe Jenks, professor of physiology and modern languages at Washington university, died this morning from blood poisoning.

When dissecting a corpse last Tuesday Dr. Jenks cut himself in the hand. Dr. Jenks had been connected with the Washington university for twenty-five years. He was born at North Brookfield, Mass., May, 31, 1831.

WHEAT QUIET BUT ADVANCED.

The Market Opened Easy But Advanced Steadily to the Close.

The wheat market was quiet but firm today. There was a large amount of trading in July and fair business in May, but there was no excitement. Nothing was done in cash stuff, as buyers offered only 1c premium over May while sellers demanded 1c. Any one could see lower than Saturday's close and July 1c lower, there was some heavy trading and the market slumped off to near the opening price, closing at 59c. The visible supply decreased 600,000 bushels.

Following were the closing prices:

LIFE'S JOURNEY ENDED

Charles Canning Died Yesterday Morning at his Farm in Hendrum, Norman County, Minnesota.

His Illness Extended Over Several Months But Was Not Considered at All Serious Except By Himself.

Sketch of His Life Covering Some Prominent Events in His History—Board of Trade Resolutions.

A simple telegraph message of but four words received yesterday morning brought the first and so far only announcement of the death of one of Duluth's best known citizens, Charles Canning. He died at Hendrum, Norman county, this state, yesterday morning after an illness which no one but himself believed would have a fatal result. He had been there since last Tuesday and although ailing when he left here was not in a serious condition.

Mr. Canning's illness dates from the middle of February. He had a bad attack of grippe from which he never thoroughly recovered and something in the nature of nervous prostration followed and lingered with him. He felt that his end was near and told his family so but they could not believe and his physician attributed to his highly nervous condition and said that idea would wear off as he grew better. He left for Hendrum last Tuesday morning, where his farm is, with friends, who had been visiting here. The night before he left while talking with his brother-in-law, James Anderson, he said: "James, I am going to die. You think I am not in a normal state of mind, but I am as calm as you are. I take medicine to please you and the folks and I eat to please you, but I know that my end is near." His wife wished to accompany him to Hendrum but he decided that she had better not go out there during the unsettled weather, and expected to return quite soon himself.

Charles Canning was a man of great individuality. He was possessed of undaunted courage mentally and physically. Convinced as he was of the futility of the struggle with death, he met it with a calmness that seemed more than human. As to his mental and moral courage, there is no need of saying. In politics he was affiliated with the Populist party, but in his social and business life he was sympathetic and generous to a fault. In comfortable circumstances himself, he had a warm heart for the unfortunate, and more than one person whom he has befriended will shed a silent tear to his memory when the news of his death is heard.

Charles Canning was about 50 years of age. He was born in county Derry, in the north of Ireland, which happens to have been the birth place of another prominent Minnesotaan and friend of Mr. Canning's, Hon. Thomas Wilson. He had reached manhood before leaving Ireland, and was about 21 years of age when he landed in Boston in 1850, but strong in ambition and courage. He remained in Boston only a short time, working long enough to get money to begin farming in Iowa. In that state he settled in Greene County, and farmed there until 1878. It was during his residence there that he met Mary Anderson, and in July, 1882, they were married.

In the winter of 1878 Mr. Canning located in Hendrum and began farming. His farm grew until it is now one of the finest in the Red River valley. He owns five quarter sections around his farm buildings and several scattered tracts, the whole aggregating from 1200 to 1500 acres. In the fall of 1880 Mr. Canning decided to leave the farm and locate in the city. He built his present home at 91 West First street and the store occupied by Charles Canning & Co., and removed to Duluth. He also established himself in the grain business, believing that his wide acquaintance with Northern Minnesota farmers would enable him to be successful in that line. That he reckoned wisely his business associates well know. James Anderson, his brother-in-law, some time ago bought this interest in the store on Tenth avenue west, but the old name of Charles Canning & Co. was retained because of his wide acquaintance among farmers and producers.

Mr. Canning's political life began in 1884 when he was elected as representative from the Forty-fifth district. He was then a Republican and ran on the same ticket with James G. Blaine. He served in the legislature of 1885 and about that time began to accept some of the views of the Farmers' Alliance. In 1886 he would have again been nominated, but refused to accede to a demand made that he pledge himself to support all Republican measures. In 1888 he was nominated by the Alliance for congress the Fifth district, was endorsed by the Democrats and ran against Hon. S. G. Comstock. He was defeated but ran 6000 or 6500 ahead of Cleveland. Mr. Canning did not affiliate himself with the Alliance and afterward Populists because of any personal ambition or desires. He was a thorough student of politics and made his choice because he believed it right. Once decided, he was aggressive and stood by his principles like a man.

He died at his wife, Mr. Canning leaves two children, Sarah, age 8 years, and Harry, age 6 years. Two are dead and buried of Hendrum as is Mrs. Canning's mother. Mr. Canning also will be buried there. Mrs. Canning and children and Mr. Anderson will leave today or tomorrow for the funeral. The family is left in comfortable circumstances as Mr. Canning's estate will aggregate $50,000 or $60,000. He was member of the Episcopal church and was as sincere and earnest in his religious belief as he was known to be in his political belief.

Board of Trade Resolutions.
This morning President George Spencer called the board of trade to order and announced the death of Charles Canning. The following resolutions were offered and adopted:

Resolved, that having learned of the sudden and untimely death of our fellow member, Charles Canning, we, the members of the Duluth board of trade, esteem it our duty and privilege to bear witness to his many virtues and excellent qualities of heart and head. He was essentially a manly man, strong and rugged in principle, clear in ideas, thoroughly honest and full of courage in battling for the rights of the people. These qualities commanded the respect of all who knew him, while his uniform kindness of heart and genial disposition endeared him to all his associates. We realize that his departure leaves a vacancy in our midst that cannot be filled.

Resolved, that these resolutions be spread upon the minutes and that a copy be sent to his bereaved family.

THEY FAILED TO CONNECT.
Desperate Attempt of Two Men to Reach Rainy Lake.

Tuesday last a tug was shipped from Duluth to Tower by rail. It will be used to tow a scow on Crane lake, a portion of the water route between Tower and Rainy Lake, the coming summer. While the car was at Endion a couple of men who were ambitious to reach the gold fields, secreted themselves in the tug's hull, and securely spiking the doors, made themselves comfortable as possible. When the train reached Two Harbors, says the Iron News, Conductor Bieberman concluded from the sounds emanating that he had passengers who had not put up the prescribed fare. He found a window the travelers had overlooked, and gained an entrance. Proceeding to the hull, enveloped in a musty cloud of rank tobacco smoke, the stowaways were found, and roused out. They made a couple of ineffectual attempts to regain their den before the train pulled out, but failed.

In the hull was found stored a supply of provisions, the property of the craft's owner, which was not on the shipping bill.

Donnelly vs. Sims.
Interest in A. F. A. is active at present and an unusual gathering no doubt will attend the local debate next Thursday night at the Lyceum between Hon. Ignatius Donnelly and Professor Walter Sims, the noted leader and organizer of the secret anti-Catholic movement. The A. F. A., cut a prominent figure in the recent elections in the Northwest. Religious circles are stirred up over the debate. Sims is said to be a man of great nerve and speaks out plainly. Mr. Donnelly does not fail to inject hot shots at the noted "A. F. A. list" leader and his following.

A New G. A. R. Post.
J. K. Mertz, of Minneapolis, assistant adjutant general, department of Minnesota of G. A. R., was in the city Saturday evening and delivered to committee on the organization of another G. A. R. post in Duluth. This will be at once organized by a number of members of Culver post and will meet together with several old soldiers who have not heretofore been affiliated with any post. A meeting will be held next Saturday and officers elected.

Will Use Duluth Material.
Twenty bids were received for excavating for the Irving school on Saturday evening and J. D. O'Connell's was the lowest. They were referred to the building committee. The Bryant school excavation is already made. Duluth material is to be used in both buildings as far as possible and the specifications will be changed so as to admit of this.

PRESIDENT J. J. HILL TALKS.
Although a Democrat, He Looks For a Republican Victory Next Fall.

James J. Hill, president of the Great Northern railway, arrived in St. Paul Saturday morning and will remain some time in London and other English cities. Mr. Hill declared to a reporter that he took the trip principally for pleasure and relaxation from business cares. He denied in toto the statement that he had been attempting to negotiate a loan in London, but refused to tell what his business in the English capital was, remarking that it was of a character not advisable to make public at present.

"There is no need to conceal the fact," said the Great Northern colossus, "that I felt the financial pulse pretty carefully while I was abroad, and you may say, if you care to, that I found in the best informed circles a marked disposition to consider the re-nomination of silver. The fact is that if our people keep quiet and say nothing, matters will soon straighten themselves out. England is holding the bag now and before the end of the year they will be making a bid for all nations to come into the re-nomination scheme."

When asked about the present administration and the popularity of Cleveland as compared with his first term, Mr. Hill snapped his small eyes and said emphatically: "I am saying nothing at all about that. Then he added sotto voce: 'The less said about that matter the better.'"

In the intonation of those seven words there was a whole column of opinion worth printing. Mr. Hill admitted frankly that he had no doubt the Republicans would carry the next house of representatives and, in all probability, the senate as well.

"Do you think it possible that a Democrat should be chosen to succeed Senator Washburn in Minnesota?" was asked. At this Mr. Hill sat bolt upright in his chair and with emphatic motions of his right arm replied: "I do not think that a single Northern state will choose a Democratic senator, and the opinion is based on close observation of the trend of political affairs in this state."

Then in response to a series of questions, Mr. Hill said he did not look for a very large amount of immigration to America this year, but that there would be all that the country wanted to take care of. Other countries than this are receiving immigrants. There are 3,000,000 Russian settlers along the line of the new Siberian railroad. When England wants trade she spends her money. She will grant $5,000,000 or $6,000,000 a year as subsidy to some steamship company, and she gets returns for the investment. We spend two or three times that amount and get nothing for it.

Here Mr. Hill made some very pointed remarks about the country and the government policy which he thought the recognized would not look well in print, and he insisted that he should not be quoted. To put a mild construction on his utterances though, it must be inferred that matters of business as compared with the English way of doing things, the United States ranked with Mexico and countries of similar importance. On concluding the sentences on which he placed an injunction, Mr. Hill said: "Our laws will not permit us to do business that way. There was no intention, Mr. Hill said, on the part of the Great Northern to build to any extent during 1894. When asked about the proposed visit of President Cleveland and his cabinet, he said he would be very glad to have them come, and that if the convention talked of for this locality were held there might be something of the sort, but that nothing definite was known about it at present.

BLACKED HIS EYE.
John Wilson Has George Apfel Arrested For Assault.

This morning John Wilson swore out a complaint charging George Apfel, the proprietor of the St. Louis hotel barber shop, with assault in the third degree. It seems that Wilson once worked for Apfel but was either discharged or else quit the job. Apfel so says, tried to get other men, but through the efforts of Wilson who, it is alleged, told them not to work for Apfel as they would be discharged, he failed. The actions of Wilson came to Apfel's ears and yesterday, the boss barber snote his old employe on the face, giving him a beautiful black eye, from a pugilistic standpoint, Wilson did not appreciate the mark of attention, so hunted up the city attorney.

MORTGAGE FORECLOSURE SALE.

Whereas default has been made in the conditions of a certain mortgage, duly made, executed and delivered by Charles T. Cash and Grace A. Cash, his wife, mortgagors, to Ross W. Wood, mortgagee, bearing date the 31st day of January, A. D. 1893, and with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the register of deeds in and for the county of St. Louis and state of Minnesota, on the 14th day of January, A. D. 1894, at 10:30 o'clock a. m. in Book 117 of mortgages, on page 557, which said mortgage and the principal sum thereby secured contain provisions that, if any default be made in the payment of any installment of interest thereon or of any part thereof on the day whereon the same is made payable and if such default shall continue for a period of ten days, then and in such case the said mortgage, her legal representatives or assigns may elect, without notice, that the whole principal sum thereby secured and all interest thereon shall immediately become due and payable, and may enforce payment thereof, by foreclosure or other legal measures, and

Whereas default has been made in the payment of the sum of $401.35 of the semi-annual installment of interest upon said note due January 1st, 1894, payment of which was secured by said mortgage and such default has continued for a period of more than ten days after the same became payable by reason whereof the undersigned legal representatives of said mortgage, have elected to exercise said option and have thereupon duly declared and do hereby declare the whole principal sum secured by said note and mortgage and all accrued interest thereon to be now due and payable. And whereas, there is therefore claimed to be due and actually due upon said mortgage debt, at the date of this notice, the sum of $401.35 principal, interest and expenses, and $500 attorney's fee, stipulated for in said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and no action or proceeding having been instituted at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof, Now, therefore, notice is hereby given, that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in that behalf provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage, to wit: All that numbered one hundred and sixteen (116) in block numbered four (4), in Duluth Proper, Third Division, according to recorded plat thereof, in St. Louis County and state of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances, which sale will be made by the sheriff of said county, at the court house, in said county, at the front door of the court house, on the 25th day of April, 1894, at 10 o'clock a. m. on that day at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash to pay said debt of $401.35 and interest and the taxes, if any, on said premises, and two hundred dollars attorney's fees, as stipulated for and paid or otherwise by the foreclosing, and the disbursements allowed by law subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale, as provided by law.

NOTICE OF MORTGAGE SALE.

Whereas, default has been made in the conditions of a certain mortgage, made, executed and delivered by Charles L. Olds and Annie M. Olds, his wife, mortgagors, to American Loan and Trust Company, a corporation organized under the laws of the state of Minnesota, as mortgagee, bearing date the 31st day of January, A. D. 1893, and duly recorded in the office of the register of deeds in and for St. Louis County, Minnesota, on the 5th day of May, 1894, at 8 o'clock a. m. in Book 54 of mortgages, on page 25, and

And whereas said mortgage and the debt thereby secured and the mortgage notes evidencing the same have been by said American Loan and Trust Company duly assigned to the undersigned A. Van Dusen, who is now the owner and holder thereof, which assignment of mortgage was by written instrument in due form, bearing date July 16th, 1893, and duly recorded in the office of the register of deeds in and for St. Louis County, Minnesota, on the 13th day of August, 1893, at 3:30 o'clock p. m. in Book 117 of mortgages, on page 288, and whereas, by the terms of said mortgage, and of the notes thereby secured, one hundred twenty dollars, interest thereon, became due and payable on July 1st, 1894, and one hundred twenty dollars interest thereon, became due and payable on January 1st, 1894, all of which is in arrear at this date, due, owing and unpaid upon said mortgage, and

And whereas, said mortgage and mortgage notes are conditioned that upon default in the payment of interest, as therein provided, such debt shall remain for the period of ten days before the mortgagee, or its assigns, may elect to foreclose, and if such election is not made within that time, the mortgagee, or its assigns, may elect to foreclose at any time thereafter, and

And whereas, said mortgage contains a power of sale which by reason of said default has become operative and no action or proceeding at law or otherwise has been instituted to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof, Now, therefore, notice is hereby given, that by virtue of said power of sale and pursuant to the statute in that behalf provided, and in pursuance of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and of the notes thereby secured, the whole amount secured by said mortgage, to wit: the sum of one hundred and twenty dollars, interest thereon, and the taxes, if any, on said premises, and two hundred dollars attorney's fees, as stipulated for and paid or otherwise by the foreclosing, and the disbursements allowed by law, which sale will be made by the sheriff the Price and That Right

Happenings At the Great Smoke Sale!

Each day records a pleasing sight in the store these days. Everyone wears a pleased look; a satisfied expression; a requited air. The tingle of the nimble sixpence gives a merry sound. The roar of business has a twang of jovialness.

And Why?

That distinguished looking lady buying that $2.50 Corset is amazingly pleased to find it only requires $1.68 to own it. This group of Ladies buying Laces are not buying all that lot for present use, it's the provident spirit of the sex. Such a chance, they realize, may never come again.

Those

Dainty effects in Silk would sell speedily at the regular prices were they not slightly smoked. But half price and less makes them walk out in a jiffy. Those fine luxurious wool undergarments usually are bought by two suits, it is the prices that influence people to buy four, six and eight suits at this time.

FIRST BAND CONCERT.
Large Audience at the Pavilion in Spile of the Chilly Weather.

The Pavilion promises to be as popular a resort this summer as ever. Although the bill was breezy enough to send everybody to cover, a large crowd gathered yesterday afternoon. No one attempted to do any sauntering around in the teeth of the chilly wind. They were content to seek warm corners in the building and listen to the City band's selections. The band has been practicing through the winter, and comes out better than ever. The selections yesterday were all new and excellent and were heartily applauded. Several numbers receiving encores. Several changes have been made in the composition of the band. M. Bourgaud, Messrs. Foster, Flaaten, Benson, Hoare and Trautvetter have taken new instruments. The change is apparently for the better as the band has never been in as good shape as now.

It is quite probable that the pavilion will be leased this summer and a small admission fee—probably 5 cents—charged. The street railway company was not thoroughly satisfied with the financial outcome of last summer and prefers to give some one a good bonus to run it this summer. The company also feels that the incline receipts will not be so large this year because of the extension of the transfer system to the incline road.

Sunday School Institute.
An Episcopal Sunday school institute will be held at St. Paul's Episcopal church Wednesday of this week, under the direction of the State Sunday School association of that denomination. Rev. Mr. Nichols will be up from the Twin Cities and others of note will probably come with him. All the clergy and many of the teachers in the Sabbath schools in this vicinity will be present. The sessions will be held at 11 a. m. and 2 and 7:30 o'clock p. m.

Contests Are Drugging.
The contest department in the United States land office is somewhat congested. One case has been on for four days and three, long since due, as a result, are necessarily held in abeyance. The only thing that could help matters would be more contest clerks.

SOMEBODY IS LYING.

That is What Everybody Says Who Hears the Testimony in the Raab vs. Stewart Case.

Ingalls, the Man Who Admitted He Lied on the First Trial, Gave Testimony Today.

James A. Flick, of West Duluth, Says He Was Offered $100 to Testify for the Plaintiff.

The prosecution closed its evidence in the Raab case Saturday afternoon. Dr. Stewart took the stand in his own behalf and his examination continued until this morning. He denied saying the words for which the action is brought and testified to Mrs. Raab's malice toward him. She had frequently made threats. Detective Benson was placed on the stand this morning and testified that Mrs. Raab had tried to employ him for the purpose of getting witnesses to support her story. He was not shaken by the cross-examination.

Ingalls, the street car employee, who testified in the municipal court that he had committed perjury in the first trial, was the next witness. His story was substantially the same as the one told in the municipal court. He said that his testimony on the first trial was false, and that he was to have received $50 for swearing as he did.

On the cross-examination Mr. Crocker tried hard to make him state that his confession was extorted by threats of prison and by losing his situation or that he had been paid for his testimony. He would admit nothing of the kind. His testimony had been given voluntarily because he was sorry for what he had done. Mr. Crocker recited his conversation in which Ingalls was supposed to have tried to force James Paullly to testify for Dr. Stewart, but Ingalls denied them all.

After trying in vain to shake Ingalls' statements Mr. Crocker knitted his brow, looked fiercely at the witness and said:

"Mr. Ingalls, have you ever thought that you were troubled in the head? Do you ever have any delusions?"

Ingalls thought his mind was all right.

"Well, didn't you come up on the stand at the last trial and with the same confidence that you have now, swear to an entirely different thing? Now, which story is true? Today's, or the other?"

"Today's" was the answer.

"Didn't you tell Paullly that you had been forced to make an affidavit denying your former testimony, and that the latter was true?"

"I did not."

"How much money are you getting for telling this story?"

"A dollar and a quarter witness fees," was the quick answer.

Mr. Crocker asked him if he was not paid $250 and he said he was not.

On the redirect examination he said that there had been no threats or offers of reward used.

S. S. Bradley, Dr. Stewart's nephew, testified that on the afternoon in question there was a meeting of the New Duluth Land company, which Dr. Stewart was president at that time. Dr. Stewart was late, and he started out after him. He met him near the place where the conversation with Mr. Raab is alleged to have taken place. Dr. Stewart was coming rapidly along, and neither stopped nor spoke to anyone.

James A. Flick, proprietor of a West Duluth fruit store, who was next placed on the stand, is a new witness. He testified that some time before the first trial James Paullly came to him and asked him if he wished to earn some money. He replied, of course, that he did. Then Paullly told him of the projected suit against Dr. Stewart, and offered him $100 he would be a witness. Flick indignantly refused.

Mr. Crocker tried on the cross-examination to prove that he had been paid to make this statement. He failed in this. Flick saying that his only reason for appearing was to do what was right. He said that if he could nip a scheme of the kind in the bud he was going to do it. He was then asked if he had not a spite against Paullly. He said Paullly and he were good friends.

The defense then rested and Mrs. Raab was called in rebuttal. She contradicted the witnesses for the defense in several respects.

The testimony will be concluded this afternoon and the case will probably go to the jury tomorrow afternoon.

The case of Anna K. Palmer against William Farrell was given to the court in Judge Moore's room, and the case of Henry C. Spaulding seems not to be afraid of the Alamo.

Henry Curtis Spaulding, president of the Minnesota Canal company, said this morning that the company will advertise for bids for part of their work either this week or next. Certain necessary papers, which are now on the road, are all that are holding them back at present.

"I see that we have been charged with working mysteriously," he said, "because we have refused to give our plans away. Well, all I have to say to that is that if any corporation with as wide a scope as this one has tells all it knows, its officers are not fit to manage it. Any information that we may judiciously give the public we are always willing to part with, but it would not be business-like to give everything away."

When asked about the probable outcome of the struggle between the rival companies he would say nothing against the Alamo's plans, but did not appear to be alarmed.

the New England Furniture company against M. E. Bryant was taken up. Joseph Baker was arraigned this morning and given one day to plead. Daniel Carey and John Miller, Richard Rowden, Frank Marx and John Wick pleaded not guilty. The grand jury brought in an indictment this morning and were discharged. The man indicted is not yet in custody.

FIGHTING PLUMBERS.
Several Members of the Craft in Court—Unsuccessful Break for Liberty.

Several plumbers were in police court this morning as the result of having been a little out of plumb on the Sabbath day. This is how it came about:

Last evening, about 7 o'clock, when Officer Pat Tully struck Second avenue west, he found a gang of about thirty men and boys wrangling in front of Olson's variety theater. A couple had up their fists, whereupon the officer arrested them. That made a big turmoil and one in the crowd struck the officer in the forehead, leaving a slight mark. In the general scuffle, too, he was knocked off the walk. Falling down, he struck his wrist on the corner of the curbstone, injuring it so badly that he will be obliged to lay off a week. The doctor thinks one of the wrist bones was broken.

Well, the plumbers were given a ride in the patrol wagon and after registering under fictitious names, were locked up for the night.

This morning W. H. Griswold, whose real name is Halpin, and John Olson, who said that he was an Irish Swede, but who concealed his real name, were arraigned on the charge of disorderly conduct. They pleaded guilty, were given a fine of $20 and default of cash were committed to the county jail for twenty days.

As the court officer was leading the gang back to the city lockup after the regular police court grist was ground out, Halpin made a break for liberty and dashed down Michigan street, hotly pursued by Frank Horzan. The fugitive disappeared through the front door of a Michigan street plumbing shop. Horzan had an idea that Halpin would make for the back door, so instead of chasing his man through the shop, he hastened to the rear door. In a few seconds Halpin bolted out right into the arms of the officer. His chagrin may be imagined.

Among the crowd of spectators in police court was a plumber named Morris Colson, who was evidently there to see what was done to his fellow craftsmen. Officer Tully caught sight of Colson's face, and immediately recognized him as the fellow who hit him in the face. Colson was at once arrested and compelled to plead in charge of an assault in the third degree. He said that he was not guilty and seemed much cut up over the manner in which he was picked up right in police court. His trial was set for this afternoon.

When it came to the regular grist two drunk and one vagrant were committed to the city lockup. In default of $50 bail he was committed until his day of trial, April 11.

William Payne, a colored young man, who was locked among the Spaulding's was bound over to the grand jury on the charge of stealing a bolt of cloth from Le Roy, the tailor, on March 29.

Another Addition on the Market.
A new scheme for gulling innocent investors has come to light through letters sent to Register of Deeds Shepard. For some time people have been paying fancy prices for lots in Lakeview addition to Duluth on the assurance that it is about twelve miles northwest of the court house in fact, and there are a number of people around the country who are regretting their purchases.

Efforts will be made by some of the swindled parties to bring the man who has duped them to justice.

Will Probably Be Discharged.
Christopher Burns, who was brought down from Ely a few days for examination as to his sanity, will be examined before Judge Ayer this afternoon. Whisky was apparently his only trouble, and as the confinement in the county jail has been beneficial, he will probably be discharged.

FREIMUTH'S

DRESS GOODS.

So far as barring wind or sun goes, last year's dress stuffs are, very likely, as good as this year's. So far as style and fashion are concerned, they are mostly of as little use as last year's birds' nests. It isn't a question of price—it's a matter of pride. But, fortunately, the price signifies nothing, or next to nothing, just now. Newest weaves, freshest styles, that have blossomed since the grass began to green, are priced as temptingly as the hold-over stuffs that some storekeepers grow red in face screaming over. Take a glance at a few sorts. The prices will tempt you.

20 pieces of 36-inch Henriettes, in all the new spring shades. The 20c and 30c kind, this week 19c a yard.

48c
15 pieces of Jamestown all wool Serge, in all good, desirable colors; the price always 60c per yard; this week 48c.

50c
10 pieces of all wool Suting, in all the new mixtures, and a leader at 50c a yard.

$1.00
15 pieces of changeable checked Suting 44-inches wide, the latest weave, would be cheap at $1.50. Our price $1 per yard.

SILKS.
RICH EVENING SILKS.

98c
3 pieces of Black Satin Rhadimere, 24 inches wide, would be cheap at $1.25; this week 98c a yard.

97c
20 pieces of Cheney Bros' Faille in black and colors, same as you have been paying $1.25 for, none better to wear; this week 97c.

$1.00
25 pieces of fancy Taffeta in changeable effects, same as others ask you $1.25 to $1.50. Our price $1.

50c
20 pieces of Printed India in all the new spring designs and colorings; 50c a yard.

WASH SILKS.
They have their ups and downs just now, quality up, prices down.

50c
15 pieces fancy Kiko Wash Silks, 21 inches wide. They would be cheap at 75c; our price 50c per yard.

THE MOB DISPERSED.

Serious Collision Between a Mob of Striking Workmen and Gendarmes Took Place Near Prague.

The Mob Was Charged By the Gendarmes With Fixed Bayonets and Many Were Wounded.

A French Mission in China Burned by a Riotous Mob and the Priests Maltreated.

PRAGUE, April 10.—A serious collision has taken place between a mob of striking workmen and gendarmes at Daudleb, a village near Koelngrath. The rioters became so disorderly and threatened so much violence that, after repeatedly calling upon the mob to disperse, the gendarmes, charged with fixed bayonets, wounding a number of the strikers who were finally dispersed.

Riots caused by striking workmen have also taken place at Pilsen. At that place the police were utterly unable to cope with the mob and the military authorities were called upon to suppress the disorder. Troops have been sent to the scene and it is hoped that there will be no further trouble.

FRENCH MISSION BURNED.

The Priests Severely Maltreated and Thrown Into Prison.

SIAMANG, April 10.—The French mission at Hainan Fu, in the province of Shen Si, has been burned by a riotous mob. The priests in charge of the mission, after having been severely maltreated by the mob, were thrown into prison. The French minister, through his minister to China, has demanded redress for the outrage and has threatened to take energetic measures to obtain satisfaction should there be any delay in according justice to the missionaries, punishing the offenders and granting compensation for the loss incurred.

SUCCESS BY THE REBELS.

The Brazilian Insurgents Win a Fierce Battle at Rio Grande.

NEW YORK, April 10.—A Herald dispatch from Montevideo says: A correspondent in the city of Rio Grande do Sul, Brazil, sends word that the bombardment begun under Admiral Mello last Friday was renewed at sunrise yesterday morning. Gen. Saravia, who is commanding the troops which are fighting against the insurgent fleet, succeeded in gaining possession of one-third of the city by noon, and at 1 o'clock a well-directed shell exploded the powder magazine. The loyal garrison, which numbers less than one-half the force of the besiegers then commenced a retreat, but at 2 o'clock a reinforcement of 500 of President Peixoto's men from Porto Alegre arrived, whereupon the garrison again assumed the offensive and the battle was still raging fiercely at 4 o'clock p. m.

A Buenos Ayres dispatch says: It is reported here that the Brazilian fleet on the Amazon river has revolted against the Peixoto government.

It is stated that forty of the Brazilian insurgents escaped from the Portuguese warships and sought refuge at the Laxarato, Martin Garcia island. It is also reported that Admiral Da Gama and the Brazilian officers, who sought refuge on board the Portuguese warship Mindello, now supposed to be on its way to Portugal, are not on board that vessel, but have gone to Rio Grande, where they will join the forces under the command of Admiral De Mello.

MARQUIS OF AILESBUURY DEAD.

He Would Shortly Have Been Adjudged a Bankrupt.

LONDON, April 10.—The marquis of Ailesbury is dead, aged 31 years. It is probable that the marquis would shortly have been adjudged a bankrupt, as he was not able to pay the sum of $1,250,000 due to his creditors. He had been struggling against bankruptcy proceedings since 1890, and the negotiations for the sale of his magnificent estate of Savernake, Wiltshire, have been a notable feature of his pecuniary troubles.

The title will fall to Lord Henry Augustus Brundell-Bruce, an uncle of the late marquis. Sam Lewis, the noted sporting money lender, is reported to have a claim of about $1,300,000 against the marquis of Ailesbury for money loaned at heavy interest during a number of years past.

Stopped by a Storm.

UNIONTOWN, Pa., April 10.—The weather has at last broken Coxe's march schedule. For the first time since the commencement of the journey of the Commemorial, the army is compelled to come here until Wednesday morning before starting on its mountain trip on account of the storm last night which was a hard one, testing the endurance of the soldiers to the extreme.

SECURED AN INJUNCTION.

A Novel Complication Over the Erection of a Chicago Building.

CHICAGO, April 10.—Judge Abner Smith has granted an injunction restraining Falkner Brothers, the contractors building the Stock Exchange building, from employing union painters upon the work. The injunction was issued at the request of the Nesbitt company which has the painting contract.

Nesbitt's men, struck, demanding wages which he said he could not and would not pay. He offered to continue the work with non-union men, but the architect and Falkner, the chief contractor, refused.

The latter threatened to complete the work at Nesbitt's expense, unless he surrendered to the strikers, and Nesbitt last night obtained the restraining injunction.

THE BOY WAS DROWNED.

The Brutality of a Father Caused His Son's Death.

CALAIS, Me., April 10.—A man from Scotch Ridge, N. B., noted for his drunkenness and brutality to his family, came to St. Stephen for a coffin for his dead and dumb daughter, and on the way home got beastly drunk. He raved at and scared his son because he could not get the casket from the sleigh.

The boy tried to escape his father's wrath by running toward the St. Croix river. The father chased him upon the ice where the boy broke through and was drowned. The man returned to St. Stephen and bought another casket. No arrest has been made.

E. G. ROGERS NOMINATED.

The St. Paul Republicans Held Their City Convention Today and Chose E. G. Rogers for Mayor.

ST. PAUL, April 10.—The Republican city convention today effected a temporary organization, with W. H. Lightner, chairman, appointed the usual committees and took a recess until 1 o'clock. A bare majority of the delegates are unaffiliated, and the rest divided between ex-Governor McGill and Assemblyman Doran.

During the recess the McGill men caucused and concluding that they were not strong enough, withdrew their candidate from the field.

When nominations were in order after dinner E. G. Rogers and F. B. Doran were named, the latter receiving eighty-five votes to fifty-three for Rogers. Controller J. J. McCarty was renominated and Charles Horst was nominated for treasurer.

SUICIDE BY DROWNING.

Mr. Canning Jumped Into the Red River While Insane.

A Moorhead dispatch says that Charles Canning, whose death at his farm at Moorhead, Norman county, was reported in The Herald yesterday, committed suicide while temporarily insane, by drowning himself in the Red river near his farm.

Mr. Canning was suffering from nervous prostration for some time and had improved considerably before he went west and it was thought the change of air would be an additional benefit to him. He was very despondent, however, expressing the opinion that he would not recover. An attack of the grip early in the winter had weakened his nervous system.

Later—a dispatch from Moorhead to The Herald this afternoon says: It is reported that Mr. Canning, yesterday, eluded his keepers and wandered off. His dead body was found in the Red river in two feet of water. It is supposed to be a case of suicide.

STABBED BY A BEGGAR.

A Well Known American Mining Man Killed in Mexico.

DURANGO, Mex., April 10.—Louis W. Fortell arrived here today and reports that his companion, Frank T. Morrie, a well known mining man, met death near Nombre de Dios.

The two men were met on the road by a Mexican beggar who asked alms. Morrie refused and had harsh words with the mendicant who stealthily, following the Americans, stabbed Morrie in the back, producing a wound from which he soon died.

The murderer was apprehended by the authorities and summarily shot.

A LYCHING IN TEXAS.

A Young Man Hanged Without Any Apparent Cause.

GATESVILLE, Texas, April 10.—At the Grove, ten miles southwest of Gatesville, Sunday night about 11 o'clock Ed Cash, aged 21, whilst attending the sick bed of his young wife, in company with Dr. Smith, was called out by a mob and was found hanging to a tree about fifty yards from his home, literally riddled with bullets.

Cash bore a good name and the cause of the crime remains a mystery. Officers have gone to the scene of the lynching.

ONE ROBBER KILLED.

An Attempt Was Made to Hold Up a Rock Island Train in Oklahoma Territory.

One Robber Is Dead, Another Was Captured and Another Seriously Wounded, While Two Escaped.

A Posse Searching for the Two Who Fled and a Triple Lynching May Occur Tonight.

END, O. T., April 10.—The Rock Island road had its first holdup last night in the territory. It occurred between Pond Creek and Bound Pond at about 11:20 p. m., and as a result one of the robbers is dead, another captured and another seriously wounded, while two escaped. The train was in charge of Conductor Joe Reed and Engineer Whitmeyer. The train left Caldwell about an hour late and the first stop was at Pond Creek, and it was at this point the robbers concealed themselves in the tender of the engine, and when just over the Salt Fork creek, about two miles from Bound Pond, where their pals were stationed near the track, the attempt was made to make the hold-up.

Guard Jack Harmon, who was on the train, discovered the men before crossing the river and he watched them to make sure of their purpose, and as they were about to hold up the engineer and fireman, Harmon blazed away with his Winchester. The train slowed up, and the robbers jumped off but one ran only a few steps and dropped dead.

Their pals, who were stationed on a break near the track, commenced firing and literally perforated the baggage car and when it pulled into End it looked as though it had been through a musketry charge. Harmon and another guard by the name of Fawcett poured hot shot into the four remaining robbers and drove them off. A posse was sent out and two horses were caught that belonged to the robbers.

The citizens of Bound Pond soon heard of the hold-up and a large crowd turned out and soon captured one of the robbers, who, it developed, has been hanging around Bound Pond for several days. The dead robber's name is Pitts, a notorious desperado who has been in several affairs of this kind in the last two years. The three wounded robbers who made their escape rode eastward and are believed to be a portion of the Dalton gang, and it is known that some of the sympathizers of the desperadoes have been seen in End repeatedly for several days, one of them, a cousin of the notorious man who met such an ignominious end at Coffeyville, Kansas.

When the firing commenced the passengers of the train got down in the aisles and not one was injured, and the baggage and express messengers had their cars strongly barricaded. The dead robber, Pitts, was taken to Pond Creek where an inquest is now being held. It is believed that the captured robber's name is Morgan, and the sheriff of "L" county has a strong guard around him to prevent lynching.

A large posse of men is scouring the country for miles around and if the others are caught, a short shift will be made of them. A crowd is organizing now and if the sheriff does not spirit the captured robber out of the county before night he will be lynched by the citizens.

DULUTH BRIDGE BILLS.

The Senate Committee Will Soon Make a Report on Them.

WASHINGTON, April 10.—[Special to The Herald.]—The senate commerce committee will soon take up and report on the Baldwin and Haugen bills providing for the erection of bridges over the St. Louis river at different points between Dith and Superior. It is very probable that the senate will pass these bills, so this long drawn out bridge fight will soon be at an end.

A Verdict of Guilty.

WOOSTER, Ohio, April 10.—The trial of Dr. W. B. Brown, "alleged hired assassin" of W. A. Mackey, came to an abrupt end today. After Mackey had identified Brown and told the story of the dastardly attempt on his life, Brown's attorney, by arrangement with the state's attorney, rested the case. The jury retired and in fifteen minutes returned with a verdict of guilty.

Three Killed and Five Injured.

BERLIN, April 10.—An explosion of dynamite in a laboratory just outside the town of Dogmitz in Mecklenburg-Schwerin destroyed the manufactory and killed three workmen and mangled five others so that they cannot recover. Wreckage of the building was buried half a mile.

Birch Bark Anniversary Meeting of the Presbyterian Ladies Missionary Society Being Held Today.

Program Which Is to Be Carried Out in the Session—Dr. Thoburn to Lecture.

The J. J. Eckander Letter to Be Investigated and a Lodge Charter May Be Revoked.

The Birch bark anniversary of the Presbyterian Missionary Society is in session today with a goodly attendance of ladies from the several portions of the district. The society embraces nearly all the active lady workers connected with the churches in the Duluth Presbytery and the delegation consists of an able and intelligent body of women. The programs for the day's convention are written upon heart-shaped birch bark cards and are neat and novel in appearance. The following is the outline of exercise:

Devotional hour, Mrs. J. P. Wahl.
Welcome, Mrs. W. S. Albertson.
Music, Mrs. H. P. Smith.
Minutes of last meeting, Mrs. G. A. Brandt.
Unfinished business.
"Information vs. Missionary Enthusiasm," Mrs. A. H. Garver.
Birch bark offering from the children.
Music.
Lunch and election of officers.
2 p. m., opening music.
Promises.
Report of treasurer, Mrs. George Smith.
Report of corresponding secretary, Mrs. D. H. Twomey.
"The Work We Are Doing," Mrs. L. Findley.
Music.
Question hour, Mrs. S. A. Jamison.
Offerings.
Report of election.
U. S. C. S. and band reports.
The evening session will be devoted to an address by Rev. Dr. Thoburn, of the First Methodist church, late of India, who will enlighten the ladies upon missionary work in foreign fields.

Will Get After Them.
The executive committee of the Junior Grand Lodge of Minnesota I. O. G. T., at its session in Minneapolis on April 6, decided to cite the Morgenthaun Lodge, No. 17, of West Duluth, to show cause why its charter should not be revoked. This is the outgrowth of the "J. J. Eckander letter" to John Jenswold, Jr., as candidate for the mayoralty of Duluth. The executive committee is determined to probe the unfortunate affair to the bottom and if the charges made, that a member of the lodge offered to sell the votes of the members of the order in Duluth, is found to be true, immediate steps will be taken to punish the guilty parties according to the rules of the order.

West Duluth Briefs.
The election of Worrell Clarkson lieutenant of Company G leaves a vacancy among the sergeants which will be filled by a competitive examination at the regular meeting this evening. One corporal will also be chosen.

Mrs. G. A. Brandt, of Barnum, is attending the missionary anniversary and incidentally visiting her old West Duluth friends.
The regular meeting of the Forrester's last evening was unusually interesting owing to the presence of State High Chief Ranger, J. C. O'Keefe, and visiting brethren from Duluth and Superior lodges. Besides exemplifying the works of the order, Mr. O'Keefe entertained the lodge with an extemporaneous address.

J. C. Drum, who sprained his knee a few days ago, is again able to be out.

Born—Today, to Mr. and Mrs. John B. Smith, of Onota, a girl.

Notice to A. P. A's.
All members of the above named order are hereby notified that the Donnelly-Sims debate is not given under its auspices nor is it in any way connected with said organization in this city. By order of COUNCIL NO. 3.

An urgent invitation is given to the members of the First Presbyterian church and congregation to be present at the Thursday evening service, April 12. A matter of great interest and importance to all will be brought before the meeting.

WHEAT LOWER TODAY.

The belief that the Government report will be bearish.

The wheat market was dull and lower today. There was much speculation regarding the character of the government crop report to be issued this afternoon, and the majority seemed to be convinced that it would be bearish. Acting on this belief, several prominent Chicago brokers sold heavily, and it was rumored that they had a tip from inside circles. The market here opened weak at 10 1/2¢ below last night's close. There was no trading during the first hour, but it recovered a little towards the close, which was irregular at 10 1/2¢ below yesterday. Cash wheat in car lots sold at 10 1/2¢ premium over May. The mills but that figure freely, but did not get much. Following were the closing prices:
No. 1 hard, cash 69 1/2¢; April 69 1/2¢; May 69 1/2¢; July 69 1/2¢; September 69 1/2¢; No. 2 hard, cash 68 1/2¢; April 68 1/2¢; May 68 1/2¢; July 68 1/2¢; September 68 1/2¢; No. 3 hard, cash 67 1/2¢; INDUCEMENTS TO LIE.

Attorney Carlisle Declares That the Inducements for Col. Breckinridge to Lie Are Very Great.

Maintains That the Chain of Evidence Sustaining the Story of the Plaintiff Is Complete.

He Closed His Plea by Reminding the Jury That They Can Award $50,000 Damages.

WASHINGTON, April 10.—In the circuit court today, Attorney Carlisle took up his review of the testimony where he had dropped it last night and devoted himself for the first half hour particularly to a discussion of Mrs. Governor Blackburn's testimony. He rehearsed the evidence on the plaintiff's side claiming that the chain was complete, and opposed only by the defendant's unsupported word, while the inducement for him to lie was greater than ever.

"This young woman does not come before you untaught," the lawyer began in comparing the character of his client with that of the statesman. What is left now of her life? The opportunity is past for him to make that reparation he owed to her and himself. When you compare the character of the witnesses on both sides; when you think of this man with power, socially, politically and otherwise, who acquired domination over this unfortunate girl; who ruined her life, you cannot but believe that he promised to make good to her the ruin of her life, you cannot, with the thought of the mothers and daughters in the land, refuse to make the only possible reparation to this unfortunate plaintiff.

Reminding them of the $50,000 which the declaration would allow them to award, Mr. Carlisle closed his plea and Miss Lillard and her companion left the room. Then Col. Phil Thompson faced the jury.

UNION PACIFIC SENSATION.

Report That the Three Receivers Are About to Resign.

OMAHA, April 10.—The sensation in Union Pacific affairs is a report that Receivers Anderson, Couderc and Doane will resign in consequence of Judge Caldwell's criticism and possibly also of Judge Dundy's delay in fixing their salaries until he should see what they earned.

Another thing which causes uneasiness is the reorganization scheme. None of the different interests has conceded anything, it is stated. The officials are beginning to think an agreement will soon be effected between the Union Pacific and the Gulf roads.

Mr. McConnell has gone to the annual Gulf election to look out for the Union Pacific interests.

ARE STUCK IN UTAH.

The Industrial Army Say They Will Go East This Evening.

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, April 10.—A dispatch from Ogden says: Governor West has given his ultimatum to the Southern Pacific Railway company. Militia still surround the industrial camp and the railway does not appear to be anxious to make a move.

The men are peaceable so far, and say they will go East over the Union Pacific this evening. No transportation has been arranged for, and it is not known what methods the industrialists will use. The Southern Pacific road has refused to obey the order of the court. Governor West has given the company one hour to comply; otherwise he will forcibly take possession of the cars, load the men into them and take them out of the territory.

INDICTED FOR PERJURY.

Capt. Thurber, of Rochester, Accused of Perjury in a Pension Case.

MINNEAPOLIS, April 10.—One of the thirty-four pension indictments turned in by the federal grand jury was against Capt. Charles E. Thurber, of Rochester, Minn., for perjury. He appeared this morning to give bail which was fixed at $100.

He is accused in the indictment of having sworn falsely to the disabilities of Thomas M. Newell, a claimant for a pension. This is the first time an old soldier has been indicted in the Northwest for perjury in pension matters.

New Postmasters.

WASHINGTON, April 10.—The president today sent the following nominations to the senate: Postmasters—John Passage, Delavan, Wis.; George P. Wehausen, Two Rivers, Wis.

A Dastardly Outrage.

CLEVELAND, April 10.—An attempt was made last night at Huron, Ohio, to wreck the Atlantic express on the Lake Shore road. A large number of ties were piled between the rails on the bridge across the river. They were discovered by a young man who reported to the telegraph operator in time to stop the train before it reached the bridge.

HEARD IN WASHINGTON.

One of the Leading Senators Makes a Statement.

WHAT HE HAS DISCOVERED.

There is No Man or Woman Who Reads This Telegram Who Cannot Profit by Its Advice.

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 2.—The consideration of the tariff bill and the Hawaiian question has been partially eclipsed by the revelation of certain figures which the health department of the government has produced. It is shown that, as compared with other nations, America is in fact a nation of starvelings. We produce the grain, the beef, the pork, to feed the world; but Americans, themselves, appear thin, pale, and often puny. Authorities are asking why this should be so, and it has been declared that it is because we are so inactive, so active as a nation. A prominent man in an official capacity, however, has declared that it is because Americans do not secure the proper benefit from the food they eat. He asserts that "the food that gets into the stomach is not digested, but after taxing the body to try to digest it, it fails to make any blood, thus leaving the body in a worse condition than before the food was taken. A man or woman might as well starve outright, as to take food into the stomach and not have it digested."

It is perhaps because of this revelation that the new discovery known as Paskola, the flesh-forming food, is attracting so much attention just now. A well-known statesman in speaking upon the subject, yesterday, said: "I do not know what I should do with all the cares and duties I have, if I had not something upon which to build my strength. I have found that ordinary foods do not answer the purpose, but I have found that by the steady use of Paskola, I have trouble with indigestion and have gained a number of pounds in weight. For this reason I feel that I can not get along without it."

The eminent man who has quoted is only one of a great many who are starting in the new and advanced path which has been shown to be the short cut to health and strength, and the attention of the people of Washington is centered upon this subject which is known to be so important.

A pamphlet giving full particulars respecting Paskola will be sent on application to the Pre-Digested Food Co., 30 Reade street, New York city.

NOTICE OF MORTGAGE SALE.

Default has been made in the conditions of a certain mortgage duly made and delivered by Collis E. Brown and Anna L. Brown, his wife, of Duluth, Minnesota, mortgagors, to American Loan and Trust Company, a corporation duly incorporated under the laws of the state of Minnesota, of Duluth, in said mortgage, bearing date the 15th day of June, 1893, and on the 20th day of June, 1893, at 10 o'clock a. m., in Book 25 of mortgages, on page 57, which mortgage and the debt thereby secured were duly assigned by said American Loan and Trust Company to the undersigned Massachusetts Loan and Trust Company, which is now the owner and holder thereof by written instrument, dated the 15th day of April, 1894, and duly recorded in the office of said register of deeds on the 15th day of April, 1894, at 10 o'clock a. m., in Book 33 of mortgages, on page 22.

And whereas said default consists in the failure of the mortgagors to pay to the holder of said mortgage, the sum of six hundred and seventy-one and 32/100 dollars, principal and interest, and the sum of forty and 88/100 dollars hereunto paid by the undersigned for insurance upon the premises covered by said mortgage, amounting to the total sum of six hundred and seventy-one and 120/100 dollars, which amount is claimed to be due upon said mortgage as of the date of this notice.

And whereas said mortgage contains a power of sale which by reason of said default has become operative and no action or proceeding at law or otherwise has been instituted to recover the debt secured by said mortgage or any part thereof.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given, that by virtue of said power of sale and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed and the premises therein described and covered thereby, to-wit: Lot number forty-one (41) East Fourth street, Duluth Proper, First Division according to the recorded plat thereof, with the improvements and appurtenances, will be sold at public auction to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt and interest and one hundred dollars attorney's fee, stipulated in said mortgage to be paid in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law, which sale will be made by the sheriff of said St. Louis County, Minnesota, at the front door of the court house of said county, in said county and state, on Saturday the 25th day of May 1894, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon of that day, subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale as by law provided.

Dated April 3d, 1894.

HE'S SMALL POTATOES.

When in Washington Maj. Baldwin Cuts No Very Great Figure, Says Mr. Jennison.

Yet He Wants Our Congressman's Support for His Simple Little Dam Bill Now Pending.

The Chamber of Commerce Will Look Into the Matter Before Endorsing the Scheme.

"It's a purely business question, you see," said Mr. Jennison. "The chamber of commerce saw it in that light and referred the matter to a committee of five to investigate, although it was not the procedure which Mr. Jennison hoped and contended for."

The Altamonte Water company has a bill pending before congress. Maj. Baldwin wrote asking the chamber to consider the matter and advise him what to do. Citizens generally were invited to participate in the meeting and there was a pretty good attendance this morning. H. F. Greene said it was not wise to push forward the scheme of any company or to endorse any wildcat improvement. He suggested that a committee be appointed to investigate the matter, give a full bearing to all interests, obtain opinions of competent engineers, and that upon their report the chamber take action. Correcting the statement that the St. Louis river had been made a navigable stream by order of the secretary of war, Mr. Greene said that it was so made partly by act of God and partly by act of congress.

T. W. Hugo said that everything should be done to bring about the results contemplated by either or all of the companies, but that nothing should be done until full investigation was made. He favored a committee and urged that that committee not only have laid before it detail plans of the method proposed for overcoming the natural difficulties, but full information as to the financial backing of the promoters before saying which company is the best.

"The result aimed at," said Mr. Hugo, "is one we all want to see. Seven and a half gallons of water on top of the hill means one horse power at the bay. That would give us a cinch on creation."

Mr. Keyes said in reply to a question that the Minnesota Canal company would be glad to meet a committee and show their plans.

Mr. Jennison, representing the Altamonte company, arose and seated himself at the table with his back to President Gridley. He apologized for this seeming discourtesy by remarking that the question was one of cold facts rather than physiology. Mr. Gridley accepted the apology and Mr. Jennison went ahead with his facts.

"We have," he said in substance, "a permit from the secretary of war for a partial control of the St. Louis river and the right to erect a dam under such conditions as he thinks proper. We have the right to put a dam at Cleary and the right to floodwood above the Indian reservation. We only ask in this bill that we may purchase now, at such price as the commissioner of the land office may determine upon, the lands that were put upon the market practically five years ago but the sale of which has been deterred by dilatory tactics."

"We can build a dam at once," concluded Mr. Jennison, "that will be sufficient for present needs. But we want to build the dam that will provide for the future. Baldwin or no Baldwin, Duluth or no Duluth, chamber or no chamber, we are bound to pass this bill. But if you will help us to smooth the road, you will be repaid in dollars and cents—in water. But if you don't—well you are all business men and understand."

Quick as a flash Mr. Hugo was on his feet. "On the statements made by Mr. Jennison I move to indefinitely postpone the matter," he said. "We are not to be bulldozed in such a manner."

Mr. Buck seconded the motion. Mr. Jennison got up to recover his lost ground. He did not sit on the desk this time, but stood with back to the president.

He explained that he intended to convey no threats. "Duluth is taking no chances in this matter." The interest of Duluth, he contended, was in the direction of cheaper water. He stated that Washington gets 1000 gallons under 64 pounds pressure for a cent. He had asked Maj. Baldwin a promise that the same rate would induce him to push the bill. Maj. Baldwin replied that as a business man he would accept such a proposition but as a congressman he could not. "Now that is what I mean by this dollars and cents. If Duluth helps us, why will we be disposed to give a cheap rate, and if not?"

And then Mr. Jennison again proceeded to show that it made no difference whether Duluth endorsed the scheme or not; that the bill was bound to go through, although he admitted that opposition might delay it until next winter and by so much retard the work.

"Are you prepared to make a contract to furnish water at 3 cents or less?" inquired Mr. Leland.

"Duluth is not in this bill," snapped Mr. Jennison. Then he made some more explanations. "Congressman Baldwin is a big man here," he said, in speaking of the chances for his bill without the sanction of the chamber and citizens of Duluth, "but in Washington he is only one of 350. If he opposes the measure now his colleagues will ask him, 'Baldwin, what does this mean?'"

Mr. Leland could not see why the chamber should be asked to act at all if their action made no difference. The resolution for a committee of five

The Prize For Best Ad.

Written by Eighth Grade Pupils of Central High School in Contest No. 1, Subject, "NECKWEAR," was Awarded to Miss Ethel H. Birch, which we Publish Below:

M. S. BURROWS & CO.,
Duluth, Minn.

Gents:—Enclosed find two verses of fifty words advertising neckwear. Below I enclose a third verse, which advertises all the words of the contest including neckwear. I did not add it to the other verses as it made more than fifty words. Yours sincerely,

ETHEL H. BIRCH.

The evening shades were falling fast,
As through Superior street there passed
A dude, who strode o'er slippery ice,
Intently seeking something nice

In Neckwear.

His brow was sad, his collar torn,
His necktie gone, he looked forlorn.
Anear discerning Burrows' Store,
He madly darted through the door

For Neckwear.

When once within, there met his view
Hats, Overcoats, Suits and Shoes.
"Not Boys' and Children's Suits," he cried,
With one last gasp he faintly sighed:

"Some Neckwear."

A Word to the Coming Men:

BOYS, do you know it is a remarkable thing that the greater number of the hundreds of "ads" received were written by the girls. Surely, lots of boys expect to own a large business of their own some day. If you wish to be successful you'll certainly have to use printer's ink. Why not train your young minds now? Let the people see the elegant ideas you have. We want every boy in Duluth, as well as the girls, to compete for the other five contests.

passed and Mr. Gridley will name the members before night. The Minnesota and St. Louis companies will go before the committee they say, but Mr. Jennison says the Altamonte company will not.

While Mr. Jennison claims his bill is very simple and is only designed to permit the purchase of lands that they could otherwise buy later, the other companies say the passage of the bill would shut them out entirely.

President Gridley called attention to a letter from Maj. Baldwin relative to his bill putting gold-bearing lands under the laws relating to mineral land. Mr. Baldwin has received a protest from fifteen Duluth land agents pronouncing the measure iniquitous. He wants to know whether it is and a committee composed of Messrs. Johnson, Hale and Nolte will investigate and inform him.

LOOKING FOR HIS WIFE.

A Carlton County Man Whose Better Half Has Flown.

A man came into Sheriff Sharvy's office this morning with blood in his eye. In much broken English he told his story. His name is Schelman, and he came down from Carlton to look for his wife. She left his home yesterday in company with a man named O'Brien, and started for St. Paul. O'Brien had been boarding with them and paying the rent, and when he left the man who owned the house locked it up and refused to let Schelman in.

He wanted to have Sheriff Sharvy telegraph to St. Paul and have the pair apprehended. Sharvy gave him a letter of introduction to Harry Armstrong and sent him to police headquarters.

As he went out he said: "I suppose they'll have a h— of a time, but wait till I catch em."

The Unitarian ladies will serve a supper at their church from 6 to 7 o'clock tomorrow evening. This will be followed by a social time in the way of a "Circular Library." Admission, 10 cents. Supper 25 cents. All are invited.

IS AT LAST ENDED.

Rebecca Raab's Slander Suit Went to the Jury This Afternoon.

The testimony in the Raab case was all in before adjournment last evening, but the attorneys asked for more time before arguing the case and the arguments went over to this morning. Mr. Towne opened, talking until 11 o'clock, and Mr. Crocker spoke until 12:45. Both made eloquent talks.

The jury was charged immediately after dinner and retired to deliberate. The personal injury suit of John Tomal against the Northern Pacific railroad, commenced yesterday afternoon, was on trial before Judge Ensign this morning. Tomal commenced working for the road in the yards at Old Superior last summer and the first day got his foot caught in a frog, run over by a push car and crushed. He claims that the frog was not properly blocked. His claim is $1000.

The jury in the case of Anna Korja Palmer against William Farrell yesterday afternoon brought a verdict of 1 cent for the plaintiff. The parties to the suit were employed in Boyle's, and Anna, who was a scrub girl, claimed that Farrell took possession of a scrubbing brush she was using and that he employed violence in so doing.

A jury was drawn to try the case of John H. Brigham against Peter Runquist just before the noon adjournment. Runquist is living on two lots in Fond du Lac which he settled upon a year or two ago thinking them his. Brigham asserts a claim to them. Runquist asks the jury, if they decide that the land belongs to Brigham, to recompense him for $500 in improvements which he has made upon it.

The jury in the case of Edmund Caplis against the American Fire Insurance company yesterday returned a verdict under instructions for $507.50 for the plaintiff.

The jury in the case of the New England Furniture company against Sarah L. Bryant went out this morning. The man indicted by the grand jury

As all Roads Formerly Led to Rome

All Shopping Tours Now Center at the Great Smoke Sale.

The keen conception of the shopping public was never more thoroughly demonstrated than at this great sale. To buy is easy if you have the money at any time, and the continued succession of advertisers' spasms have and will always try to make you believe you are obtaining something for nothing without any excuse whatever for giving things away, but the fact that each day shows a markedly perceptible increase in the universal conception of the cheapness of things here, plainly illustrates that many know when they see, and know well. Cash has never been the monarch it is today. At this great smoke sale its sovereign power has increased two and three fold.

RIOTOUS HUNS

The War in the Pennsylvania Coke Region Resumed Today and the Situation Most Critical.

Fierce Battles Have Been Averted Only by Concessions on the Part of the Companies.

An Armed Mob Swooped Down on Works at Youngstown and Insulted and Beat Workmen.

Sheriff Wilhelm Overtook the Rioters, But His Force Was Too Small to Disperse Them.

UNIONTOWN, Pa., April 11.—War has begun again in the coke region and the situation today is most critical. Rioting and raiding have been the program from early morning and fierce battles have been averted only by concessions on the part of the companies. The first indication of trouble was in the form of an armed mob of 400 strikers which assembled at 7:30 today at the Youngstown works of the H. C. Frick company near here. About eighty coke drawers were in the pit when at a given signal, strikers swooped upon the plant from every direction.

The workers fled for shelter to the company's store which was guarded by only six employees. The 400 Huns demanded that the workmen be given up. This was refused at first, but after several attacks the workmen were given up. They were treated to all sorts of insults and some of them beaten with clubs.

Sheriff Wilhelm was notified at once and started for the scene. The rioters had left for the Leisenring works. The sheriff gave chase with twenty deputies, overtook the mob and ordered them to disperse. The leader of the rioters answered that they were on the public highway and had equal rights with the strikers.

A deputy took one of the men, when the strikers surrounded the posse and forced the authorities to give up the man. The sheriff's force then fell back and the strikers continued on the march from Leisenring. Twenty more deputies have left here to join Sheriff Wilhelm. Trouble is inevitable, as the strikers are all armed.

At the Youngstown it is said an attempt was made to shoot the air from the mine, which would have resulted in suffocation and death for the workers.

THE BRAZILIAN STRUGGLE.

Admiral da Gama Did Not Leave the Portuguese Warship.

NEW YORK, April 11.—The Herald's Montevideo special says: When the Brazilian refugees escaped last Sunday from the Portuguese warships at Buenos Ayres it was confidently expected that Admiral da Gama would be among them. It turns, however, that da Gama at the last moment refused to leave the Minidelo. He is still aboard her, and in fact declares that he never intended or encouraged the plan of escape. The Albuquerque pursued one of the rescuing vessels, the Carbonero, an Argentine craft, and by force of arms took from her 250 of the escaped Brazilian refugees. They were bound for Rio Janeiro to rejoin Admiral de Mello.

Argentine officers feel indignant at this action, which they regard as an insult to their flag. Only 150 of the fugitives reached Martin Garcia island, the Buenos Ayres quarantine station, and Brazil has demanded that the Argentine surrender them at once. The Argentine foreign office laughs at this demand, however, and in any event President Tiburk said he could never consent to the surrender of political refugees.

The Herald's correspondent in Rio Grande City says that the siege still continues. Gen. Saravia, who leads the insurgent land forces, has cut telegraph and rail communications between Rio Grande City, Pelotas and Porto Alegre and Admiral Mello has captured San Jose del Norte, a small town not far from Rio Grande City.

Her Husband Alive.

CLEVELAND, April 11.—Mrs. Jacob Weisenborn, of this city, since the latter part of October has thought herself a widow. Her husband disappeared, and was supposed to have been killed on a railroad. A body was identified as his, and the supposed widow received $3000 insurance money. Now it is said Weisenborn is living in Buffalo.

Duke of Veragua Honored.

MADRID, April 11.—The Duke of Veragua has been appointed president of the senatorial committee on treaties of commerce with Germany, Austria and Italy.

JACKSON IS READY TO FIGHT.

He Has Offered to Fight Corbett on Almost Any Terms.

CHICAGO, April 11.—Peter Jackson was in his dressing room at the Alhambra theater last night when he heard of Corbett's intended departure for England on Thursday. "Parson" Davies read aloud the telegram. Jackson listened eagerly to the news that the champion would not fight him in June. Disappointment was written in every line of his dusky face.

"Well, I'll live up to the articles," he said. "I am going to keep in training until June and am ready to fight on short notice. If between now and the time when the fight was to come off, a club offers a purse I shall claim the fight. Corbett does not come to the scratch. In my letter which I wrote to Corbett yesterday, I suggested that we fight for the private wage of $10,000 a side if no club would agree to take the match."

"Mr. Davies bet a suit of clothes that Corbett would want to raise the amount to $20,000 or $25,000. He says he will fight me for $5,000 or $30,000. The amount I named was the largest private purse that has ever been fought for. Corbett has every advantage. He may out-money me but can't outfight me. I don't want to seem to pursue him. He doesn't seem to think about the articles he has signed. He is going to England and says that under no circumstances will there be a fight in June."

He will fight Corbett in England if he is willing. I think it would be impossible to make a fair proposition than the one I made to Corbett. He knows what he is going to do and I don't. Mr. Davies has been making dates for the company only two weeks ahead, so that I can be ready at any time to go into hard training."

THREE ROUNDS WERE FOUGHT.

Editor Bernard Assaulted But Finally Scored a Knock Down.

GRAND RAPIDS, Minn., April 11.—[Special to the Herald.]—Editor Bernard of the Magnet, while on his way to dinner, was assaulted by some unknown, who attempted to knock Mr. Bernard out, but after three hard fought rounds the editor scored a knock down, Grand Rapids rules.

Referee Ryan declared the fight a draw. It is hinted the unknown is connected with county auditor's office in some way.

Refused to Honor It.

CHEYENNE, Wyo., April 11.—Governor Osborne has refused to honor a requisition issued by Governor Rickards, of Montana, for Thomas J. Wherick, charged with assault with intent to kill, because of irregularities in the papers. Wyoming's governor took occasion to write a sarcastic letter to Governor Rickards because the latter once refused to give up a murderer, because he feared the man would be lynched in Wyoming.

Investigating a Murder.

PEDRAS NEGROS, Mex., April 11.—A close investigation of the recent brutal murder and robbery of John Wallace, the prominent American merchant at the Felipe coal mines, south of here, has been in progress for several days. The result is that half a dozen or more men are under arrest. The local court has been busily engaged, and so far the testimony seems to criminate more especially a negro named Dick Mackey. He with several Mexican prisoners has been brought to Sabins for safe custody.

A Stage Held Up.

HENNESSEY, Okla., April 11.—The train running between O'Kla and Watonga was held up by three men armed with Winchester. Two passengers, named Ritas Cooper and Dwight Gillespie, were relieved of over $200 and two gold watches. The United States mail was not disturbed. After doing the work the robbers rode rapidly away. Vigilants are in pursuit.

The Commonwealth's Tramp.

UNIONTOWN, Pa., April 11.—The departure of the Commonwealth for the mountain trip was made at noon. The line was well formed and a noticeable feature was the fact that seven of the men who deserted Tuesday night reappeared in the column. The inclemency of the weather deterred many from viewing the departure. The stop tonight will be near Chalk Hill, eight miles.

Christian Endeavor Convention.

CLEVELAND, April 11.—A mammoth 3000 tent has been secured from Barnum & Bailey in which to hold the big convention of the Christian Endeavor society which will be in session here from July 1 to 16. A house to house canvass will be made to secure sleeping quarters for the 40,000 young people that will be present.

Another Canal Scheme.

TOLEDO, April 11.—At a meeting of the directors of the chamber of commerce last evening, the committee was appointed to investigate the feasibility of a ship canal from Chicago to this city, shortening the distance from there 700 miles.

WORST OF THE SEASON

The Atlantic Coast Being Visited By the Most Severe Storm Experienced for Many Years.

Two Vessels Wrecked on the Jersey Coast and the Crews Washed Overboard and Drowned.

An Ocean Tug Sunk at a Dock in Brooklyn, But No One On Board Injured.

NEW YORK, April 11.—The worst storm of the season is raging on the Atlantic coast, and heavy damage to shipping and loss of life are reported. The life saving crew at Long Branch reported early this morning that a vessel was ashore near the Squan life saving station and that she was in danger of going to pieces. Shortly afterwards another vessel was reported ashore off Highland beach. A binding snow storm prevailed at the time, and the crews of the life saving station could do little effective work.

The vessel wrecked off Squan is the Albert W. Smith, sailing from Philadelphia to Providence with coal. She was driven ashore shortly before daylight, the driving sleet and wind preventing the crews from seeing the lights. Up to the hour of filing this dispatch no bodies have been discovered, though according to a fisherman, she lost both her masts and several of her crew washed overboard with them. The heavy sea and snow storm prevented any accurate view of the wreck, but it is asserted that the men who were washed overboard with the wreckage, were soon after washed away and drowned. Sixty other men were washed overboard, one by one, and drowned.

It is ascertained that the vessel which went ashore off Highland beach is a 3-masted schooner, Kate Markee, and there seems no doubt that all her crew were drowned. She began to break up almost immediately. The lifeboats from the two nearest stations to the spot were unable to launch their boats on account of the awful sea which was running.

The ocean tug Underwriter was sunk as she was trying to make a landing at the dock at Watson's stores, Brooklyn. No one was hurt.

The wreck of the New Jersey Southern railroad between Seabright and Highland beach has been washed out. The waves were so strong that the iron rails were twisted out of shape. Travel on the road is at a standstill.

A special to the Brooklyn Eagle from Greenport, L. I., says: The new oyster schooner Nevada has been driven ashore. She is heavily loaded with seed oysters and without a doubt will become a total wreck as she is pounding to pieces on the rocks.

The lumber sloop, John Morgan, parted her cables and in less than ten minutes was a total wreck. Unless the wind abates soon, great damage must follow as many vessels both large and small are seen to be dragging their anchors.

THAT TWIN CITY CANAL.

Prof. Winchell Says the Water Supply is Sufficient.

ST. PAUL, April 11.—The committee of the chamber of commerce having in charge the matter of the proposed ship canal between Lake Superior and the Mississippi, called on Professor N. H. Winchell, state geologist, for information on the water supply for the eastern end of such canal, the congressional committee on canals being doubtful of the sufficiency of the water supply.

A letter just received from Professor Winchell and forwarded to Washington, states that near the probable route of the canal is a tract of lake country of ten square miles, easily accessible and convenient for use, which has water "abundantly sufficient to feed the canal on the divide, and at all lower stations of course there is still more water available from the larger streams."

The house committee expects to put tomorrow on the bill for a survey of the proposed canal.

HEAVY SNOW FALL AT BUFFALO.

Ten Inches Have Fallen and No Sign of a Let Up.

BUFFALO, April 11.—Snow has been falling without cessation for nearly twenty-four hours. It is wet and heavy and now about ten inches deep, loading trees and wires as heavy as they will hold. All communication by wire is difficult.

It is impossible to learn how great is the extent of the storm in this territory, but from scattered services at hand the snowfall seems to be general at this end of the state and to extend beyond Rochester. There is no indication of a let up yet.

Jury Could Not Agree.

FRESNO, Cal., April 11.—The sensational second trial of Richards Heath, for the murder of L. B. McWhirter, lawyer and politician, came to an end today, the jury being discharged after their failure to agree. The jury stood ten for conviction and two for acquittal and was out eighty-one hours.

Will Wear Bloomers.

DENVILLE, Cal., April 11.—The progressive women here have adopted a pattern for dress reform and when too pledges shall be secured they will appear on the street clad in the new garments, consisting of bloomers reaching to the ankle and any kind of waist the wearer may prefer.

Two Murderers Captured.

LOUISVILLE, April 11.—The murderers of Stephen Geer, the dairyman who was killed back of Jeffersonville about a month ago, have been arrested. Both are negroes and their names are Sim Booker and Marion Pickering.

THAT MINNESOTA MANIFESTO.

Senator Morgan Referred to it as Trying a Man in His Absence.

WASHINGTON, April 11.—The galleries of the senate had a deserted appearance today. At 1 o'clock the tariff bill was taken up in accordance with the terms of the agreements yesterday. Senator Morgan took the floor and referred to a manifesto from the Minnesota Democratic association, in which a number of Democratic senators (among them himself) were alleged to be in league with the "Hill-Gorman-Pugh combination" in opposition to the tariff bill, and in which they were called "Masked Democrats." That, remarked Mr. Morgan, is the French method of trying a man in his absence and without serving notice upon him.

He had been a tariff reformer before many of the gentlemen who had issued this manifesto against him and he had never relaxed his purpose and desire to have a fair, just and equitable system of taxation in the United States.

The House.

WASHINGTON, April 11.—Immediately after the reading of the journal today, the house got in a deadlock over a technical parliamentary question, the Republicans not voting and the Democrats lacking thirty-three of a quorum. It soon became evident no business could be transacted and at 1:40 the house adjourned.

PLEAS FOR BRECKINRIDGE.

Col. Phil Thompson Closed His Speech and Ben Butterworth Began.

WASHINGTON, April 11.—Col. Phil Thompson resumed his speech against Madeline Pollard when the circuit court met today. He declared her story was the act of a bawd, of a woman who felt that if she could not marry him she could disgrace him. He closed with an appeal to the jury to return a verdict according to the law and the testimony. Maj. Butterworth followed, declaring there was no wrong to be righted by this suit. A reference to his continued friendship for Col. Breckinridge caused an outburst of applause and Judge Bradley ordered the court room cleared. The attorney then reviewed the childhood of Miss Pollard, saying there was no school girl of 16 in the case, and paid a tribute to the defendant's bravery. He then told the jury that the case was for recovery for a specific act and a verdict for Col. Breckinridge would mean that they condoned his conduct.

A Peculiar Claim.

CHEYENNE, Wyo., April 11.—Democratic politicians are now claiming that the term of Governor Osborne does not expire until January, 1897. If this proves to be the case no gubernatorial election would be held in Wyoming this year. The claim is based on the provision of the state constitution that a governor shall be elected for four years, no provision being made for filling unexpired terms. Governor Osborne was elected to fill an unexpired term.

Suit Against Professor Sims.

APPLETON, Wis., April 11.—The case of Peter Reuter, ex-mayor of Kaukauna, against Walter Sims, the A. P. A. lecturer, for slander, has been transferred to the United States circuit court at Milwaukee on application of Sims' attorneys. The suit grows out of Sims' statement in an open letter to Governor Fitch that Reuter incited the riot at Kaukauna wherein Sims was roughly handled.

San Domingo's Currency.

NEW YORK, April 11.—A law is to be submitted to the congress of San Domingo which will prepare for a currency on a gold basis on and after June 1 next instead of the present currency, that of the Mexican dollar. The new currency will be in gold dollars of the precise weight and fineness of the United States coin.

Prominent Pythian Shot.

KANSAS CITY, April 11.—George E. Root, chancellor commander of Forest Lodge No. 130, Knights of Pythias, was shot through the body and probably fatally wounded just outside the lodge room in the Humboldt building by Henry W. Keeling, also a member of the lodge, last night. Keeling alleged improper relations between his wife and Root.

To Appeal From Jenkins.

MILWAUKEE, April 11.—The attorneys representing the various railway organizations held a conference this afternoon and decided to appeal to the court of appeals on Judge Jenkins' ruling on the motion to modify the Northern Pacific strike order.

Hill Doubly Encircled.

ALBANY, N. Y., April 11.—The house joint resolution commending Senator David B. Hill for his opposition to the national administration's foreign, tariff and income tax policy passed the senate today—41 to 11, practically a party vote.

A Double Tragedy.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., April 11.—E. G. Bordeaux, of Princeton, Ky., shot himself and Nannie Myrick in a house of ill fame late yesterday afternoon. His wound is fatal. The woman is not seriously injured.

Noted Secessionist Dead.

BALTIMORE, April 11.—Severn Tackell Wallis, who was active in politics in Maryland in ante-war times, is dead at the age of 78 years. His ardent secessionism caused his incarceration for fourteen months by order of the Washington government.

General Miners' Strike.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, April 11.—The United Mine Workers of America have ordered a general strike April 21.

FORBES ON LINCOLN

Eloquent Address by the Methodist Divine
On the Life and Character of the Great American.

Moses the Only Man He Can Be Compared To—Men Could Not Comprehend Him.

Bishop Shanley Discusses 'The Teachings and Beliefs of Catholicism' in a Plain, Intelligent Manner.

There was a fair attendance at Dr. Forbes' lecture on "Abraham Lincoln" in the High School Assembly hall last evening. Dr. Forbes is an excellent speaker and with such a subject as one he had last night he becomes eloquent.

"The fact that Lincoln was born in obscurity," he said, "is not at all important one way or the other. The question is not where a man is born but what he does." It is even doubtful if Lincoln ever split rails, and if he did it is not worth talking about.

"Lincoln was both statesman and politician and was early a candidate for office. He had not only greatness of character but greatness of achievement. Great men are not scattered thickly along the course of history. Mountain peaks stand alone and genius never occurs twice at the same time. Lincoln was among the greatest in character and was certainly the greatest in achievement. Moses was a great man. He was the first emancipator and Lincoln is only to be compared to him. Napoleon was great, but he was selfish. Washington was great too, but he had to have the help of Blucher and God to defeat Napoleon. Pericles was a great man in his day, but the mayor of Duluth has a bigger contract on his hands than he had. Washington filled his place well, but with all honor to him, he is not to be compared with Lincoln.

"Lincoln, like all great men, was too large for comprehension. Men who knew him intimately differed as to his character, because we only see one section of a large mind at a time.

"When he was in the White House he was moving with a grandeur of soul on to a great purpose. Surrounded by treason, the impatient people behind him, dangers around him, almost alone, he stood for a great purpose. He carried his burden through the war and was re-elected, but for a short time. He died, and dying, went to Heaven carrying the shackles of 4,000,000 slaves in his hands.

Dr. Forbes declared in answer to the often-repeated question of Lincoln's faith, that in early life he was inclined to be sceptical, but later embraced the essentials of a Christian faith.

"The central idea of Lincoln's administration was not the freeing of the slaves, but the preservation of the Union," he continued. Lincoln's place in history is a grand one. The light kindled upon America's altar shines not for America alone, but for the world just as the declaration of independence and the adoption of the constitution were the greatest events up to that time in the history of the world. They meant independence.

"Lincoln stood for independence. There are twenty-two nations in Europe, armed and suspicious of each other, ready at any moment to break out into war. There are fifty states in America moving without the slightest friction. It was the one supreme task of the man from Illinois to preserve this peace, and he did it. He was called by God to the great work of perpetuating the Union.

"The rebellion was a blow at the Union. It was a dastardly conspiracy. Its success would have postponed the millennium a thousand years. The great place in history was to save the country that was doing so much to better the world.

Incidentally Dr. Forbes mentioned the fact that the first offer of troops was made Lincoln by Governor Alexander Ramsey, of Minnesota, who was then in Washington and was issued by Lieut. Governor Ignatius Donnelly.

"When I think of that time I know that the country was safe with Grant in the field, Lincoln in the White House and God on the throne," he said. We need peace no broken shield or stone at his grave. Lincoln's life's work was ended. When his work on earth was done, he was shot in Ford's theater, in Washington. His body was taken to Springfield.

Statesmen and patriots, and humanity itself, will gather a new inspiration, century after century, while the arches of time sweep over the grave of Abraham Lincoln.

Mrs. Segor sang two pleasing selections sweetly.

The next lecture in the home made course will be by L. J. Hopkins on the "Citizen Man of Letters." Music will be furnished by Professor Sexton.

JUDGE BROWNELL'S WIT.

His Ready Tongue Was a Little Too Much for Some Republican Friends.

"I don't claim to be a wit," said the irrepressible Lewis Brownell, commonly called "Judge," "but once in a while I strike it and get off a joke of which I feel proud. The other evening, when going home on a car, I fell into the company of half a dozen of my radical Republican friends.

"I have just solved a puzzling problem," said I. "A while back when the Wilson bill was later to pass, business increased, money became easier, the people felt more hopeful and things looked much better all around. Today, however, things are back in the old slough of despond. In fact, they are in deeper than ever. Business stagnated, money is tight and everyone seems to be wholly discouraged. I have just thought of the reason: It's these Republican victories all over the country in state and municipal elections. The counting, the return of this old robber tariff Republican party to power.

"All my good Republican friends looked at each other and then at me, but said never a word. At last one spoke up and exclaimed:

"You ought to get that theory patented."

"Well, if I did," said I, "the Republican party would contest my patent on the grounds of priority of use.

And chuckling at the manner in which he had stolen the thunder of his political opponents, the judge went ambulating into the office of the board of public works to argue the merits and demerits of a special improvement assessment.

THE BILLIARD CONTEST.

Duluth Club's Handicap Tournament—Final Game Tonight.

A handicap billiard contest has been in progress at the Duluth club this week. Last night five games were played. Don McLennan won from E. J. Grossett, 85 to 75, playing even. The light game was played by E. J. Grossett and Martin played Ward Ames, Jr., 85 to 65, and ran out with Ames at 34. C. E. Richardson and E. W. Barker, played even, 60 points. The last game was played by L. R. Wilson and Don McLennan, 85 to 65. At 50 points they were tied and again at 62 points. McLennan then pulled ahead and won by 85 to Martin's 72.

Tonight the final contest will be played by L. R. Wilson and Don McLennan. They will play even, 85 points.

Temple of Pythian Sisters.

Mrs. Alice Sharrack, chief of Pythian Sisters in Minnesota, is here for the purpose of organizing a temple of Pythian Sisters and installing the officers in Pythian hall No. 18 West Superior street, this evening. An informal reception for Mrs. Sharrack was given this afternoon at the residence of Mrs. Charles Pillsbury, 157 East Superior street.

Dr. Rice's Lecture.

Tonight Dr. J. M. Rice, the noted educator, will lecture at the High School assembly hall on "Scientific Teaching." A large attendance of Superior teachers is expected and of course, Duluth people will attend in large numbers. Dr. Rice enjoys a wide reputation and his magazine articles have been the subject of a great deal of comment.

Dr. J. M. Rice, the well known educational critic, who has been an educator on matters of the city schools have attracted attention all over the country, will address Duluth audience tonight at the Central High school. All who have children attending school should not fail to hear the doctor treat education in a way that will interest them. He expected Duluth teachers will attend en masse, and the superintendent of schools of West Superior says a delegation of fifty will attend from that city. The admission has been placed at the low price of 25 cents, so that all may attend.

THAT'S WHY THEY KEEP IT.

APRIL'S NEED OF SLEEP.

Business Men. Over-Tired Housekeepers. Teachers, Students and Men and Women in the World of Society Lack Rest.

Sleep is nature's soft nurse. Half the fretfulness, sickness and complaining might be laid at the door of lack of sleep.

There is not one man or woman in 10,000 who can afford to do without seven or eight hours' sleep. All the stories about great men and women who sleep three or four hours a night make very interesting reading, but no one ever kept healthy in body and mind with less than seven hours' sound sleep.

Americans need more sleep than they are getting. This lack makes them thin and nervous, weak and complaining. But one cannot get one's self to sleep. If sleep will not come, there is an evident derangement of the nervous system. The tired, worn-out nerves need better food, and the mind needs to be restored to its healthy action. The rapid building up of nerve tissues is what makes Paine's celery compound so refreshing sleep causes and the tired, despairing invalid starts at once on the way to assured health and strength.

Stress in the countenance and an absence of that pained, worn expression comes after a short time taking Paine's celery compound. Neuralgia, rheumatism, palpitation of the heart, headaches and the host of discouraging signs of shattered nerves are banished by this great remedy. It makes perfect sleep, restores the nervous system, feeds its impoverished tissues and robs them of all irritability, soothes refreshing sleep causes and the tired, despairing invalid starts at once on the way to assured health and strength.

BISHOP SHANLEY'S TALK.

Some Facts on Catholicism and Its Teachings Presented.

Rev. Bishop Shanley lectured at the Polish hall last evening before a large audience of "Catholicism." He announced in opening that it would be more of a talk than a lecture. He presented a number of facts relating to the teachings and beliefs of Catholicism, and asked that no one condemn the church without a hearing. "The Catholic church has no fear of persecution," he said, "no threats or terrors, and no fear of death. Those who leave do so from mercenary motives. Catholicism is an exact science, once having learned the faith to divest itself of its reasoning powers must be thrown off.

The great reason for the misunderstanding which exists as to Catholicity is the speaker's attitude. The church is in the Elizabethan age it became popular to write against the church and it was then the great era of literature began. This has been the case nearly all the great English novelists have sneered at the church and its priests.

One great objection made to the Catholics, he said, is that they are exclusive, and maintain that no one not a Catholic church member can enter heaven. This is a mistake, he said. The church judges no one and does not undertake to say who shall enter heaven and who shall not. It only says that those who do not enter with their God shall be condemned.

The infallibility of the pope was a hard thing for non-Catholics to accept, he said, because they do not give him the idea. He is only infallible on questions coming before his court—on faith and morals. He bears the same relation to the church that the supreme court does to the United States. He is the court of last resort. "No one questions the infallibility of the pope," he said, "but the law of law, no matter what the private characters of the judges are," said he.

"Why then accept in human law what you will not accept in divine law?" The supposition that the pope and his priests are politicians was then discussed. "The men who declare the pope an infallible man are American liberals," he said, "you will always find to be aliens themselves. If the pope were to dictate how Americans should vote then would you have American Catholics in hostility to him.

He asked where a Catholic priest is ever found running for an office or being appointed to positions in the state, or trying to get into the senate. He referred to Rev. D. L. Kiehl, who held the office of state superintendent. He commended him personally but wanted it understood that he was a non-Catholic clergyman. He named several others holding positions in the state and then referred to Rev. Mr. Kyle, of South Dakota, who was elected United States senator. "What a howl would have gone up all over this country had a Catholic priest gone into the senate as did Rev. Mr. Kyle."

In conclusion he asked all non-Catholics not to judge the church too quickly. They have been good citizens and have aided in building up the country. Do not believe all the things that are said about it. "Anything you hear which is an absurdity on its face or which threatens an injustice to any man put down as a lie for by that fact it is one." He asked the Catholics not to abuse their non-Catholic neighbors but to endeavor to enlighten them.

A musical program was given by the pro-cathedral choir. Miss Donovan sang "For You" in a very pleasing manner. Franz Schultz received an encore. Miss McDonald and the choir sang the Gipsy song from "The Bohemian Girl."

AMUSEMENTS.

"The Lilliputians."

The Lilliputians will receive a warm welcome upon their appearance at the Temple Opera house tomorrow evening. The "Pupils in Magic" is a bright, interesting and catchy, and the spectacular features presented are brilliant. Franz Ebert, the tiny comedian, repeats his success, and shows himself to be far more clever actor than many who are giants compared to him in size, while A. Zink plays with the dash and chic which have made him a success and a reputation as an actor in the two continents.

The topical songs are sure to be enjoyed, especially the "Dear Song" and the ballets danced by the corps de ballet of the company are highly novel, and the company is a very fine one representing the various features of the play will run for three nights with a matinee on Saturday.

Donnelly and Sims.
The Donnelly and Sims debate at the Lyceum tomorrow evening promises to draw a large crowd because of the prominence of the two men. Sims being the most noted A. P. A. lecturer in the country, and Donnelly, being one of the features of the evening.

The play will run for three nights with a matinee on Saturday.

The Bohemian Club.
The Bohemian club of Duluth are making a reputation for being "up to date" in all of their entertainments. The club members are now busy rehearsing for a series of musicals, and are making a success of the comedy, "Our Boys" to be produced at the Temple April 26. This comedy has enjoyed the longest run of any comedy ever written. The story is intensely interesting, pathetic and humorous and pleasing blend and a noticeable feature is the absence of the "heavy villain." It is a simple love story, or more correctly two of them, well told with sparkling dialogue and pleasing dramatic situations. The comedy and as it is also very funny, though more on the farce order, the whole evening will be mirthful and merry.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria. When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria. When she became a Woman, she clung to Castoria. When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

Committed Petty Thefts.

Last Sunday five silver spoons were stolen from the house of George Darwin, 221 East Third street and peddled out around town. Yesterday three of them were recovered by the police and this morning Mr. Darwin identified them at the headquarters. George Lewis, a cook formerly in the employ of Mr. Darwin has been on a drunk and upon being arrested, confessed the theft of the spoons. Yesterday he also stole fifty feet of hose on Fourth street and an overcoat in the Palladio building. A term in the county jail will be his reward.

INMAN'S LIEUTENANTS

Captains and Engineers Who Will Handle His Fugs and Other Boats This Summer.

His Steamer and Two Schooners to Leave the Lower Lakes For Duluth This Week.

Boats Are Getting Ready to Leave Duluth Next Week—Mahoning to Leave on Monday.

The appointments for the Inman tug and steamer lines for the season of 1894 have been made. The office force will remain the same as last year. James Bishop will be chief engineer of the fleet and Joseph St. George chief carpenter. The tug, steamer and schooner appointments are as follows:

Steamer Belle M. Cross—Captain W. H. Buzzard; engineer, Thomas Buzzard.

Schooner Chicago—Board of Trade—Captain, Patrick Gordon.

Schooner Clement—Captain, John B. Gordon.

Steamer E. T. Carrington—Captain, M. C. Miller; engineer, Alex. McLea.

Tug W. B. Castle—Captain, Andrew Ratray; engineer, Peter Finney.

Tug L. L. Lavan—Captain, Joseph Cox; engineer, John Manne.

Tug Bob Anderson—Captain, Fred Herbert; engineer, C. W. Morgan.

Tug Record—Captain, Ed England; engineer, James Sutton.

Tug M. D. Carrington—Captain, Fred Benson; engineer, James Walsh.

Tug Buffalo—Captain, Walter Cayo; engineer, Louis Griggs.

Tug J. L. Williams—Captain, J. H. McLeod; engineer, Charles Edwards.

Tug Joe D. Dudley—Captain, W. Burnett; engineer, Mike Ryan.

Tug Elsie L.—Captain, John Bunker; engineer, Simon Smith.

Tug Mystic—Captain, Sam Harris; engineer, E. R. Evans.

Tug F. H. Stanwood—Captain, W. McGilvery; engineer, Wallace Ammerman.

Tug Lida—Captain, Charles Jacobson; engineer, John Colwell.

Tug Pathfinder—Captain, Edward Brown; engineer, Christ Lang.

Tug Edward Fiske—Captain, H. E. Dezel; engineer, Fred Lee.

Tug A. C. Adams—Captain, Frank Case; engineer, Emil Wagner.

The new Inman tug, J. W. Fee, will be ready for business next week, and the scow Thompson will be retained for wrecking purposes. Captain Andrew Ratray, of the tug W. B. Castle, is one of the best and oldest rafting tug captains on the lakes. He has handled the Castle several seasons.

Marine Mention.

The Crescent liner, John M. Nicol, was moved to the Imperial mill and is taking on 18,000 barrels of flour. She will get away Sunday or Monday. Captain Stewart will sail her this season. His mate and crew are already here.

The Erie liner, Mahoning, will get away Monday with a full cargo of flour. She will go to the Freeman mill on Saturday to load.

Capt. McIntosh, who will sail the James Fiske, Jr., of the Crescent line, is here and has commenced fitting out his vessel.

The tug Record goes on the boxes Friday for a new wheel, and the tug J. L. Williams goes into dry dock tonight for the same purpose.

Steam steers are being placed in the Bob Anderson and Elsie L.

The steamer Belle P. Cross and schooner Chicago, Board of Trade left Detroit light for Toledo today. They will load coal there for the Ohio Coal company's docks at Duluth.

The tug W. B. Castle left Port Huron for Cleveland today, towing the schooner Clement, which will take on coal for Duluth. The schooner will then join her regular tow, the Belle P. Cross and Chicago Board of Trade of the Inman line, and the tug Castle will proceed at once to Port Huron and tow the little side-wheeler E. T. Carrington and a long string of boom sticks to Duluth.

The big tug Bennett, of the Cranberry Lumber company, will leave port in a few days to bring the first tow of logs to Duluth this season. The logs will come from the south shore.

The Monarch, of Beatty's Sarnia line, will leave Sarnia on April 24 for Port Arthur and Duluth and the United Empire on April 27.

An urgent invitation is given to the members of the First Presbyterian church and congregation to be present at the Thursday evening service, April 12. A matter of great interest and importance to all will be brought before the meeting.

Cadets to the Front.

The St. Clement's cadets made a great hit in "Ten Nights in a Bar Room" last night at the New Shoes. The play was a success and all the characters were well taken. The acting of Miss Louise Lyons, as the drunkard's daughter, won the heart of everyone, while D. McDonald and Rachael Knutson added new laurels to their already well-deserved reputations. Miss Ella Phillips and Ernest Crowley, as Mable and Switch, kept the house in a constant roar of laughter.

All of the others deserve great praise for the way in which they took their parts. Between the acts Al Lyons recited "Seckery's Adventure With the Blue Hen" in a most amusing manner. The play will be reproduced in the near future.

THE COKE STRIKERS.

They Tried to Force Workmen Out at the Hill Farm Works But Were Overawed.

Frightened Off By the Show of Force Made By Deputies and Left For Reinforcements.

A Crowd of Hungarian Women With Clubs and Stones, Drove Off Workmen at Lemont.

CONNELLSVILLE, Pa., April 12.—A mob of 500 strikers assembled at Dunbar before daylight with the avowed intention of forcing the workmen out of the Hill Farm works, but the show of force made by the deputies frightened the strikers off, and they left for reinforcements. It was given out by some of the strikers that they would return to Hill Farm and attack the deputies and men at work, as soon as they could augment their force to 800 or 1000 by men from Trotter and Mount Braddock.

There is no disturbance at the works in this vicinity, though the strikers are making threatening demonstrations at Trotter and Adelaide. The operators are fully prepared for any emergency. A large number of deputies were sworn in at Trotter and Leiminger No. 1 and 3 last night by Deputy Sheriff Richards. The deputies were also taken from the Davidson works to Trotter and the Leimingers. At Lemont, a large crowd of Hungarian women assembled today and with clubs and stones drove off the workmen.

RAN INTO A FREIGHT TRAIN.

A Washington Express Wrecked but No Passengers Injured.

NEW YORK, April 12.—The Washington express of the New Haven railroad ran into a freight train at Port Chester while running at high speed. The passenger train consisted of seven cars, including three sleepers.

Three of the freight cars were burned. Conductor St. Clair and brakeman Kennedy, of the freight train, were injured. The passengers on board of the express train received a lively shaking up, but none of them were injured. Those in the sleepers ran out of the cars without waiting to dress, but finding that there was no immediate danger they returned to the sleepers and dressed themselves. The village fire department had to fight the fire to the three freight cars. It was thought that the fire had been caused by the wrecked locomotive of the express set fire to the freight cars. The engineer and fireman had a miraculous escape and came out of the wreck with a few bruises. The switchman who caused the accident by setting the wrong switch has been suspended.

EIGHT MEN TO BE HANGED.

An Alabama Jail Filled With Condemned Murderers.

MONTGOMERY, Ala., April 12.—The four negroes who murdered Mr. Grant, a prominent resident of this county, have received a verdict sentencing Alex, Joe and Wilson Woodley to hang and Gabriel to the penitentiary for life. Jim Calloway, another, was sentenced to be hanged several days ago. Another of the murderers, Oliver Jackson, was mobbed several nights ago. The city court also sentenced Charles Ezell, another murderer, to hang. There are now eight condemned prisoners in the jail here to be hanged within three months. There are six other murderers to be tried, and at least three of them will hang.

DIED OF PNEUMONIA.

An Early Settler of Montana Died Today in St. Paul.

ST. PAUL, April 12.—N. N. Erickson, an early settler of Montana, and a business partner of United States Senator Power of that state, died at 5:30 a. m. today at the Merchants hotel in this city, of typhoid pneumonia. Senator Power is expected here today from the East and will take the body to Chicago for interment. Mr. Erickson arrived here ten days ago with his wife and has been confined to his bed at the hotel ever since.

Ex-Senator Major Dead.

ST. LOUIS, April 12.—A special to the Post-Dispatch from Fayette, Mo., says: Ex-Senator Sam C. Major, long prominent in state politics and one of the best criminal lawyers in the West, was found dead in his bed this morning. Heart disease was the cause. Senator Major was born Nov. 24, 1810, in Fayette, and has been a leader in Democratic state politics.

THE ARMY OF THE COMMONWEAL.

Today It Is Plodding Through the Snow of a Dozen Miles.

CHALK HILL, Pa., April 12.—The army of the Commonwealth had not regained its accustomed sprightliness when the bugle was sounded in the old colonial stage house that brought the men slowly from their beds. Although 9 o'clock was the hour set for march to be resumed, the men were slow to move, not being sufficiently in harmony with the movement to consider with cheerfulness the leaving of such warm and comfortable quarters for plodding through the snow of a dozen miles. The noon stop was at Somersfield and the camp tonight will be at Petersburg, probably in a commodious barn. If the men have to spend the night in the thin tents, there will be a revolt. Friday the army will cross the line into Maryland.

MINNEAPOLIS SENSATION.

Banker Sidle Was Blackmailed for $8000 While Two Other Prominent Men Escaped Being Victimized.

MINNEAPOLIS, April 12.—The grand jury is now investigating sensational charges of blackmail, the witnesses being several prominent bankers and capitalists. The testimony given shows that Mrs. Christina Miller, who has been a domestic in several well-known families, succeeded by threats in securing $8000 from H. G. Sidle, president of the First National bank, and unsuccessfully attempted to victimize George A. Brackett, a well-known capitalist, and A. L. Brice, a real estate man.

She succeeded in persuading Mr. Sidle to come to her room on pretense of discussing the sale of some property. No sooner had he appeared than two supposed confederates rushed in. By threats of spreading scandalous stories about the affair, Mrs. Miller secured the money in installments from Mr. Sidle. This was last summer. Afterwards she worked a few days in Mr. Brackett's house and then being discharged came to him in his office and threatened to tell a scandalous story about his actions toward her while in his house unless he paid over $5000. Mr. Brackett refused absolutely and at once set about securing evidence to convict the woman.

Mr. Brice had previously had experience with Mrs. Miller and succeeded in the presence of an attorney in breaking down her blackmail. She is a woman of 45 and not at all attractive.

Message on the Move.

WASHINGTON, April 12.—The state department yesterday received a telegram from the United States consul at Belize stating that Menage had left there and gone to the West Indies. He did not state to what island Menage had gone, so all the United States consuls stationed in the West India islands have been cabled to look out for him. It is thought by the department officials that somebody gave Menage the tip to leave.

Tragedy in Oklahoma.

GUTHRIE, Okla., April 12.—News has reached here of a desperate tragedy at McMillan. Edgar Wright and John Miller, aged respectively 13 and 15, quarreled while going to church, and the Miller boy plunged a pocket knife into young Wright's back, from the effects of which he died.

A Bomb in His Pocket.

ROME, April 12.—The police of this city are investigating another alleged anarchist conspiracy. A man who was arrested today and upon being searched a dynamite bomb, or a missile closely resembling one, was found upon his person.

Five New Cardinals.

ROME, April 12.—The archbishops of Bologna, Milan and Ferrara as well as Mgr. Segna, assessor of the congregation of the Holy Office and Father Steinmeyer, the distinguished Bavarian member of the Society of Jesus, have received official notification that they will receive the red hats of cardinals at the next consistory.

Marine Hospital Burned.

PORT KENNES, Wash., April 12.—Fire has destroyed the United States marine hospital here. There were no fatalities. The loss is $6000. The fire originated in an out-house, used as an oil room and it is supposed was the work of an incendiary.

Left Several Bills.

ST. PAUL, April 12.—A Hayward, Wis., special to the Dispatch says: Charles H. Hall, of Phipps, a logger and hotel proprietor, has left for parts unknown. A few Hayward merchants mourn his departure, as he left several large unsettled accounts.

Jerry Simpson Ill.

WASHINGTON, April 12.—Representative Jerry Simpson, of Kansas, has been confined to the house by illness for several days. There is nothing alarming in his case, however, and a physician expects him to be out again in ten days.

AT THE WOMAN'S FEET

Ben Butterworth Draws a Picture of the Gay Colonel Crouching Helplessly at Madeline's Feet.

Firmly Believes That She Knew of the Secret Marriage in New York in April.

A Verdict Against His Client Would Only Be a Flagrant Instance of Vicarious Punishment.

WASHINGTON, April 12.—Maj. Ben Butterworth had the floor again when the Pollard-Breckinridge case was resumed today. He began with the consideration of Miss Pollard's letters to James Rhodes, which he said were the foundation of the case. He did not care anything about the top, he said, if there was no foundation for it to rest upon. After reading some of those letters at length he came to the ones which were dated in New Orleans and which he said were written in Cincinnati and sent to her mother to mail to Rhodes.

He laid great stress on these transactions, declaring that there was a great mystery surrounding the letters, and he asked the jury to consider the fact that there is one human being alive and well who could clear up the mystery of those letters, that is the mother who gave birth to this woman, and she is not called. That woman is alive and well in Kentucky, and she is not called. They may ask why we did not call her, but we do not go into the enemy's camp for soldiers and ammunition.

He dealt particularly with Miss Pollard's demands for money from Rhodes, and when he came to an allusion in one of the letters to her great enjoyment at reading Washington Irving, Mr. Wilson said: "Give me that Washington Irving, please." In addition to reading the letters, Mr. Butterworth consumed much time in thrashing over the testimony of Miss Pollard from the record and pointing out a few discrepancies on minor points.

He commented sharply upon the failure of the sisters at New York to identify Miss Pollard, the failure to discover that any person as Louise Wilson had ever been there, and the information that Mrs. Burgoyne had been in the place years after Miss Pollard claimed to have been there.

In talking about the finding of the Christmas card on the book, he said, he acquitted Attorney Carlisle of the suspicion of having been implicated in any chicanery. He pointed out, however, to show the fallibility of human testimony, that Mr. Carlisle had sworn that nothing had been said about the card until he found it, while Mr. Johnson, his colleague, had said that Miss Pollard suggested that it was in the book before it was found.

There was a little passage between the speaker and Mr. Wilson, when the former expressed doubt whether the books had ever belonged to Miss Pollard. Mr. Wilson suggested that since Mr. Butterworth would not have a chance to reply to him, he might answer a question which would be asked, why Miss Hoyt denied Miss Ketchum had not been given a chance to identify the books?

This Mr. Butterworth answered after the Yankee fashion, by another question, namely, why Miss Pollard had not described the books before they were sealed, and why Miss Pollard had not gone before the sisters for identification before she was within the tinkling of a bell.

"That shows all you know about it," replied Mr. Wilson. "She was not there and neither was Breckinridge." "Breckinridge did not claim to have been confined there," was the reply, and this rally drew a laugh which provoked Judge Bradley to threaten to clear the court room.

The attorneys on the other side would claim, Mr. Butterworth resumed, that the woman was dominated by a stronger mind. They would say that she was a moral potentiality, "a pawn on the chess board," according to the words of Miss Lowell, the capitol typewriter, and to Miss Pollard herself, that Col. Breckinridge had endeavored to conceal his letters from her in 1886 by first writing them in his own hand, taking them to a woman to copy on house of representatives' paper and then signing his name to them in lead pencil.

When noon came Mr. Butterworth was just working up to the coming of Madeline Pollard to Washington. She had testified that Col. Breckinridge insisted upon her coming.

"Oh they will say, but he did it," exclaimed the lawyer dramatically. "That is a cowardly surrender of womanly qualities, a base betrayal of womanly courage to say that he did it."

Soon afterward, as the lawyer was speaking of the child born in Washington, Col. Breckinridge leaned forward over the table and corrected him. "You are mistaken the colonel said, 'I did not know she had a living child until Miss Pollard testified. I had heard she had a miscarriage.'"

Then Mr. Butterworth portrayed the opportunities to elevate herself here in Washington which Miss Pollard had before her, if she only had been minded to embrace them; how she should have shrunk from continuing a life of shame with a man with wife and family.

Mr. Butterworth argued that a verdict against his client in this case would only be a flagrant instance of vicarious punishment.

He drew a picture of Col. Breckinridge "crouching helplessly at the woman's feet" and went on to say how horribly revolting was her story; that he could meet his mistress before the mould had gathered on the grave clothes of his buried wife, and that he had taken her to a bawdy house for two hours to convey to her the tender message that she was to follow in the footsteps of that wife.

It implied that a woman of corrupt life, from choice, who had held doubtful relations with Rhodes, who had had illegitimate children at sundry and divers places, and miscarriages, at others, was to sit at his table in a union that was the acme of all that was vicious and contemptible. That woman, who had lived ten years without earning a cent, as the mistress of his life, wanted money and nothing else. Mr. Butterworth firmly believed that the woman knew of that secret marriage in New York on April 29.

THE GREAT NORTHERN BILL.

Senate Committee Favors Granting the Right of Way.

WASHINGTON, April 12.—[Special to The Herald.]—Senator Pettigrew has been authorized to report from the Indian affairs committee to the senate tomorrow the bill granting right of way for the Great Northern railway through the Leech Lake and White Earth Indian reservations in Minnesota. This bill is intended to give the Great Northern permission to build the line from Crookston to Duluth.

BOB SMITH NOMINATED.

St. Paul Democrats Name Hon. R. A. Smith for Mayor and George O. Nettleton for Comptroller.

ST. PAUL, April 12.—The Democratic city convention today organized with F. W. M. Cutcheon as chairman, appointed committees on credentials and resolutions and took a recess until 11:30 o'clock. After the recess ex-Mayor Robert A. Smith was nominated as candidate for mayor by acclamation. George O. Nettleton was chosen for comptroller on the first ballot, receiving 77 votes to 17 cast for L. J. Casser. Another recess was then taken until 2:30 to allow a committee time to select aldermanic candidates, also for lunch.

WILL STAY TO THE END.

Col. Breckinridge Says He Will Run for Congress Again.

FRANKFORT, Ky., April 12.—A letter to a personal friend in this city was received from Col. Breckinridge yesterday. It states positively that he will make the race for congress at all hazards. The following extract from the letter will show the tenor of the epistle: "I see from statements going around through the papers that, in the advent of an adverse verdict here, I would withdraw from the race for congress. I am in this congressional race to the bitter end. I am not going to be on the defensive, but am going to make an aggressive fight."

HARRIES IS COLLECTOR.

The ex-Congressman Will Succeed Marcus Johnson, His Name Being Sent to the Senate Today.

WASHINGTON, April 12.—Among the nominations sent to the senate today by the president are the following: William H. Harries, to be collector of internal revenue, district of Minnesota. M. A. Frawley, surveyor of customs, Burlington, Iowa. Commodore Francis M. Ramsay, to be rear admiral; Capt. Thomas O. Selfridge, to be commodore; Commander Philip H. Cooper to be captain.

SENSATION AT SAGINAW.

Wells-Stone Bookkeeper Charged With Stealing Half a Million of Bonds.

SAGINAW, Mich., April 12.—A third warrant was issued today for Newell B. Parsons, the confidential bookkeeper of the Wells-Stone company, now under arrest on a charge of forgery. The complaint this time alleges that Parsons abstracted from the vault railroad bonds payable to bearer to the value of $475,000. It is rumored that new and even more startling developments will soon be given out.

Dr. Meyer's Second Trial.

NEW YORK, April 12.—The trial of Dr. Henry C. F. Meyer, charged with poisoning Ludwig Brand in order to secure insurance money, which on Dec. 18 last was interrupted near its conclusion by the sudden insanity of the juror Alex B. Low, was begun again today before Recorder Smythe, in Part V general sessions. According to counsel for the defense, more than a week will probably be consumed in getting a jury.

More Liberal Aid Needed.

ST. PAUL, April 12.—A Winnipeg special to the Dispatch says the promoters of the Manitoba & Southwestern railway project have announced definitely that unless the government offers more liberal assistance than they have, the undertaking will be dropped for an indefinite period, perhaps altogether.

To Exclude the Immoral.

NEW ALBANY, Ind., April 12.—The New Albany presbytery, which has just adjourned, took action in the Breckinridge-Pollard scandal and adopted resolutions to be presented at the general assembly, which meets at Saratoga next May, asking that men of dissolute and immoral habits be excluded from the national councils.

A Salesman's Death.

ELMIRA, N. Y., April 12.—Junius P. Drake, a traveling salesman for the Rockford (Ill.) Watch company died suddenly at the Rathbun house. He formerly managed the New York agency of the Rockford Watch company, which was discontinued last January. He was related by marriage to Mr. Price, the president of the company.

Dean Hammond Dead.

Officer of the I. O. G. T. Lodge Thinks Its Charter is No Danger of Being Revoked.

"J. J. Ekander Letter" Was Written By a Private Individual and Without Authority from the Lodge.

Rolling Mill of the Car Works to Start Up Next Week—Saloons to Retire.

A prominent officer of the Morgonstern lodge I. O. G. T. was interviewed today in regard to the report that the grand lodge of the state had determined to investigate the connection of the lodge with the Ekander letter received by John Jensdahl during the late campaign. He said he had been corresponding with the officers of the grand lodge about the matter and that the grand commander would visit West Duluth shortly and investigate the case. He did not think, however, that the charter would be revoked as the letter was an individual affair and that neither Ekander nor any one else had been given authority to peddle the votes of the members of the organization. He said that he could not see how any blame could be attached to the lodge in the matter as this body was not responsible for the acts of Ekander as a private individual. The difficulty has been stirred up through letters sent to the grand lodge by certain persons for political effect. He thought that when the grand commander arrived and found the lodge entirely guiltless of wrong doing that all trouble would disappear.

Rolling Mill Will Start Up. The rolling mill department of the Duluth Manufacturing company will be started up again the first of next week with the usual number of hands. The company is receiving orders for rolled iron and the mills will be put to work to make up stock for the general market. How long the plant runs will be determined by the amount of orders secured by the company.

Saloons Will Retire. The police department was given a list yesterday of all the saloons in West Duluth with the dates of the expiration of licenses. At present there are twenty-eight liquor shops but the number will be considerably reduced the coming year owing to the high license tax imposed upon cities of the size of Duluth. One thousand dollars is a pretty large sum to pay out for a license at the present time and as a majority of the saloons have barely paid expenses the past year, many of them find it unprofitable to renew their licenses under the circumstances. It is estimated that one third of the licenses at least will not be renewed.

Excavating Contract Awarded. The committee of the board of education, to which was referred the bids for the excavation for the new Irving school building, has awarded the contract to J. D. O'Connell, Duluth, and also the contract to the Duluth Excavating company, to which was referred the bids for the excavation for the new Irving school building.

West Duluth Briefs. Charles Kauppi, father of ex-Trustee Kauppi, died yesterday and also the infant child of J. Ostlund, of Fifth avenue west.

The ladies of the Presbyterian church have purchased a new $275 organ, which was placed in the church today.

TRAINING PROVED VALUABLE.

Carl Johnson conquers Williamson & Mendenhall's "Little Senator."
Who says college football does not train a man for the every day duties of life? This morning "Little Senator," the Shetland pony which Williamson & Mendenhall will give away to some fortunate customer in the future, got frightened and essayed to run away and threw his little yellow cart along the highway. He was making a sad mess of things when Carl Johnson, once captain of the Cornell football team came along and laid hold with his two strong hands. He soon scored a touch down with the "Little Senator" and held the very little steed firmly in the mud and slush until he was unhocked from the cart. One half of the vehicle was broken but otherwise no material damage was done, thanks to a cool headed college man's professional training.

THE DISTRICT COURT.

Jury Returns a Verdict Awarding 2 Cents Per Year Rent for Fond du Lac Lots.

Criminal Calendar Taken Up By Judge Moor This Morning—Case Against William Matson Continued.

Judges Moor and Ensign Are Pleased With the Class of Jurors Serving This Term.

The jury in the case of John H. Brigham against Peter J. Runquist et al., came in this morning. They had been asked to determine the ownership of the Fond du Lac lots in question, and if they found that they belonged to Brigham, to assess the value of Runquist's improvements and subtract from that the rental of the property.

The case of John Tormal against the Northern Pacific railroad was given to the jury this morning.

The case of E. C. Warner against R. H. Palmer et al. was still on trial at noon. In the case of C. O. Greenhaw against the Merrill & King Lumber company the jury returned a verdict under instructions for the defendant.

The case of David Sichel against M. M. Westbury was given to the jury this morning.

The personal injury suits of Anton Swar and Joseph Kasser against the Franklin Iron Mining company were dismissed by the plaintiffs.

Judge Moor took up the criminal cases this afternoon, commencing with the case against William Matson for assault in the second degree. The case was to have been tried this morning, but the sheriff had been unable to find some of Matson's witnesses, who live in Virginia. There are about twelve criminal cases to be tried.

The remainder of the jury calendar has been set as follows: Friday—120, 88, 10, Monday—132, 117.

Judge Lewis has filed an order overruling a motion for a new trial in the case of the Wells-Stone Mercantile company against John A. Bowman. The motion was made by the defendant on ground that a member of the jury was biased in favor of the plaintiff. Judge Lewis overruled the motion on the ground that defendant's attorney had not taken proper precautions when the jury was examined.

The case of the Iron Exchange bank against the Shaw Iron company has been dismissed.

Every one who has had occasion to attend the present term of the district court has been impressed with the superior quality of jurors working on the calendar. Nearly all are solid business men, and they are doing excellent work in their disposal of the cases intrusted to them.

"I never saw a better panel anywhere," said Judge Moor this morning. "Lawyers from St. Paul and other outside towns have remarked many times this term the good appearance of the jury-men."

"They are a fine set of men for the work," said Judge Ensign. "The best method of jury selection in the state. A board of selection picks out the names, and the men are selected for physical and mental competency. We have now four lists of 400 names each, and we never had better lists before."

The present term of court will be the shortest ever held in Duluth for a long time. The jury cases will be settled next week and the court cases will not last much longer with the three judges on the bench.

TONIGHT'S DEBATE.

Professor Walter Sims Talks Mildly of His Position and the Catholics.

Professor Walter Sims is at the Spalding today. He said to a Herald reporter that while the impression probably was that he was engaging in these debates with Donnelly merely to draw a crowd and make money, nothing is farther from the truth.

"I am breaking a number of engagements to lecture," said he, "but would bring me considerably more than these debates. I engage in these only for the reason that I can reach a class of people to whom I would not otherwise have a chance to present our position. When I give an A. P. A. lecture my hearers are mostly people in sympathy with me. I want to reach the others. We have no antagonism for Catholics because of their religion, indeed there are many liberal Catholics who believe our purpose is a good one. We are fighting only the political aggression of the church. In the beginning, I know, there was a great deal of bigotry engendered against some harsh things said on both sides. It is represented that members of the A. P. A. will not patronize Catholics in a business way and all that is false. We want the liberal Catholics, those who believe in the preservation of American institutions, to be with us. While I do not believe in the Catholic religion, I have nothing against it; on the contrary, I see much to admire in it. It is the most perfect organization in the world. It is only against the use of that organization to control political affairs and affairs of the state that we are organized to combat. If it were the Methodists or any other denomination our position would be the same."

"I know that in many places politicians are attempting to use the order but this is detrimental. I know that there is no such intention in the councils of the order, and if there was I would know it. When the order is used to secure control in politics it does exactly what we are fighting the Catholics for doing."

Professor Sims says he has never met Donnelly off the stage but finds him most courteous and affable there. He expressed his admiration for the scholarship and brilliant ability of the sage.

Ignatius Donnelly arrived this afternoon from Minneapolis and is at the Spalding.

WORKING GIRLS IN DANGER.

Rush for Spring Goods Doubles the Strain on Tired Shop Girls—Vacations a Long Way Off—How Many Keep Well and Strong.

"O men with sisters dear, O men with mothers and wives, It's not the linen you're wearing out, But human creature's lives."

If Thomas Hood could have looked into one of the big retail stores in any city with the endless streams of eager buyers and the pale-faced shop girls behind the counters, he would have included women as well as men in his appeal for more humanity.

In order that some may go finely clad and have leisure, thousands of tired working girls must wear out health, good looks and strength by long, close hours in offices, behind monotonous store counters and in factories.

"Women," as Dr. Weir Mitchell says, "are by physiological nature more liable to be nervous and thin-blooded than are men." It is a sad drawback in the face of the duties of life that a very little emotional disturbance, anxiety or nervous strain suffices to overcome the woman as it does not the man, and that the same excesses which make him indomitable make her nervous.

The greatest friend of tired, feeble women have today is Paine's celery compound, the remarkable discovery of Professor Edward E. Phelps, M.D., L.L.D., of Dartmouth college. This greatest nerve regulator and blood purifier yet known is the mainstay of a great proportion of the homes throughout the country where nervous weakness and feebleness have entered. Paine's celery compound begins at once to rebuild the shattered nerves and nerves centers all over the body. It is the one great spring medicine, because it quickly removes impurities from the blood, gives new life and vigor by filling every tiny ramification of the blood vessels with rich red blood, capable of making healthy tissue.

"The difference between the knowledge of today," says a well known scientist, "and that possessed before Dr. Phelps' studies of the nerves and their intimate connection with every process in the body, is enormous. Dyspepsia, for example, is now ranked as a nervous disease, and, as in the case of other nervous weakness, it is readily curable by attending closely to the nutrition of the nerve centers with Paine's celery compound. Diseases of the kidneys, heart and the liver are cured in the same radical way by providing abundant and appropriate nutrition for these parts."

"Not more food but better," is the watchword of the best medical skill—better food for nerves and nerve centers. When the system is completely nourished the tired-out, run down feeling vanishes, and the craving of the nerves ceases. Neuritis, rheumatism and heart trouble ceases.

"There is one remedy deserving the name of spring medicine—that is Paine's celery compound," said a very careful physician. Sick headache, sleeplessness, mental oppression and lack of energy are cured by Paine's celery compound. It makes people well.

AN ELABORATE CONCERT.

Acts From Operas Besides Concert Numbers to be Presented.

Mrs. Agnes Hall is arranging for what will be the most elaborate musical entertainment ever attempted by amateur talent in Duluth. The first act of "Martha" will be presented in full costume with scenic accompaniment; also the last act of "Der Freischutz." Besides this a number of concert numbers will be given. Nearly all of the well-known singers in Duluth will take part either in principal parts or in the chorus. There will be Mrs. Hall, Miss Shephard, Miss Moak, Miss Calverly, Miss Rice, Arthur Lahey, S. S. Murphy, and many others. The concert will be given in the latter part of May and will be for the benefit of some charity.

RICH TREASURE

Remarkable Story of the Search for Hidden Treasure Now Going on in British India.

Two Men Racing to Find the Hiding Place of the Jewels of King Theebaw.

Said to be Worth an Enormous Sum and Large Reward for Their Recovery Offered.

They Were Stolen and Buried by Two British Soldiers When Theebaw's Palace Was Sacked.

(Copyright, 1894, by the Associated Press.)
NEW YORK, April 13.—Among the passengers who arrived on the Majestic was John D. Pigott, the famous war correspondent of Reuters' Telegram company, who has been strangely connected with the remarkable story of the search for hidden treasure now going on at Mandalay, Burmah, British India.

In brief, a former British soldier named William White, and a sporting man, who has become possessed of his secret in part, are now racing towards Mandalay in anticipation of being the first to find the hiding place of the crown and regalia of King Theebaw, of Burmah, which were stolen by two British soldiers after the sacking of the palace in 1885. The jewels are said to be worth an enormous sum of money and the British government has offered a large reward for their recovery.

To a representative of the Associated Press today, Mr. Pigott gave the following account of the loss of King Theebaw's valuable jewels and the subsequent efforts made to regain possession of them. He said: "The British troops, after they entered Burmah to chastise King Theebaw for his cruelties, made their way up the Irrawaddy river to Mandalay, the capital of Burmah, in several ships, a considerable distance apart, the fleet extending for a distance of about three miles. This force which was ready to disembark at a moment's notice caused a panic among the natives who fled at their approach."

"When the British troops reached the capital they sent repeated messages to the king by Gen. Henderson and Col. Sladen, requesting his submission. King Theebaw, upon the advice of his ministers, declined to submit and the troops disembarked and marched through the town to the palace. A deep moat extended around the walls and there were four entrances to the palace grounds. The British crossed the moat and after a sharp conflict the soldiers of King Theebaw fled in all directions."

"Subsequently the British occupied the palace grounds and placed a strong guard at all the gates in order to prevent the escape of the king and the looting of the royal treasury by the king's servants. One of the objects of the occupation of the palace grounds was to prevent robbery of the crown jewels, which were reported to be of immense value. In addition to the immense personal effects of the king, the royal treasury was known to contain a large number of precious stones which had been found in the mines of the Mogout valley, the site of the great Burmah ruby mines. It was one of the laws of the country that every ruby of a certain size found in the mines had to be presented to the king and deposited in the royal treasury and when it is remembered that this law had existed since 1799, some idea of the value of the stones contained in the treasury may be formed."

"So soon as the king abdicated and left the palace and when the British had taken possession of it, placing guards over all royal apartments, I was one of the first to enter the palace which I found to be a gorgeous place, but when search was made for the treasure, there was considerable surprise and disappointment at the fact that all the rubies, crown jewels, etc., had disappeared. Had they been stolen by the servants, the maids of honor or by some of the British soldiers who were detailed to occupy the palace? Suspicion for a long time rested on the maids of honor, as King Theebaw had been allowed to take away with him as many of these ladies as he wanted."

"The strictest search was made for the jewels and the Burmese ministers were closely watched and questioned concerning their disappearance, but all to no effect. A number of the natives, attracted by the reward offered by the British commander, joined in the search and were constantly coming to the British commissioner professing to know where the missing jewels were hidden; all their stories, however, turned out to be untrue and the jewels were never accounted for. The search was finally given up and the mystery of the disappearance of King Theebaw's jewels remained unsolved."

"The story of the missing treasure is now transferred from India to England. Some time ago a man, formerly a private in the Second battalion of the royal West Surrey regiment, which had seen service in Burmah, being present at the capture of Mandalay, died at Wandsworth, a suburb of London.

"Previous to the soldier's death, on condition that a comrade of the same regiment should not be punished, he confessed that he had stolen King Theebaw's regalia and that he and his comrade had hidden them in a hole just outside the palace grounds. The hole was carefully filled up and concealed and became a decided place of safety from the fact that a British sentry box was shortly afterwards placed over the very spot where the jewels were hidden."

"The dying soldier explained the discovery of the jewels in King Theebaw's palace, saying that he and his comrade, William White, entered the palace during the night and after some narrow escapes from being discovered by the guards they accidentally stumbled into the room containing the valuable jewelry of the abdicated king of Burmah. This jewelry, after consultation, they buried. The person who received the dying soldier's confession, after the man's death sought the second soldier concerned in the robbery of the jewels. The latter was found living on a pension at Southampton. When questioned on the subject, White was badly scared, but on being told that no harm would come to him, he admitted that the story told before death by his comrade was correct."

"These facts eventually reached the ears of the Indian office officials and the chief commissioner of Burmah was communicated with. The result was that the government officials agreed that White should not be punished, but that he should give up the jewels. White agreed to give White 10 per cent on any property he might discover up to the value of 100,000 rupees and 5 per cent on the balance. He might discover in excess of the 100,000 rupees. In addition the Indian government agreed to pay White's expenses to India, give him $50 pocket money and furnish him with an outfit."

"But now the black villain in the case crops out. White had formed the acquaintance of a London sporting man who pretended to be his friend and who promised, before the government of India took action in the matter, to furnish the pensioner with funds necessary to search for the jewels hidden outside of King Theebaw's palace. White at first agreed to this and he was to share the treasure with him. The sporting man pretended to be his friend and who promised, before the government of India took action in the matter, to furnish the pensioner with funds necessary to search for the jewels hidden outside of King Theebaw's palace. White at first agreed to this and he was to share the treasure with him."

But the sporting gentleman and the old soldier did not agree for any length of time and the result was that the former made preparations to start for Mandalay to obtain the jewels before the old soldier could get away from England. At the present moment White is on his way to Mandalay, believing that he can get the jewels and his comrade buried the missing jewels. On the other hand, the gentleman representing the sporting fraternity is also on his way to India and anticipates getting there ahead of White and consequently securing the jewels. The latter's chances are not as good as those of White, as he only has a general idea of where and how the jewels were buried, while White expresses the opinion that he can readily find the treasure hole."

"It should be added, that while the crown jewels of King Theebaw are of immense value and while it is possible that the story told by the dying soldier is true, the fact remains that the rubies contained in the royal treasury are not accounted for, and it is still believed that they were taken away by the many maids of honor who accompanied King Theebaw in his retreat from the capital. The Jewels of the Jew and the race between White and the sporting man to Mandalay is attracting great interest in England."

DAVID DUDLEY FIELD DEAD.

The Great New York Lawyer Passed Away This Morning.

NEW YORK, April 13.—David Dudley Field died today at No. 22 Gramercy place. Mr. Field arrived from Italy only last Wednesday on the Columbia. He had gone abroad to take Christmas dinner with his only child, Lady Musgrave, and to spend the twenty-first birthday celebration of her eldest son, Dudley Field Musgrave.

His daughter is the widow of Sir Anthony Musgrave, who was governor of Queensland, Australia, when he died. She is living at East Grinstead, in Sussex, about twenty miles from London. He then traveled about on the continent and took the steamer from Genoa for home. He has been at his home at 22 Gramercy place since his return and was thought to be in good health for a man of his age—80 years. He was taken with pneumonia Wednesday night.

He had expected to spend his summer among the Berkshire hills where he was born. He was engaged in writing his autobiography. Only last Wednesday he remarked: "My one great ambition is to have my codes adopted all over the world. They are written and published. It is only a question of time when they will be accepted."

JUDGE WILSON TALKS

Miss Pollard's Attorney Speaks in Her Behalf to the Jury, Making a Strong Address.

Stands for a Higher Womanhood and Demands the Same Standard for Man and Woman.

Reads a Letter Such as He Could Imagine the Mothers of the Land Writing.

WASHINGTON, April 13.—Judge Jerome M. Wilson was complimented today by the presence of a large audience of his colleagues of the legal profession and of members of congress to hear his reply to the attacks of Col. Phil Thompson upon his client and the eloquent appeal of Maj. Ben Butterworth. Mr. Wilson's voice was low and impressive as he told the jury that it was his duty to reply to all the defendant had said as a witness and through his counsel.

A startling thing had been urged on his behalf, viz.: That this case, with all its revelations, should not have been brought. "He thinks," began the attorney, "speaking through counsel, that this case should have never been brought, that it is spreading pollution throughout the country and I do not wonder. I am sorry that my friend Ben Butterworth is not here. He said that we are to blame for spreading this pollution through this country. If what this defendant has confessed on the stand be true, is it possible that such things are not to be redressed? Is it possible that in the sunlight of our civilization there is no redress? You cannot tie a millstone around his neck and sink him in the sea for the fishes to feed upon him; you cannot shut him in a cage and double lock it to keep him from polluting the women of the country; you cannot do that, but you can secure the redress that the laws of the land have provided."

Maj. Butterworth had spoken of the revulsion of feeling abroad against this case. But he had forgotten that the Great Britain, when such things became a stench in the Anglo-Saxon nostrils, peers and nobles had their black skeletons dragged from closets and have been condemned, had been banished—aye bright stars, as had been said, had been dragged from the firmament. "Even if this were the first case," thundered Mr. Wilson, "I would be proud of my part in condemning such conduct. My friend Carlisle and I take this responsibility, and we take it willingly, even proudly."

"I suppose my friend Butterworth would say that if the third count in this indictment be true he would banish the woman and send the man to congress. I stand here for a higher womanhood. I stand here to demand the same standard for woman as for man. I stand against such sentiments as this defendant has uttered, that such baseness injures the man, but destroys the woman."

What the jury say that this defendant was to be admitted to their parlors and the outer gates locked and barred against the woman? It has heard Mr. Butterworth declaim pyrotechnically that the womanhood of the land was arrayed in behalf of the defendant. No, a thousand times no. He had said that the country girls of the country did not need chaperones and he (Mr. Wilson) had expected to hear it said that gray haired men of 47 need body-guards.

Here Mr. Wilson produced a sheet of letter paper and said that he could imagine the mothers of the land sitting up writing such letters as the imaginary one he would read. Of course it was simply imaginary, he said, but every one could see the feminine handwriting as the judge held it up, and every one knew that it was one letter from the correspondence he had received during the trial. It was in part as follows:

"Plead for the dear young girls. I cannot but feel how urgent it is for every one to watch and pray for them constantly. I was ten in a world young, to care for myself, and I can remember how men have tried to rob me of all that was worth living for. I have lived a pure life, because I early took the Lord for my guide, and if I had not clung close to Him the way would have been very hard."

STRIKE HAS BEEN ORDERED.
Will Occur on the Great Northern West of Minot Today.

ST. PAUL, April 13.—One of the local officers of the American Railway Men's union said at noon that a strike had been ordered on that part of the Great Northern railway west of Minot, N. D., unless the company agreed to the men's terms by 1 o'clock today.

The eastern division is not yet organized for a strike. He believes the company will temporize and thereby prevent an immediate strike.

THE STRIKE ON.
HELENA, MONT., April 13.—The strike on the Great Northern began here at noon. Atlantic express delayed. Mail car detached from train and passengers left behind. This probably means a tie-up from Spokane, Wash., to Larimore, N. D.

CONSPIRACY SPOILED

Startling Discovery Made by the French Police in a Sugar Refining Village Near Paris.

Twelve Tin Boxes Filled With Dangerous Explosives Were Found Hidden in a Water Way.

A Number of Suspected Anarchists Taken Into Custody, But Others Were Warned and Escaped.

PARIS, April 13.—The police today made a startling discovery at Aubervilliers, a village five miles north of the city, which is noted for its sugar refineries. For some time past the authorities have been aware that the anarchists, driven out of Paris, have sought refuge in such places as Aubervilliers, where the large majority of the population is composed of workmen and others who, if not in sympathy with the anarchists, are not likely to betray those who advocated or who were suspected of holding revolutionary ideas in politics, but gradually the authorities closed around a number of suspected anarchists who were employed in the sugar refineries at Aubervilliers, and today the police discovered hidden in a water way under the road leading from Aubervilliers to Courneuve, twelve tin boxes filled with the most dangerous kinds of explosives, a case containing twelve pounds of powder, twenty pounds of dynamite cartridges, a quantity of scrap steel and bob-nails and a reversible bomb ready for use.

In consequence of this discovery the police determined to arrest a number of the suspected workmen, but the discovery of the store of explosives becoming noised about several of the suspected men were enabled to escape. The police have, however, taken into custody a number of suspects. A dangerous conspiracy has been nipped in the bud.

SATISFACTION IS DEMANDED.
Argentina Claims to Have Been Insulted By

NEW YORK, April 13.—The Herald's Buenos Ayres dispatch says: The cabinet last night discussed Portugal's alleged insult to the Argentine flag. Satisfaction will be demanded by the minister of foreign affairs, who insists upon the return of those Brazilian refugees who were expelled from the Argentine vessel by armed marines of the Portuguese war ship Albuquerque. Argentina's intentions to act this way were understood today.

It is now learned that the reported capture of Rio Grande city is unfounded, and the force of marines that were attacking the city was the force of Peixoto arrived in aid of the garrison. A battle followed in which the rebels were defeated.

The insurgents then re-embarked leaving behind them three cannons and a quantity of ammunition. Many of the men were described as having been left the quay last evening. It stopped awhile to bombard Atlay and Elfarar and then sailed south.

Case Against Erasmus Wiman.
NEW YORK, April 13.—Application was made yesterday by William Finlayson and Rose N. Auld before Judge Bartlett, of Brooklyn, to examine Erasmus Wiman before trial in their action to recover $38,000, due on thirty-two shares on the Staten Island Rapid Transit rail road. The plaintiffs say Mr. Wiman has been indicted for felony in New York, and he may reach the state prison before the trial of his case. The denied the application saying an accused person must be presumed to be innocent until he has been proven guilty.

A False Report.
MADRID, April 13.—The statement that Senor Emilio Castelar, the veteran Republican leader, had succeeded from the Republican party and had become a Monarchist, is erroneous.

THE PRODUCTION OF COAL.

Production and Valuation for the Various States Are Given.

WASHINGTON, April 13.—A report on the production of coal in 1893 has been compiled by E. W. Parker, of the United States geological survey. It shows the total production for the year to be 179,326,612 short tons with a valuation of $205,256,479. The production and valuation on the basis of short tons are given by states as follows:

Alabama—5,126,693 tons; $5,083,583 value. Arkansas, 568,763; $761,347. California, 72,693; $107,555. Colorado, 3,667,526; $4,905,939. Georgia, 372,749; $367,972. Illinois, 10,949,564; $17,827,595. Indiana, 3,681,751; $3,937,425. Iowa, 3,701,026; $4,033,763. Kansas, 913,013; $1,245,641. Kentucky, 2,855,010; $2,460,973. Maryland, 3,651,631; $3,209,719. Michigan, 5,747,438; $6,385,599. Montana, 501,469; $838,027. New Mexico, 601,145; $848,248. North Carolina, 17,000; $25,500. North Dakota, 49,580; $56,150. Ohio, 12,000,770; $15,553,794. Oregon, 11,683; $161,420. Pennsylvania, bituminous, 433,248,933; $34,408,473. Pennsylvania anthracite, 5,950,400; $85,084,455. Tennessee, 2,053,077; $2,053,077. Texas, 322,137; $688,267. Utah, 413,265; $611,992. Virginia, 813,568; $684,523. Washington, 1,264,877; $2,920,876. West Virginia, 10,549,855; $15,053,312. Wyoming, 3,433,311; $3,299,094.

The aggregate amount of anthracite shipments was 43,080,535 tons, an increase of 1,067,313 tons over 1892. About the same increase is reported for bituminous coal. The entire increase of both shipments took place in the first half of the year.

WILL RETIRE FROM THE SENATE.

Senator Dixon, of Rhode Island, Not a Candidate for Re-election.

WASHINGTON, April 13.—Senator Dixon, of Rhode Island, who has made no campaign and is not a candidate for re-election to the senate, has returned to Washington after a short absence. Many of his colleagues have expressed their regret that he has determined on a course which will sever his connection with the senate. Mr. Dixon says he has concluded some time ago not to again be a candidate. He intends to resume his practice of law which has been interrupted during his term in the senate, and which he says he could not afford to extend for another six years.

MULTI-MILLIONAIRE DEAD.

The Richest Man in Missouri Died in St. Louis Today.

ST. LOUIS, April 13.—John T. Davis, rated the richest man in Missouri, died at his home here today of kidney disease. He was 52 years old and was the son of Samuel C. Davis, who came here from Boston, Mass., and was the pioneer wholesale dry goods dealer of this city. The firm established by him has since his death been conducted by his son, John T. Davis, who died today. John T. Davis wealth has been estimated at $25,000,000. He leaves a widow and three children, two of them grown sons.

Pleasant Summer Details.

VINEYARD HAVEN, Mass., April 13.—The annual meeting of the Vineyard Haven State hospital service have been held for duty abroad during the summer under cholera quarantine regulations. R. M. Woodworth, of Portland, Me., was elected to the position of superintendent. Other officers elected were: W. G. Stimpson, Glasgow to Rotterdam; B. W. Brown, Genoa to Havre. The past assistant surgeons were: R. M. Woodworth, of Portland, Me.; Magruder, from New Orleans to Naples; W. K. Perry, from Cape Charles quarantine station to Genoa; G. T. Vaughn, from the general hospital, Washington, to Bremen and Dr. Carmichael, from San Francisco to Antwerp.

Apartment for Women.

BOSTON, April 13.—The Exclusive University club will open apartments for women in its elaborate club house on the corner of Huntington and Washington streets. The new suite will consist of a parlor and dining room in the present structure and a room about thirty-five feet square will be constructed on the water side, commanding a fine view of the River Charles. The changes, it is thought, will be completed in about two months.

Lieut. Lyman Gets a Hearing.

WASHINGTON, April 13.—Lieut. Lyman, the navigator of the wrecked Kearsarge, who has recently been tried by the court martial, is a brother-in-law of F. B. Chew, of Duluth, and at his instance Maj. Baldwin called on Secretary Herbert and secured his consent to hear Lieut. Lyman's attorneys before the findings of the court in his case are promulgated.

Charles Wisdom Hanged.

ST. LOUIS, April 13.—Charles Wisdom, colored, was hanged here this morning for the murder, April 24, 1892, of Edward A. Drexler, whose cigar store Wisdom entered to rob, and in which he was killed by the proprietor, who slept there. The drop fell at 6:17; death by strangulation ensued in nine minutes.

Insurgents Repulsed.

LONDON, April 13.—The Brazilian minister in this city has communicated the following dispatch to the Associated Press: "RIO JANEIRO, April 12.—The insurgent vessels have been repulsed in the bay of Rio Grande and have escaped to the open sea."

"The Foreign Minister."

Bishop Southgate Dead.

ASTORIA, N. Y., April 13.—Right Rev. Bishop Horatio Southgate died at his home here last night. He was born in Portland, Maine, on July 5, 1812, and in 1832 was ordained. He spent many years in Turkey as a missionary and was consecrated bishop in 1844 of all the dominions of the Sultan.

A Pilot Drowned.

NEW YORK, April 13.—While trying to board the frigate Banian, Pilot Henry Grever was drowned. Boat Keeper Ed Mentor and Seaman Edward Condon managed the making of the boat, which was good progress toward the steamer when the frail craft was lifted on the crest of a big wave and capsized.

COXEY NOT IN SIGHT

The General of the Commonweal Army Has Suddenly Disappeared, But Not Abandoned His Cause.

Decided Clash of Authority Between Coxey, Browne and Smith, Who is Termed the "Unknown."

Browne and Smith Frequently Have Wordy Passages at Arms Along the Line of March.

ADDISON, Pa., April 13.—The men in the army of the Commonweal were early astir and joyously basked in the sun that for the second time in a week rose clear and warm. The members of the army had a cosy nook in which to sleep, being Augustine's commodious barn. While a number dropped to sleep on the first floor, the majority preferred the upper berth in the hay mow and enjoyed a comfortable sleep. Breakfast was served at 7:30 o'clock, and an hour earlier than the custom, by reason of a proposed earlier start of the caravan.

The tramp today was through the highest portion of the Alleghenies. This is the point where snow falls in July, but when the march was taken up the men were not gratified at the prospects. They have already become sick with the trip and many would abandon the Commonweal did they not stand in fear of the mountaineers and their Winchester.

While Gen. Coxey has very suddenly and quietly disappeared, it is not thought he has abandoned his cause. It is announced that his leaving was for the purpose of looking after supplies, although Marshal Browne, in a general order, announces that they are already sufficient to feed the men to the Potomac.

Mr. Dixon says he has concluded some time ago not to again be a candidate. He intends to resume his practice of law which has been interrupted during his term in the senate, and which he says he could not afford to extend for another six years.

BAD FIRE IN BUFFALO.

American Glucose Company's Plant and City Fish Market Burned.

BUFFALO, N. Y., April 13.—The plant of the American Glucose company burned last night. The loss will be about $600,000. The insurance was $500,000. The works consisted of an 11-story brick building used for the manufacture of glucose and starch, an 8-story brick building used as a power house and as a place for making the cattle feeding product, an 8-story brick building used as a refinery and an 8-story store house.

It is feared several workmen perished. Others who jumped from the windows were hurt. The men were: John Young, a bricklayer, jumped and hurt about the head and face; two Poles, cannot speak English, names unknown, both severely injured; one having both legs broken; John Stein, workman, severely burned.

Five firemen were buried by the falling roof of the city fish market across the way. The general had caught fire. Four of them escaped with a few bruises, but John Weber may die and Schraeder is badly hurt. The flames were controlled at midnight.

The glucose works were owned and controlled by C. J. Hamlin, the famous trotting horseman and his sons.

Ben Hill, the new suite will consist of a parlor and dining room in the present structure and a room about thirty-five feet square will be constructed on the water side, commanding a fine view of the River Charles. The changes, it is thought, will be completed in about two months.

Lieut. Lyman Gets a Hearing.
WASHINGTON, April 13.—Lieut. Lyman, the navigator of the wrecked Kearsarge, who has recently been tried by the court martial, is a brother-in-law of F. B. Chew, of Duluth, and at his instance Maj. Baldwin called on Secretary Herbert and secured his consent to hear Lieut. Lyman's attorneys before the findings of the court in his case are promulgated.

Charles Wisdom Hanged.
ST. LOUIS, April 13.—Charles Wisdom, colored, was hanged here this morning for the murder, April 24, 1892, of Edward A. Drexler, whose cigar store Wisdom entered to rob, and in which he was killed by the proprietor, who slept there. The drop fell at 6:17; death by strangulation ensued in nine minutes.

Insurgents Repulsed.
LONDON, April 13.—The Brazilian minister in this city has communicated the following dispatch to the Associated Press: "RIO JANEIRO, April 12.—The insurgent vessels have been repulsed in the bay of Rio Grande and have escaped to the open sea."

"The Foreign Minister."

Bishop Southgate Dead.
ASTORIA, N. Y., April 13.—Right Rev. Bishop Horatio Southgate died at his home here last night. He was born in Portland, Maine, on July 5, 1812, and in 1832 was ordained. He spent many years in Turkey as a missionary and was consecrated bishop in 1844 of all the dominions of the Sultan.

A Pilot Drowned.
NEW YORK, April 13.—While trying to board the frigate Banian, Pilot Henry Grever was drowned. Boat Keeper Ed Mentor and Seaman Edward Condon managed the making of the boat, which was good progress toward the steamer when the frail craft was lifted on the crest of a big wave and capsized.

Book OF THE Builders!

COMPILED IN COMMEMORATION OF THE GREAT ACHIEVEMENT BY THE MEN WHO CREATED, DIRECTED AND CONTROLLED IT.

The authoritative history of the building and operation of the World's Columbian Exhibition, published under a special charter from the State of Illinois, and issued in TWO EDITIONS: Standard Edition (or Edition de Luxe) in ten numbers, superbly prepared, with original illustrations bearing the personal signatures of over fifty of the leading artists of America. Executed on hand-made paper. Elaborately printed in white and gold, as ten separate volumes. Price, $1000.

POPULAR EDITION (prepared for The Duluth Evening Herald by the same publishers, editors, authors and artists), in twenty-five numbers, illustrated by one hundred full-page plates in fac-simile colors of original paintings by fifty leading American artists; two hundred pages of text and illustrations; several hundred sketches and designs by fifty-eight of the leading American illustrators.

What the Critics Say:

A copy of Part I of "The Book of the Builders" was submitted to Mr. Charles Parsons, for twenty years Art Critic for Harper & Brothers, and also to Mr. O. H. Perry, art director for Charles Scribner's Sons, both of whom pronounced it not only the greatest book on the subject, but the greatest on any subject that has ever been brought to their notice. Charles Dudley Warner, who read the text of the manuscript, was enthusiastic in his expression of praise. "Mark Twain," prior to his departure for Europe, spoke in a like vein of both text and illustrations. So great has been the enthusiasm among the artists of New York that it has been impossible to keep articles upon "The Book of the Builders" out of the newspapers. Herald readers are unanimous in proclaiming it to be the greatest premium ever offered by any newspaper to the public.

Default has been made in the payment of the sum of twenty-five and 25-100 dollars interest, which became due and payable on November 1st, 1893, and in yet owing and unpaid upon a certain mortgage and mortgage note secured thereby duly made and delivered by Thomas Dowse and Mary A. Dowse, his wife, of Duluth, Minnesota, to American Loan and Trust Company, a corporation duly incorporated under the laws of the state of Minnesota, of Duluth in said state mortgage, bearing date the 17th day of May, 1892, and duly recorded in the office of the register of deeds in and for the county of St. Louis, Minnesota, on the 23rd day of May, 1892, at 8 o'clock a. m., in Book 34 of mortgages on page 88, which mortgage and the debt, thereby secured were duly assigned by said American Loan and Trust Company to the undersigned E. F. Jewell, of Madison county, New York, who in now the owner and holder thereof by written instrument, bearing date the 8th day of June, 1894, and duly recorded in the office of said register of deeds on the 20th day of October, 1894, at 11:10 o'clock a. m., in Book 117 of mortgages on page 325.

And whereas, said mortgage is a default in one of the conditions of said mortgage, and has remained for a period of more than ten days, it has become optional with the holder of said mortgage and the note secured thereby by the terms thereof to declare the whole debt secured by said mortgage to be immediately due and payable, in the exercise of which option the holder thereof has elected to do so, and is hereby declared and claimed to be due, and is due, owing and unpaid, amounting at the date of this notice to the sum of seven hundred and eighty-eight and 4/10 dollars.

And whereas, said mortgage contains a power of sale which by reason of said default has become operative, and no action or proceeding at law or otherwise has been instituted to recover the debt secured by said mortgage or any part thereof.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given, that by virtue of said power of sale and pursuant to the terms of said mortgage and the note secured thereby, said mortgage will be foreclosed, and the premises described and covered thereby, and situated in St. Louis county, Minnesota, to-wit: Lots number one hundred and thirty-two and one hundred and thirty-three (132 and 133) in block number 60 in the Duluth Proper Third Division, according to the recorded plat thereof, executed and approved by the Duluth Board of Public Works, and the highest bidder for cash to pay said debt and interest and fifty dollars attorney's fees, as stipulated in said mortgage, to be paid in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law, shall be made by the sheriff of said county, in the city of Duluth, in said county and state, on Saturday, the 25th day of May, 1894, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon of that day, subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale as by law provided.

Dated March 23rd, 1894. E. F. JEWELL, Assignee of Mortgage.

NOTICE OF MORTGAGE SALE.

Default has been made in the payment of the sum of forty-three and 15-100 dollars interest, which became due and payable on the 1st day of January, 1894, and in yet owing and unpaid upon a certain mortgage and mortgage note secured thereby, duly made and delivered by William Williams of Duluth, Minnesota, to American Loan and Trust Company, a corporation duly incorporated under the laws of the state of Minnesota, of Duluth in said state mortgage, bearing date the 17th day of May, 1892, and duly recorded in the office of the register of deeds in and for the county of St. Louis, Minnesota, on the 23rd day of May, 1892, at 8 o'clock a. m., in Book 34 of mortgages on page 88, which mortgage and the debt, thereby secured were duly assigned by said American Loan and Trust Company to the undersigned E. F. Jewell, who is now the owner and holder thereof by written instrument, bearing date the 18th day of August, 1894, and duly recorded in the office of said register of deeds on the 25th day of October, 1894, at 11:10 o'clock a. m., in Book 117 of mortgages on page 325.

And whereas, said mortgage is a default in one of the conditions of said mortgage, and has remained for a period of more than ten days, it has become optional with the holder of said mortgage and the note secured thereby by the terms thereof to declare the whole debt secured by said mortgage to be immediately due and payable, in the exercise of which option the holder thereof has elected to do so, and is hereby declared and claimed to be due, and is due, owing and unpaid, amounting at the date of this notice to the sum of four hundred forty-three and 15-100 dollars.

And whereas, said mortgage contains a power of sale which by reason of said default has become operative, and no action or proceeding at law or otherwise has been instituted to recover the debt secured by said mortgage or any part thereof.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given, that by virtue of said power of sale and pursuant to the terms of said mortgage and the note secured thereby, said mortgage will be foreclosed, and the premises described and covered thereby, and situated in St. Louis county, Minnesota, to-wit: Lots number one hundred and thirty-two and one hundred and thirty-three (132 and 133) in block number 60 in the Duluth Proper Third Division, according to the recorded plat thereof, executed and approved by the Duluth Board of Public Works, and the highest bidder for cash to pay said debt and interest and fifty dollars attorney's fees, as stipulated in said mortgage, to be paid in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law, shall be made by the sheriff of said county, in the city of Duluth, in said county and state, on Saturday, the 25th day of May, 1894, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon of that day, subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale as by law provided.

Dated March 23rd, 1894. E. F. JEWELL, Assignee of Mortgage.

NOTICE OF MORTGAGE SALE.

Whereas, default has been made in the conditions of a certain mortgage which was duly executed and delivered by Moses O'Brien and Marion E. O'Brien, his wife, mortgagees, to Charles S. Green, mortgagee, bearing date the twenty-eighth (28th) day of September, A. D. 1890, and with a power of sale in case of default therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the register of deeds in and for the county of St. Louis, and state of Minnesota, on the thirteenth (13th) day of October, A. D. 1890, at four (4) o'clock p. m., in Book 36 of mortgages, on page 221; and whereas there is therefore claimed to be due, and there is actually due, upon said mortgage debt, at the date of this notice, the sum of seven thousand three hundred and twenty-five (7325) dollars, principal, interest and exchange, and one hundred dollars attorney's fees, stipulated for in said mortgage in case of foreclosure thereof.

And whereas no action or proceeding at law or otherwise has been instituted to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given, that by virtue of the said power of sale contained in said mortgage, which has become operative by reason of the default above mentioned, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and covered by said mortgage, viz: All that tract or parcel of land lying and being in the county of St. Louis, state of Minnesota, described as follows, to-wit: Lot number three (3) and four (4) of block number eleven (11), in Central Division, of Duluth, according to the recorded plat thereof on file of record in the office of the register of deeds in and for the said county of St. Louis, which premises are now owned and held by said mortgagee, and will be sold at public auction, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt and interest, and the costs of said sale, and the disbursements allowed by law, to be made by the sheriff of said county, in the city of Duluth, in said county and state, on Saturday, the 25th day of May, A. D. 1894, at 10 o'clock a. m., of that day, subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale, as provided by law.

WEST DULUTH ITEMS.

Charles W. Hoyt Returns From Rainy Lake Filled With Praises of That Great Country.

He Believes There is Gold in Paying Quantities—Country is Rich in Other Ways.

P. O. Naben Wants to be Deputy Collector of Customs Under Email Olund—Other Local News.

Charles W. Hoyt has just returned from the Rainy Lake country and is full of praises for that new country. "The Rainy Lake region is a very primitive portion of our country," he says, "and as one of our party remarked, is about as far out of the world as one can get at the present time. This fact coupled with the prospect of great activity there this season, renders it a fertile field for business in nearly every line. Numerous prospectors are at work and their shanties can be seen on many of the lake islands. I imagine this will render the scenery very picturesque in summer."

"A trip from Duluth to Rainy Lake City can be made in from three to four days. There were six in our party from Duluth and one from the Rainy Lake country. The "hotels" along the route are all built on the same general plan, consisting of two rooms. The front room is occupied by "bunks" ranged one above the other along the side walls like berths in a passenger boat, and is used as office and general sitting room, while the rear of the building contains the kitchen and dining room both in one. Some of these places are clean and inviting but they are the exception and not the rule. The rates vary from $1 to $2 per day, increasing as you get near the gold fields. The fare to Rainy Lake will doubtless be very reasonable, soon as different roads are arranging to compete for business. In our party were several investors, among them Richard Farrell, traveling passenger agent for the Canadian Pacific railway. Mr. Farrell said that he expects to make a rate of $1 or $1.25 between Duluth and Fort Francis, at the head of Rainy lake.

"As to the special attractions of this section gold is beyond question, that which has created so much interest. I am convinced that gold exists there in paying quantities. I went out on the dump at the Little American mine and on picking up a small piece of quartz at random, I asked young Mr. Hildreth if he thought it contained gold, to which he answered, 'yes, it all pans'."

Besides the Little American there is the Little Canada mine and a property belonging to Mr. Stinson, of Fort Frances, which have been found to contain rich veins. Before the discovery of gold on the latter's property, there had been given an option at a few thousand dollars, but on learning its worth, Mr. Stinson paid $500 in cash to cancel the option. I am told there are other mines in this region, but their owners are either poor or too busy organizing companies, and are not yet ready to advertise them. In addition to the mineral wealth, there are many thousands of acres of choice farming lands, which this present activity will cause to be opened and cultivated.

"In my opinion there will be many thousands of people to go into this section during the coming summer and that unlike in the old and over-boomed localities, they will make money out of the richness of the country and not have to live off each other."

DONNELLY AND SIMS

The Debate Between Them at the Lyceum Last Evening on the A. P. A. Question.

Best of Feeling Prevailed and No Harsh Words Were Uttered by Either of Them.

The School Question, Power of the Pope, Subject of Strikes, and Other Topics Discussed.

It was a mixed audience and not a very large one that listened to Ignatius Donnelly and Professor Walter Sims at the Lyceum last evening. There was a large representation of the A. P. A. that loudly applauded Sims and another that encouraged the sage. Then there were many that did not seem to care one way or the other, but simply laughed and applauded the jokes and witticisms. The best of feeling prevailed. When Sims referred to Donnelly it was as "my honored and learned friend." With Donnelly it was "my good friend," but it all reminded one of the man who only calls his wife "my darling" when the flat irons and broom sticks are flying.

There was no selection of timekeeper, no one seeming to be willing to serve, so the two debaters kept time themselves. Donnelly called Sims to time, giving him two minutes' notice, and Sims was to do the same for Donnelly, but the sage always quit a moment or two before the limit. Professor Sims came forward first and spoke for twenty-five minutes. He said the object of this debate was to bring the two sides together and nothing more. Some misunderstanding had arisen he knew not how. He was not here to make money, for he had cancelled lecture engagements that would have been far more remunerative. He was not here to abuse the Catholics for their faith. He respected their belief. "I am a member of the American Protective association," he said, "and I am not ashamed of it. I have found nothing in it un-Christian or un-American or unconstitutional. I want to meet people who are not in sympathy with us for their beliefs. The time is not far distant when those Roman Catholics who love liberty will thank God that he raised up the American Protective association to give them the power of the power of the ecclesiastical system of their church."

Several charges were then specifically made against the Catholic church. First, that the church is un-American in its teachings; second, that she is an enemy of Protestantism and believes that no other church can divide with her the power of salvation; third, that she claims a subjection over her members which will not allow them to be good American citizens; fourth, that the pope has entered into American politics and is influencing the vote of the members of the church to elect her men to office; fifth, that she is the enemy to the education of the masses of the people and opposed to the public schools because religion is taught in them; sixth, that her avowed purpose is to make this country Catholic and will use any means she can to bring this about.

He accused the Catholic church of leading in opposition to the constitution and said her desire was to get control of the whole nation. The plotting, he said, began in 1820 with the holy alliance and said the statement was made at the council held then that if it could rule America in 100 years it was all that could be asked. "If it continues at the present rate they will rule in 1920," said Sims. He read a letter which purported to be instructions to the Catholics of this country, directing them to mass their people in the cities, so as to secure control of them. He read extracts from canon law which he declared proved that the pope claims power over all governments and the right to annul all state laws.

Here Mr. Donnelly's pencil came down and Mr. Sims retired to his corner.

Donnelly makes his reply. "This is the third time we have debated," said the sage coming forward, "and no unkind word has passed between us. He has treated me courteously and I have tried to do the same with him. Neither of us is here to add fuel to the flames. My desire is to throw oil on the troubled waters. I have no abuse for the A. P. A. I take the ground that all of us desire to do what is right and I shall try to reach your good judgment. This is a lopsided debate in some sense, for the reason that the professor is an open and avowed opponent of Catholicism and ought to be met here in all fairness by some distinguished clergyman of that church. I am not a member and have never been a member of any denomination; but I am here in this controversy, as I have been in a great many other controversies in my lifetime, simply because I thought it was right. I am something in the position of the boy in the story. A gentleman living in a town met a boy of his acquaintance found him with his eyes blacked and his nose bleeding. 'Why,' said he, 'Tom, what is the matter?' Tom said: 'I have been licking a fellow.' 'What for?' 'Well,' he said, 'my sister was a cross-eyed, freckle-faced, ugly old thing.' 'Well,' said the gentleman, 'what difference did that make to you?' You have got no sister.' 'It makes no difference,' said the boy; 'I licked him on general principles.' [Laughter.] I have always been on the side of the under dog in the fight and am here defending the Catholics on general principles.

Donnelly then, as usual, gave some of his own political and congressional history to show how he was always on the side of right and justice. If all the Protestants unite against the Catholics, what are the latter going to do for a living, he asked. If they are not to be employed they cannot live. Such a spirit is not Christ-like; it is not civilized. The gospel Sims preaches, he said, could only come from the individual who took Christ up on the mountain and promised him all the earth if he would adore him.

PROFESSOR WALTER SIMS.

What is the bugbear? "What is the bugbear anyway?" he asked. "Ninety-nine out of every hundred men take their religion from the parents just as they do their features and are therefore not to be blamed for their beliefs." He answered Sims' statements as to the persecution of heretics by the Catholics in bygone ages by saying that the Catholics had never had a monopoly on persecution. It is the record of a barbarous age and every denomination did the same. Queen Mary and Queen Elizabeth killed Catholics by the hundred, and the Protestants even killed each other. John Calvin burned Michael Servetus at the stake. The Puritans persecuted and when they got to America in turn persecuted the Quakers. America should not look back on this. Her face should be turned to the light full of brightness and hope.

"The great question," said the sage, "is, shall there be a great party that assumes to be dominant founded on sectarian hate? They say they are fighting for the schools. Why, the schools are protected under the state constitutions and only popular vote can change them. There is no necessity for such a bugbear." Professor Sims' reference to the alliance of 1820, Donnelly said put him in mind of Mark Twain's sea captain telling a story he made his history to suit himself. The encyclical proclamation published in all A. P. A. papers last fall calling on the Catholics to rise, Sims admitted to have been a forgery. Why is it not as reasonable to assume that this letter calling on Catholics to gather in the cities is a forgery? Why keep them in the cities where they will die or become corrupt. Why not put them out in the country where they will multiply and increase? Archbishop Ireland, when he established his Irish colonies, put them in the western part of the state. "These are forgeries," said the sage, "and here we have a party that wants to govern our country basing its claims on forgeries." He declared the English government to be concocting the whole thing. "England is at the back of it, and she is doing the same thing here that she did in Ireland when for centuries she kept the people in subjection by telling them to fight over religion and tear each other to pieces. Why, cases have actually occurred where they rioted just as they were rioting the other day in Kansas City and killing each other, and it was proved that the leaders on both sides had English money in their pockets."

Calls Sims a Foreigner. "I have no doubt, my friend Sims is honest," said Donnelly, "but he does not come from our American education, he is a foreigner and I say it with all due respect. Sims says Catholics cannot be good citizens. Why, my friends, you have the crucifix on the wall where was the battle of Gettysburg. The fate of the nation trembled in the balance for three awful days. If we had lost that battle Pennsylvania would have fallen. New York and Washington, and we would have been today a disrupted country perhaps sitting under the banners of the confederacy. Who commanded in that awful battle? George C. Mead, a Roman Catholic, born in Spain of American parents. Did the pope telegraph him to betray the nation and did he do so? Then there was Phil Sheridan who lived and died a Catholic. In Milwaukee Mr. Sims replied to my reference to Sheridan a terrible story. He said that Gen. Sheridan was not a Catholic; that on his deathbed his wife secreted a priest in the house in Chicago and brought him for

GET NEW BLOOD IN APRIL.

The Body a Machine that Cannot be Stopped for Repairs-- Paine's Celery Compound Feeds Its Shattered Nerves, Purifies the Blood, Makes Refreshing Sleep Possible.

March winds and April showers sweep and scour the earth and clear the air of winter impurities, making it sweet and wholesome.

The same thing takes place in the body, the pores open and the blood that creeps in winter now rushes through the arteries in a fuller, stronger stream.

Now is the great season of purification, of new life, new hope, new ambition. It is the best time to get well. Spring is hopeful, and the invalid gets well quicker when hopeful than when despondent. Thousands of people throughout the country are this month taking Paine's celery compound--the great spring medicine that makes people well.

"What March does not kill may be done for by April," says an old adage. The nine weeks from Feb. 1 to May 1 develop the hidden germs of disease into the body and without. For health's sake, back yards, cellars, and the dark closets and corners must be cleaned out, and for health's sake everyone needs to take a spring medicine like Paine's celery compound, years have shown the wisdom of doing so.

Some factious references were made by the sage to an admission of Sims that he voted for Cleveland, Bob Ingersoll had lecture on "Mistakes of Moses," and Donnelly said he was going to get one on the "Mistakes of Sims."

Cannot Swallow Them All. "Now, I ask again, what is this hubbub all about? Why, it is a terror working upon the souls of the people, that this one-tenth is going to swallow up the other nine-tenths. The census of the United States, taken in 1890, shows that there are in the United States 6,500,000 members of the Catholic church. The total population is over 60,000,000. So that the Catholics, according to the census, number about one in ten. They tell the story of two colored gentlemen who were discussing the miracles of the New Testament. One of them got his Biblical record somewhat wrong, and he said to the other: 'Why, there were seven men and five women, and Christ fed them with 500 loaves and fishes.' [Laughter.] 'Well,' says the other colored gentleman, 'where was the miracle in that?' 'Why,' said he, 'the miracle was that they didn't bust.' [Laughter.] Now, my friends, if you can take 6,500,000 Catholics and put them in the country and force them down the throats of 10,000,000, it will be a miracle if they don't bust."

Donnelly closed with a few words on this country. It is a great nation where gods might dwell, he said, a bigger thing than all the churches put together. Its constitution is the essence of Christianity. Sims gives the Medicine. Professor Sims announced upon coming forward that Donnelly had given the laughing gas and it was now his painful duty to give the medicine. He likened Donnelly to a man beating the air. He had set up a straw man which he had hammered away to his own satisfaction. In answer to Donnelly's charges of Protestant persecution he said that the Protestants in those days were really Catholics, the old spirit still dwelt in them. In regard to the encyclical proclamation calling on the Catholics to rise, Sims said the church was really Catholic, the old spirit still dwelt in them. In regard to the encyclical proclamation calling on the Catholics to rise, Sims said the church was really Catholic, the old spirit still dwelt in them.

Professor Sims then read extracts from Cardinal Manning's writings purporting to prove that the Catholics must obey the pope first and the laws afterward. When laws come in conflict with the church the church must be obeyed. The Catholics must obey the church in politics. He classed Leo as a great statesman, one who ranks with Gladstone and Bismarck. The church keeps a stock in trade in both parties and has the balance of power. Grover Cleveland was elected by the Catholics. The Democrats are ashamed of it. There will be another funeral of a certain party if it does not behave itself, and out of the dust and ashes will rise another party of constitutional rights.

Pope Presses the Button. "The pope claims to have all power," he said, "and to illustrate let me describe him as having a button which he touches; the cardinals obey him. The cardinals touch their button and the archbishops obey them. The archbishops touch their button, and the bishops obey them. The bishops touch their buttons, and the people obey them. Now I want to ask you if that is consistent with the line of our American institutions in this republic? Here the people touch the buttons. Sometimes a Cleveland appears, and sometimes a Harrison. The people touch the button again, and Cleveland is told to take an excursion up Salt Creek, and they have another man. But who touches the buttons--the pope or the people? The people. Our system is entirely and altogether American. The Catholic system, because our system begins with the people, while the Roman Catholic system begins with the pope."

The church is opposed to education, he said. Extracts were read from the Catholic World and other papers to prove this. One of them said they not believe the peasant in Catholic countries two centuries ago were better educated, although for the most part they could neither read nor write. The grade school body of the American people today. Another statement attributed to Judge Dunn, of the Catholic university at Washington, was read. "I do not consider that we are doing our duty as American citizens, to ourselves or our children, in permitting such a system of public schools to exist as we have today."

Donnelly took up the provision

April has always been set down as the best time to remove impurities from the blood and to regulate the nervous system.

The formula for Paine's celery compound was given to the world by Edward E. Phelps, M.D., L.L.D., while he was still active professor in the Dartmouth medical school. A remarkable nerve food and blood purifier, it is the most valuable contribution to the world's progress that American college influence has sent forth.

Its power of restoring lives of countless men and women from feebleness and despair to strength and usefulness is known in every part of the country. It has added years of active, joyous existence to thousands of weak, tired-out, debilitated women who thought themselves doomed to be invalids for the rest of their days. Paine's celery compound cures thoroughly and finally rheumatism, neuralgia, dyspepsia, diseases of heart, liver and kidneys, and every form of nervous weakness. It cures as nature cures, by feeding the vital, inmost parts of the body, the blood and nervous system. All the parts of the body are adjusted with the greatest nicety, and a rearrangement of its affected mechanism for repairs, because we do not know the secret that would set it going again. The repairs must be made when it is in motion.

It is in sleep that the machine goes slowly, the heart beats less rapidly, the blood circulates less quickly, the nerves rest, the muscles relax, and each gains vigor in the only way it can--by sleep and rest. Paine's celery compound quiets and regulates the nerves by supplying the material for their repair, and the tired, exhausted man and woman, on the verge of breaking down, gets sleep and the means of recovery to health and strength.

All over the country Paine's celery compound is convincing overworked business men, anxious housekeepers, women behind counters and in offices, school teachers, and all who use their brains excessively, that the unequalled praise from physicians and others, who are careful of what they say, is none too strong for this great remedy that is making so many well and strong.

against strikes in the A. P. A. oath and said it was in the interest of corporations. Sims answered that it had been found that in many places strikes had been instigated by Catholics in order to get Protestant workmen out of places so that Catholics could fill them. He cited the Louisville & Nashville railway strike as one, claiming that the road is practically run by Catholics alone and that Catholic priests have ever since road in arbitration.

At his close he asked why the Catholics kept an armed force in the country. Before he was through debating with Donnelly he expected to have him converted and marching with the A. P. A.

Donnelly's Final Words. To Professor Sims' statement that the Catholics would obey the church before the laws where they conflicted, Donnelly said Protestants would do the same. Take the divorce laws, for instance. They are too lax. If a law should be passed abolishing the marriage ties would the Protestants obey it or their conscience? When the Roman laws compelled the Christians to worship idols were they not justified in obeying their conscience and refusing?

Now as to the infallibility of the pope with which Professor Sims was so full, said Donnelly, "it is the doctrine of all governments that there must be a final tribunal from which there is no appeal. Our supreme court is infallible and as I understand it the pope bears the same relation to his church that the supreme court bears to ours. He says Catholics are the slaves of the pope and yet in our previous debates he admitted that in purely Catholic countries they have stripped him of every acre of his possessions. In Catholic France they chopped off the heads of 1000 priests. There is A. P. Aism for you. [Laughter.] "He says the Catholics have parochial schools. So do the Lutherans and why? Because they want their children taught the tenets of religion in their youth. I don't agree with their ideas but I respect them."

He ridiculed Sims' idea that the Jesuits imitated the forged encyclical and continued: "This whole fight is narrowed down to a battle for the offices. It may be that the Irish Catholics have got more than their share; if so correct it at the ballot box. What is the remedy? Why have a law passed in congress saying that, whereas, the Irish Catholic, in consequence of the Scandinavian blood in his veins, has a greater capacity for getting office than any other man; and whereas the American member of the A. P. A. cannot compete with him on equal terms; therefore, be it resolved that no Irish Catholic shall ever be permitted to run for office without half a ton of bricks attached to his coat tails."

He closed with an appeal for independence and brotherly love and peace to all men.

TROOPS CALLED FOR

Owners of the Dunbar Furnace Notify the Governor the Situation Justifies Ordering Out Troops.

Their Men Are Willing to Work, But They Are Being Obstructed by the Strikers.

The Southern Section of the Coke Fields is the Headquarters of the Rioters Today.

PITTSBURGH, April 13.—The dispatches from the coke country today are conflicting. The situation in the southern end of the region is said to be critical, while in the northern territory the works are generally in operation. Nothing is known here of the call from Dunbar for troops.

Chairman Frick and Secretary Lovejoy of the Frick Coke company have received no information that would indicate the necessity for calling on the troops. Governor Pattison and Adj. Gen. Greenland were at Newcastle last night attending the laying of the corner stone of the new state hospital. They are expected here some time today and will remain over night.

A dispatch from Harrisburg would indicate that the call was not from the sheriff. It says: "The situation in Conneautville coke region is becoming more serious daily, and unless the hostilities between the strikers and the workingmen cease the state authorities will take a hand in the suppression of the belligerents. A message was received at the executive department late last night from L. S. R. Wiser & Co., of Dunbar, owner of the Dunbar furnace, stating that the situation justifies the governor in calling out the troops."

"The firm complains that their men are willing to work, but that they are intimidated and obstructed by the strikers. That many of them remain away from the furnaces. The message was received by Private Secretary Tate and he refused to make it public. He would give no further information when seen, than the bare facts just given. Mr. Tate has advised the committee that Governor Pattison is in Pittsburgh and suggests that the members see him personally."

A Montown dispatch says: The southern section of the coke field has been the headquarters of the strikers today, and between 400 and 500 armed men have been marching through the region surrounding the town since daylight. Another outbreak has been hourly expected and all that has happened has been the fact that the strikers have not interfered with workmen.

COLLAPSE IN GRAIN RATES.

A One-Cent Rate From Chicago to Buffalo Probable.

CHICAGO, April 13.—Grain rates by lake today collapsed, a late steamer being offered at 14c for wheat, corn or oats to Buffalo. Shippers were unable to take the boat even at that figure and it is likely that the agent will make a rate before night.

Ice is Still Firm.

The tug Record steamed out through the canal this morning and poked her nose inquiringly a couple of 100 feet into the ice. It is estimated that although the ice was rotten it was still too firm to admit of any possibility of pushing it out into the lake, the Record turned around and came back.

BACK TO THE OLD RATES.

Judge Dundy Orders Wages on the Union Pacific Restored.

OMAHA, April 13.—Judge Dundy has ordered the wages of Union Pacific employees restored to the old rate. This applies to all the employees of the Union Pacific whose salaries were cut last September.

The order directs the receivers to restore the old wage schedule, "so far as it relates to the men represented by the petitioners and others similarly situated; and in cases where the men receive less than $60 per month, the wage shall commence on the first day of March last, and in all cases where the men receive $60 per month or over the increase in pay shall commence on April 1."

The opinion rendered in connection with the order is a very extensive one, covering the entire history of the wage troubles on the Union Pacific road and the hearing before Judge Caldwell. Judge Dudley declares that Judge Caldwell, in his famous order, mis-stated facts and did so maliciously.

MEALS FOR THE INDUSTRIALS.

"Gen." Kelly's Army Will Reach Cheyenne This Afternoon.

CHEYENNE, Wyo., April 13.—The industrial army, under Gen. Kelly, breakfasted today at Red Buttes, the first station east of Laramie. Cheyenne will supply the next meal. All the bakers in town have been working all night baking bread and 1500 loaves and three barrels will be given the army when it reaches here.

The general desire of the army is to be taken to Denver, and while the route after leaving here has not been definitely decided, it is probable that Denver will be the objective point. Dispatches from Union Pacific officials, who are in the industrial special train, state the men are orderly. The army will reach here at 3 o'clock today.

MARYLAND PEOPLE KICK.

Want the Governor to Keep Coxeyites Out of the State.

BALTIMORE, April 13.—A special to the Sun from Frederick, Md., says: The people of Frederick are becoming very much exercised over the statement made by Honore J. Jackson, of Chicago, who passed through Frederick for Washington a day or two ago.

Jackson said the Coxey army of which he claimed to be advance agent, would pass through Frederick April 22 or 23. Many persons, speaking upon the subject, say the governor of Maryland ought to prevent this influx of undesirable men to the state. If the Coxeyites ever reach Washington, Maryland will not only suffer by the passage through it of the army, but will be the disbanding place for all kinds of men from all sections of the country.

The probability of the army invading Maryland is made more certain by the non-action of the governors of the other states, who seem to act wisely in not only speeding the army through their states, but in giving them all the recruits possible.

MAY BE EMILY'S MOTHER.

The "Holy Terror" of the Barbary Coast Found in Jail.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 13.—Mary Cunee, the "holy terror" of the Barbary coast, who is supposed to be the mother of Emily J. Freeman, the young girl who is trying to find her parents in Denver, is at present confined in the county jail for drunkenness.

When seen by a reporter Mrs. Cunee said that she had a daughter who would be 18 years old now, that when the child was 9 years old she had stolen her from a convent in Denver, but had lost her years later at Las Vegas, N. M.

Mrs. Cunee says her husband, George Cunee, owned considerable property in Chicago. She thinks the Freeman girl is her daughter and that she is trying to obtain Cunee's property. Mrs. Cunee says she will not help the girl, but is going to Denver to see her when she gets out of jail.

Tariff Amendments.

WASHINGTON, April 13.—Senator McMillan, of Michigan, has presented three amendments to the tariff bill intended to be proposed by him. One of them proposed to change the duty on cigars, cheroots and cigars from $3 per pound and 25 per cent ad valorem duty to $4.50 per pound and 25 per cent ad valorem. Another takes carbonate of ammonia from the free list and makes it dutiable at the rate of 14 cents per pound, and the third puts enfleurage pomades on the free list.

Boss McKane's Appeal.

WASHINGTON, April 13.—Robert H. Griffin, of counsel for John V. McKane, the convicted Gravesend politician has filed in the supreme court a brief in opposition to the motion made on behalf of Warden Durston to advance the hearing on McKane's appeal from Judge Lacombe's decision refusing him a writ of habeas corpus, pending an appeal from the court which convicted him.

Letter Carrier Arrested.

SOUTH BEND, Ind., April 13.—Edward Boone, an ex-mill carrier, who recently resigned, was arrested last evening and arraigned on a charge of robbing the United States mails. It is believed he may implicate others and clear up the robberies, which have mystified the government inspector for so many months.

Hill Congratulated.

NEW YORK, April 13.—William H. Grace, national president of the Home Association Protection Brotherhood of Workmen, has written to Senator Hill a letter commending his recent speech in the senate on the tariff as having imparted new life and industrial vigor to the whole depressed country.

Gen. Slocum Sinking.

BROOKLYN, April 13.—Gen. H. W. Slocum is weaker today. He had a sinking spell last night.

No Quorum Until Tuesday.

WASHINGTON, April 13.—Democratic members of the house do not hope for a quorum until Tuesday, but are counting upon the adoption of the bill of pending rule, fining members who do not respond to roll calls.

CRIMINAL CASES ON.

William Moser is Being Tried Today for Assault.

Judge Moore took up the criminal calendar yesterday afternoon, commencing with the case of William Matson, indicted for assault in the second degree. Matson is accused of sticking a knife into one Stephen Spritzer in Biwabik. The defense is that the arrest was actuated by spite on the part of the Biwabik jailer who made the arrest. An attempt has been made also to prove an alibi.

The jury in the personal injury suit of John Tomal against the Northern Pacific railroad yesterday returned a verdict for the defendant.

The jury in the promissory note case of E. C. Warner against R. H. Palmer and yesterday gave a verdict under instructions for $5312 for the plaintiff. A stay of thirty days was granted.

The jury in the case of David Sichel against M. M. Westbury returned a verdict for Sichel for $92.18.

Judge Lewis was trying this morning the case of the Sagor Drug company against John C. Howard. The suit is on a subscription to stock in the drug company made by Howard, whose defense is that he was induced to subscribe by misrepresentation.

The case of the National Bank of Commerce against J. T. Culbertson et al was on trial this morning before Judge Ensign. The suit is for a $2500 promissory note. The defense is that the note was given without consideration.

PERSONAL.

Sheriff William McKinnon, of Carlton county, was in the city last evening.

Ira A. Hill, W. D. Parker, F. P. Ainsworth and Michael Kirwan, of Sparta, Wis., were in the city last evening.

THE OLD GLASS BLOCK STORE.

TOMORROW —OUR— OPENING DAY!

TO THE PUBLIC:

We have removed to our new store, 118 and 120 West Superior Street, the old Glass Block Store. In connection with our Grocery Department, under separate management, there will be a first-class Meat Market, Fancy Bakery and confectionery and goods will be sold on a strictly cash basis at popular prices. The division of expense will enable us to conduct our Grocery Department on a smaller percentage of expense than any similar establishment in the city. Our aim will be to carry a full line of Fancy Groceries, making our Fruit and Vegetable departments a specialty. Everything in eatables can be found under one roof. Prompt delivery will be made a special feature of our business. If civility, cleanliness, and good, honest goods at the right prices count for any thing, our new store should be a winner.

We invite your patronage, feeling assured we can intelligently and economically supply your wants.

The Great Northern Strike Now Extends Over the Entire Main Line From St. Paul to Spokane.

By Tomorrow the Entire System Will Probably be Covered, Except Possibly the Coast Lines.

Strike Includes All Connected With the Handling of Traffic, Including Dispatchers and Telegraphers.

The Strikers Are Determined to Stay Out Until the Schedule of 1893 is Restored.

SEATTLE, Wash., April 14.—The strike of the Great Northern now extends over the entire main line from St. Paul to Spokane. Prospects are that by tomorrow the entire system will be covered, except possibly the coast lines. The strike includes all connected with the handling of traffic, including train dispatchers and telegraphers. Last year all wages under $120 were reduced 15 per cent, and from $120 to $200, 20 per cent, except the engineers and firemen who had a contract to be broken only by mutual consent.

During the winter the company wished to arrange a new schedule. A committee was sent to St. Paul to confer, instructed not to accept a reduction. They accepted a 6 per cent reduction and other slight changes desired by the company, to go into effect March 1.

Then a new schedule was prepared for the others to go into effect April 1. This is the schedule on the eastern divisions and in some cases slightly increased the pay in the Cascades. A vote was being taken on this schedule at the time of the strike. The strike is being conducted by an organization—the American Railway union—with which the old organizations are not affiliated. The local officers cannot explain how this organization came into control.

Telegrams in cipher were received at all offices at midnight Thursday, saying there would be a strike at noon and asking the support of all employees to get the schedule of 1893. The strikers are determined to stay out until the schedule of 1893 is restored and the officers meet the committee, and they are urging all employees to join them.

The east-bound train left here at 11:30 last night. The trainmen say it will arrive at Spokane, but do not know whether it will go farther. If it does, it will have to go further he will demand a pilot, which the company is unable to furnish. The local union will not be ordered to strike.

General Manager Case wired all offices the following: "I understand the men are going to quit at noon. Please instruct them to go further he will demand a pilot, which the company is unable to furnish. The local union will not be ordered to strike."

Distress in Persia.
TEHRAN, Persia, April 14.—A serious condition of affairs prevails at Meshed, capital of the province of Khorassan. Bread riots are of daily occurrence there and much distress exists among the 60,000 inhabitants of that city. As a result of the rioting all the bazaars have been closed and the authorities are having great difficulty in protecting property.

Egyptian Ministry Resigned.
CAIRO, April 14.—The ministry of Riaz Pasha has resigned. Riaz Pasha declared that he felt it his duty to take this step, as he was convinced that he no longer possessed the confidence of the khedive, Abbas Pasha, in the degree which he formerly enjoyed.

Armenian Patriarch Resigned.
CONSTANTINOPLE, April 14.—The Armenian patriarch has resigned, as the outcome of the extreme dissatisfaction expressed by the Armenian community with his administration of their affairs. This feeling resulted in an attempt being made upon his life on Sunday, March 25, as he was leaving the cathedral.

Fell Dead at a Funeral.
HARRISBURG, Ky., April 14.—A panic was created today near Stewart, this county, by the sudden death of William Russell. He was attending the funeral of Squire P. H. Best, who committed suicide yesterday. Just as the corpse was being lowered into the grave, Russell fell back stark dead.

A Desperado Convicted.
FRESNO, Cal., April 14.—Ed Morrill, who aided Chris Evans to escape from jail here and who has been on trial for the last two days for robbing City Marshal Morgan of his pistol immediately after his escape, has been found guilty. He will be sentenced Monday.

THIRD PAYMENT MADE.

Corbett Putting the Stakes For the Fight With Jackson.

CHICAGO, April 14.—Stakeholder Will Davis, of the Columbia theater, has received from Jim Corbett the latter's third payment of the stake money for his match with Peter Jackson.

The amount sent to Davis was $3000 and it came in the shape of a certified check. Corbett wrote a brief letter, but had nothing to say about his controversy with Jackson.

The next and final payment of $3000 will be made in May. Jackson's money will be posted on schedule time.

POSTMASTER OF DULUTH.

Maj. Baldwin Says Theodore M. Helinski Will Be Appointed as the Successor of Postmaster Howard.

WASHINGTON, April 14.—[Special to The Herald.]—Representative Baldwin said at noon today that Theodore M. Helinski would be appointed postmaster at Duluth.

Representative Baldwin presented ex-Mayor Ames, of Minneapolis, to President Cleveland this morning. Maj. Baldwin's visit to the White House today was for the purpose of discussing with the president the desirability of appointing his candidate for register of the St. Cloud land office, instead of Mike Doran's man.

Representative Baldwin today secured the appointment of Joseph Growther as postmaster at Cohasset, Itasca county, in place of J. M. Lawrence, resigned.

Later—Representative Baldwin anticipated early today that the nomination of Theodore Helinski for postmaster of Duluth would be sent to the senate today. Shortly after 2 p. m., however, word came from the White House that no appointments would be seen in today. Maj. Baldwin, however, was told by Postmaster General Bissell this morning that Helinski's papers had been signed and that it was probable his appointment would be announced today.

According to reports, Maj. Baldwin had a hard time to get Helinski appointed. Postmaster General Bissell has favored Miller, the man who has all along been Helinski's opponent. Maj. Baldwin, fearing that Bissell would not consent to Helinski's appointment, decided to go over his head and did so by making a personal plea to President Cleveland in favor of Helinski.

The local officers cannot explain how this organization came into control. Telegrams in cipher were received at all offices at midnight Thursday, saying there would be a strike at noon and asking the support of all employees to get the schedule of 1893. The strikers are determined to stay out until the schedule of 1893 is restored and the officers meet the committee, and they are urging all employees to join them.

MADELINE WINS

The Jury Returned a Verdict Against Col. Breckinridge, Giving Miss Pollard Fifteen Thousand Dollars.

A Lively Scene While Judge Wilson Was Speaking and the Air Was Very Warm.

Wilson Denounced as a Forgery the Alleged Letter Breckinridge Produced as From Miss Pollard.

Stoll Felt Insulted and Intimated a Physical Settlement, But Wilson Stiffly Kept His Ground.

WASHINGTON, April 14.—Judge Jere Wilson was again the central figure in what is doubtless the final day of the Pollard-Breckinridge case. Although he promised to curtail his speech as much as he could consistently with the rights of his client, it was apparent from the detail with which he entered into the discussion that he would consume half of the day.

Madeline Pollard, the plaintiff, was not in the court, but the Breckinridges, father and son, were in their usual places, but attended by none of the lawyers except Mr. Stoll, of Kentucky.

Judge Wilson started his speech with great earnestness. All of the specific charges against the character of his client had been disposed of, he said, except the charge resting solely on the word of the defendant that Miss Pollard had been intimate with Rhodes. According to the law, as it would be laid down by the court, however, that matter cut no figure at all, even if it was worthy of belief, because Col. Breckinridge had admitted the fact of his intimacy with Rhodes before the year of the first talk of marriage.

Entering upon a discussion of the testimony of Col. Breckinridge, Mr. Wilson started with the proposition that the plaintiff and defendant took the stand upon equal terms. "The same credibility attaches to the testimony of each, where it stood alone, but there was one vital difference, namely, that the statements of Madeline Pollard were supported by other credible witnesses, while Col. Breckinridge must ask that his word stand uncorroborated."

Then turning to another point of the testimony as showing the credibility of the defendant, Judge Wilson incited an angry passage of words. "This was not the first time he had been seduced," he said, leveling that long forefinger of his at the Kentucky colonel, "for he tells that he knew of Sarah Guess; he had been there before with some other siren before my client had seduced him."

Col. Breckinridge interposed a remonstrance, and there was an angry colloquy. "Gentlemen," said Mr. Wilson, "pick up the thread of my argument, 'one of which was 'thou shalt not commit adultery.' This defendant admits that over and over again he has violated that one. 'On the same stone is written 'thou shalt not bear false witness,' and if a man shall violate one of these commandments and be caught in the toils of the law, is it not possible under such strains he will violate the other?'"

Every other point of the defense having been disposed of, Mr. Wilson said there remained but the statement of the defendant that there was a mutual understanding that the contract to marry should not be carried out, and that he characterized picturesquely as "a clean shaven, bald headed, obese falsehood, manufactured to fit the exigencies of the case."

Discussing the circumstances of Miss Pollard's childhood he referred to the disputed letter, declaring it to be of no consequence, but he would brand it as a forgery manufactured for the purpose of the third plea, adding "and this is not the only piece of rascality manufactured for this defense." It was a common thing for papers to be forged, for the purposes of the case. Expert evidence was baldersdash, sham and pretense, and it was most remarkable that of all the years of the trial he had not produced one letter produced. Hereupon Mr. Wilson wanted to read to the judge, as he said, an opinion of the courts upon the value of expert testimony. "If it is proper for me to read this now," he said, "I will do so. If not I will pass it up to your honor."

"Is there any objection?" asked Judge Bradley, and Mr. Stoll said: "I think he had better hand it up. If we had time we could produce a dozen authorities on the other side."

Mr. Wilson, having made his point upon the jury, passed up the book to the judge and proceeded to declare that experts were paid according to the strain upon their consciences. There would be a scandal from expert testimony until legislators stipulated that unbiased experts should be appointed by the court. He cited the Mory letter as an evidence of the fallibility of expert testimony and then stirred up the fiercest passage of the trial by stating that the Wessie Brown letter, from which this had been forged, had been procured by the defense and carried in a pocket.

"Mr. Wilson," demanded Attorney Stoll, "do you mean to insinuate that I committed the forgery?"

"I do not," replied Mr. Wilson, "I say some skilled penman committed that forgery."

"Do you mean to say I was a party to it?"

"I say you had the Wessie Brown letter. Didn't you?" demanded Judge Wilson fiercely. "Didn't you?"

"I did," replied Mr. Stoll belligerently and for a moment the air was surcharged with belligerency. "I do not propose, uttered Judge Wilson, "that you shall stand here and traduce my client by the hour and intimidate me from the discharge of my duty." Then he mumbled in a knowing way, "I know some things." The Wessie Brown letter, and the alleged forgery were submitted to the jurors for comparison, while Mr. Wilson rested in the chair of the witness box and the Breckinridge forces conferred. Attorney Stoll dashed off a note and handed it to the official stenographer, who began to look over his notes. There was intense silence in the room, and when the jury had finished their examination, Mr. Wilson leaning against the witness box resumed his argument in his usual deliberate tones, one of the jurors asked to be shown another of Miss Pollard's letters. Meantime Maj. Butlerworth entered and Col. Breckinridge said to him in an undertone, laughing, "Wilson says that Charlie Stoll forged that letter."

"He will hear from that again," remarked Mr. Stoll in a louder tone. The remark reached Judge Wilson and he stepped forward from his chair. "What was it?" he asked.

"There is another court than this one," answered the tall, thin, smooth faced, spectacled Kentuckian.

"What do you mean?" asked the tall, cadaverous gray haired Indianan? "I mean, responded Stoll most deliberately, 'that you state a forged letter which I denounce as vile and infamous.'"

"What do you mean by another court?" demanded Mr. Wilson fiercely, "what do you mean by the other court?"

Here Judge Bradley interposed. "Now, gentlemen," he said, "I think you had better proceed with this."

There was a moment's pause, no one had more to say and Mr. Wilson proceeded, perfectly cool, with his argument, which he closed at 2:30 p. m.

At 2:30 Judge Bradley began his charge to the jury. He spoke first of the pollution of the case. He said it contained few interesting legal points and that if the parties had been obscure it would have attracted but little attention. But because one of the parties had been of national prominence and because, he feared, of the character of the details, it had attracted a large and sometimes a vulgar crowd. The court and even some of the jurors had been deluged with letters, conveying suggestions, to which the writers had not the decency to sign their names.

He said the jury had followed the injunction to discuss the case with no one. It was inaccurate to say that the community at large was a third party to the case. Except to see that justice was done between the parties, the world at large had no interest in the case. Public opinion should not weigh a feather weight, abstract principles were not to be vindicated, nor the country girl, the home and the family.

Personal opinions or wishes based on the relations between the parties or other factors were not to be considered. It was only a question whether a contract to marry existed and whether, if broken, there was an excuse for breaking it. The verdict was not to vindicate the character of either party. Although much of the testimony was unfit to be reviewed, it was to be said, to the credit of the parties, that they had handled delicate details as carefully and decently as possible.

Nearly all of the counsel had observed the same restraint, and he regretted that this could not be said of all of the counsel. (Here all eyes were turned to Col. Phil Thompson.) Any revolting standards of manhood which had been set up were not to be weighed as evidence, nor were collateral details to be allowed to obscure the main issue. The credit to be placed upon the testimony of plaintiff and defendant, where they differed, was to be judged in the light of the character and lives of the two, as shown, and of other circumstances affecting their credibility.

After reviewing the contentions of the two parties briefly, he read the legal instructions granted, which have already been printed. To sum it all up, if a contract was not made, or if it was agreed to with the understanding that it was not to be carried out, the verdict should be for the defendant. If a contract had been made and broken, they were to find for the plaintiff, awarding such damages as they saw fit. The verdict must be formed upon the preponderance of evidence.

At 3:07 p. m. the jury retired to consider their verdict.

SEARCHING FOR THE BODIES.
The Ruins of the Gloucester Works at Buffalo to be Searched.

BUFFALO, April 14.—The work of excavating among the ruins of the glucose works for the remains of the twelve or thirteen missing laborers will be begun today and prosecuted without cessation until the bodies are found. It is thought the corpses will be unrecognizable. The firemen say that on account of the fire it will be next to impossible to distinguish the fragments of human bodies from the other debris.

The Hamblins are not yet decided whether they will repudiate in Buffalo or not. The last computations on losses and insurance show that the latter will nearly or quite compensate for the former.

A Wisconsin Appointment.
ANTIGO, Wis., April 14.—W. H. Dawley, postmaster in this city during Cleveland's first administration, and at present editor of the Langlade County Special, received yesterday official notice of his appointment as special allotting Indian agent for Wisconsin in place of Dana G. Lamb, deceased.

Found Dead in Bed.
CHICAGO, April 14.—William Buschman, an old and wealthy resident of Chicago, was found dead in bed at his home in South State street today. Heart disease is the supposed cause of his death. He leaves an estate of about $500,000.

Killed by an Explosion.
CHICAGO, April 14.—A union tank line oil car standing on the Northwest corner of Madison street and Kinzie street took fire and exploded today. One boy was killed and several men injured.

THE WAR ENDED

Admiral Mello and the Insurgent Troops Have Been Expelled From Rio Grande do Sul.

They Reached the Uruguayan Frontier and Then Surrendered to That Country and Were Disarmed.

With Their Surrender the Rebellion in Brazil Has Finally Been Brought to an End.

State of Siege in Rio Janeiro Was Extended, But Will Now Probably Be Raised.

MONTEVIDEO, April 14.—Admiral Mello and the 1500 insurgent troops who disembarked on the frontier of Uruguay, after having been driven out of the state of Rio Grande do Sul by the troops of President Peisoso, have surrendered to the Uruguayan authorities and the rebellion in Brazil may be said to have completely collapsed.

The authorities have disarmed the Brazilian insurgents. The state of siege at Rio de Janeiro has been extended to June 13, but it is believed that, in view of the surrender of Admiral de Mello and the insurgent forces, the Brazilian government will shortly be able to raise the state of siege.

QUIET IN THE COKE REGION.
The Strike Likely to be Declared On Soon.

UNIONTOWNS, Pa., April 14.—Everything is quiet in the coke region today. The plants are generally running and there has been no demonstrations by strikers. An ample force of deputies are on guard for the protection of all the men at work and no attention will be paid hereafter to the parading of the strikers.

The advisability of declaring the strike off is being seriously considered by the leaders. They realize that it cannot be pushed without violence, which is impossible in the face of the great number of men willing to work and the large force of deputies on guard. The men are discouraged and a meeting to declare the strike off may be called any day.

WAS HEIR TO A FORTUNE.
A German Secures a Fortune by Being Arrested.

CHICAGO, April 14.—Jacob Goldman, who has been working for a saloon-keeper, was arrested in a raid on the latter's place last night. While in his cell he was informed by the German consul that he had fallen heir to 48,000 marks left him by his uncle, a wealthy distiller in Schleswig-Holstein.

The German consul has been searching for Goldman, but unsuccessfully until a policeman noticed his name on a docket sheet. Goldman proved his identity satisfactorily and the German consul said the money would be paid to him in a few days.

THE ARMY OF THE COMMONWEALTH.
It Is Slowly But Surely Marching on To Washington.

GRANTSVILLE, Md., April 14.—The members of the little army of the Commonwealth, which is slowly but surely moving on to Washington, passed a fairly comfortable night considering it from their standpoint. The trip of the past three days has been a wonderful test of physical endurance on men and beast.

The men are in good spirits today, but they have experienced the discomforts of mountain travel, and rather than the tramp of fourteen miles to Frostburg. The road is reported to be in a bad condition.

RUMORS OF ANOTHER STRIKE.
The Northern Pacific Men May Also Go Out on a Strike.

MINNEAPOLIS, April 14.—A special to the Journal from Helena, Mont., says that rumors are current there that the Great Northern strike may extend to the Northern Pacific road as the Northern Pacific men are dissatisfied with their schedules and may seize this opportunity.

CLOUD BURST IN TEXAS.
Crops Washed Away for Miles and Totally Destroyed.

WACO, Tex., April 14.—Advices from Troy, thirty miles south, state that a terrible cloud burst has flooded Elm Creek bottom, washing away crops for miles, and totally destroying them. Many houses have been washed away and much stock drowned. No loss of life has been reported.

Wessex Murder Trial.
MARSHALLTOWN, Ia., April 14.—The testimony in the Wessex murder case was completed today. Counsel argued law points on instructions during the afternoon, and the jury was excused till Monday afternoon when regular arguments begin.

Failure in London.
LONDON, April 14.—Albert Netter, formerly an investment broker in New York and Cincinnati, lately managing director of the issue company of Threadneedle street, this city, has failed.

Died From Apoplexy.
ANN ARBOR, Mich., April 14.—Dr. C. Ford of the university faculty died today. He was 80 years old and has served the university since 1854. Apoplexy caused his death.

WEST DULUTH ITEMS.

Florida Fever Seems to be Contagious and There is Growing Desire Among Many to Go.

Hall Was Filled to Overflowing Last Evening and One Hundred and Fifty Signed to Go.

Committees Appointed to Make an Investigation—Merrill & Ring to Start up Next Week.

The Florida fever is evidently spreading if the meeting held last evening is any indication. The hall was filled to overflowing with people anxious to learn the details and prospects of the migration. About twenty new names were added to the colony which raises the membership to 150. An executive committee consisting of Fred Bjorge, L. L. Aune, Gust Bergren, Alfred Anderson, Louis Nordheim and M. Nelson was appointed to meet a similar committee from the Superior colony and arrange all necessary details. This meeting will be held tomorrow afternoon. The secretary of the colony was instructed to procure all information possible in regard to the project for the benefit of all desirous of making the pilgrimage. The next meeting will be held on Friday night when the delegates to Florida will be selected.

Must Have Permits.
There seems to be a good many people in West Duluth who do not know that buildings cannot now be erected without permits from the proper authorities. The suspension of work has been demanded on several residences about town owing to either ignorance or neglect in complying with the terms of the city ordinances.

West Duluth Briefs.

WHEAT DULL AND LOWER.
Very Active Demand for Wheat Arrive But None Offered.

The wheat market opened dull and weak today and ruled dull all through the session, although prices trended up towards the close. There was small trading in July and May. The special feature was the active demand for cash wheat and being unable to get a bushel. Some think the visible report will show an increase on Monday. Wheat stocks here increased about 200,000 bush this week. The close was firm at lower than yesterday, except for July, which was lower. Following were the closing prices:

No. 1 hard, cash, 82 1/2c; April, 89 1/2c; May, 84 1/2c; July, 82 1/2c; September, 81 1/2c; No. 2 hard, cash, 81 1/2c; April, 88 1/2c; May, 83 1/2c; July, 81 1/2c; September, 80 1/2c; No. 2 soft, cash, 79 1/2c; April, 86 1/2c; May, 81 1/2c; July, 79 1/2c; September, 78 1/2c; No. 3 hard, cash, 78 1/2c; April, 85 1/2c; May, 80 1/2c; July, 78 1/2c; September, 77 1/2c; No. 3 soft, cash, 77 1/2c; April, 84 1/2c; May, 79 1/2c; July, 77 1/2c; September, 76 1/2c.

The Weather.
U. S. WEATHER BUREAU, DULUTH, MINN.,
April 14.—The pressure is lowest, north of Monaca and highest, north of Lake Superior.
Showers have occurred in the western lake region, the lower Missouri valley and Arkansas.
The temperature has generally risen in all reporting districts.
The weather is threatening, or showery this morning from the lake regions southward to Kansas and Arkansas.

Duluth temperature at 7 a. m. today,
34 degrees; maximum yesterday, 35 degrees;
minimum yesterday, 22 degrees.

DULUTH, April 13.—Local forecast until 8
p. m. tomorrow: Generally cloudy, with occasional showers; cooler this evening; east to north winds.

JAMES KENNELLY,
Local Forecast Officer.
WASHINGTON, April 11.—Forecast for thirty-six hours to 8 p. m. tomorrow: For Wisconsin: Local, followed by general rains; warmer tonight; easterly winds, becoming variable. For Minnesota: Local rains or snow, warmer tonight; cooler in extreme northwest in northern Sunday night; easterly winds becoming variable. Signals are displayed on Lake Michigan.

The Tariff Discussion.
Washington advises state that the probabilities now are that the Republican leaders of the senate will not only consent to the continuation of the daily limitation of debate on the tariff for next week, but that they will agree to close the general debate by the end of the week. The circumstances which may interfere with this program is the probability that there may be several Democratic speeches during the week which would consume a part of the time that Republicans would otherwise be permitted to occupy. Senators Smith and McLaughlin have already given notice of their intention to speak, and there will probably be others of the Democrats who will wish to be heard before the general debate shall close.

There are not a great many more Republican senators who will speak on the general features of the bill, and it has become apparent that they will not seek to prolong this part of the debate even to the extent of pressing all the general speeches which they could make. It is equally evident that it is their purpose to reserve all that is possible for the debate on the various schedules, for which each of the Republican senators will demand the most extended and exhaustive consideration.

It is upon these schedules, such as petroleum, lead ore, agricultural products, wool, iron, tin-plate and dozens of others, including almost the entire category of manufactured articles, that the Republicans count to furnish texts for prolonging the debate possibly into the summer.

This disposition on the part of the Republican senators to prolong the settlement of the tariff question will be deeply regretted, and they will not raise their voices in the favor of the business men by adopting such an unwise course. The recovery of the country from the great depression is now hindered by the uncertainty in regard to tariff legislation. This uncertainty has a paralyzing effect upon the inauguration of new enterprises. It prevents the reopening of factories and mills and it acts as a complete check upon business generally.
That the Republican senators should contemplate prolonging the debate on the various schedules into the summer will be disappointing. Every business organization in the country should at once flood them with petitions to cut short the discussion and put an end to the baneful effects of the existing uncertainty.

The Canadian Pacific.
The thirtieth annual report of the Canadian Pacific railway, for 1923, has been issued and contains many points of interest. The total income of the road last year was $20,662,317.44, and the expenses were $13,220,001.39, leaving net earnings of $7,741,416.05, as against $8,420,347.56 in 1922, a decrease of $678,- 931.51. There was an increase of expenses last year over 1922, however, amounting to $231,897.18 which would leave the net loss last year on the basis of the business of 1922 only $47,034.33, a much smaller decrease than is shown by many American roads.

The report speaks favorably of the Duluth, South Shore & Atlantic and the Soo properties, which are controlled by the Canadian Pacific. While it says the business of both has suffered severely on account of the depression, the lines are reported as "in excellent condition, well equipped and most favorably situated for commanding traffic, and a revival of trade will enable them to quickly recover."

Duluth has a considerable interest in this great Canadian road owing to its control of the South Shore and Duluth & Winnipeg roads, and hence its expression of confidence in the South Shore road is gratifying and encouraging to business interests here. The time is not far distant when the Duluth & Winnipeg will be extended to the international boundary at St. Vincent, giving the Canadian Pacific a shorter line from the Atlantic to the Pacific via Duluth and An Unwise Resolution.

Because Robert A. Benson performed his duty as a member of the police force during the labor troubles of 1920, the common council has been asked not to confirm his appointment as a city detective. Such action would be worse than injustice to Mr. Benson—it would be a direct notification that voters can have their own way in Duluth hereafter; it would be an intimation to the police that if called upon to suppress a riot they should refuse to obey the head of the department.

The Herald cannot believe that the members of the Trades and Labor assembly gave this matter due consideration or they would not adopt such a resolution in direct antagonism to law and order, because the majority are law-abiding and law-respecting citizens. The subject was introduced by J. H. Baker, who is well known as a loud-mouthed demagogue and professional agitator, who labors more with his mouth than his hands or brains, and the Herald is astonished that the respectable members of the assembly failed to vote down the resolution against a man who performed his full duty in the upholding of the law.

Mayor Lewis and Chief Armstrong carefully investigated Mr. Benson's record before recommending his appointment. They found he had been a very efficient detective and a brave and faithful police officer, and for these reasons the council should promptly confirm the appointment.

Recent cable dispatches from St.
Petersburg announced that the council of ministers has sanctioned a law forbidding tontine insurances. The measure is chiefly directed against the American life companies doing business in Russia. These companies fought to the end desperately against the proposal to enact such a law. The dispatch adds that Americans feel that there is great danger that other nations will follow the example of Russia. The loss to the companies will not be material if it is confinned to Russia.

Japan seems to be an inviting field for life insurance. According to the census of Japan taken in 1921, the total population of that country was 75,450,000.
Of this number 177 had passed 100 years of age and over; 8100 who were over 100 years of age, 40,456 of 101, twenty-six of 102, seven of 103, six of 104, one of 105, seven of 106, and three of 107.
The combined ages of the 177 aggregated
16,037 years.

The expulsion of Jud La. Moure from the Republican state central committee of North Dakota as a traitor to the party, because he aided in electing Senator
Roach, possibly is just treatment but it does not look like good politics. Jud has enough power to make the committee very tired.

President James J. Hill's interviews might be interpreted to mean that the Duluth-Foston line will not be built this year, but he did not mean that. He has a habit of dodging a direct question, and there is good reason to believe that the line will be built this year.

The Washburn organs are not saying very much and his Washington press bureau has ceased to shout his praises.
The senator evidently thinks a silent campaign will not attract so much attention to his record.

Senator Hill's speech does not please the "cuckoos" but it contains some incontrovertible facts and that is why it hurts.

1894-GRAND SPRING OPENING-1894

TWO Days
of Tremendous
... BARGAINS!

Monday, April 16th.
Tuesday, April 17th.

TWO Days
of Tremendous
... BARGAINS!

PANTON & WATSON'S Glass Block Store
DULUTH, MINN.

Has undergone a complete change in its interior decorations. Painters, carpenters, kalsominers, have been busily engaged in our big stores for the past four weeks and we are now glad to say they are gone. This, however, won't interest you half as much as what we are going to give you in the way of Bargains at our Annual Spring Opening. Our advantageous spring purchases; our choice and well selected stocks and the many Bargains we have for you this season will crowd our store with purchasers from early morn until late at night. It will be impossible for us to give you more than a faint idea of the GRAND GOOD THINGS we will offer, not only during this sale, but throughout the entire spring season.

Our Methods AND OUR...
Reward!

As to the former, we would remark they are ours and ours only. We buy and sell after our own plans and specifications. Imitation is only a form of flattery and we never flatter. Again we never bid against ourselves. We make the price, and it always goes. We don't put down here and up there, but everything is on a basis of horizontal reduction to suit the times. As to our reward, verily we are having it. The people are wise enough to know their friends, and the amount of trade tells a

TRUTHFUL TALE.

A Natural...
Sequence!

The outgrowth of intelligent and persistent effort ought to be success. We are not the Creatures of Chance—the sport and prey of every stormy wind that blows. Good buying, close selling, energetic advertising, and polite and honest treatment will make and hold trade. That's why we have earned and maintain our present position.

ARE WE RIGHT?

The Charm of Individuality

In the selection of a Dress, Wrap, Hat or Parasol. It is not alone necessary that a Dress should be beautiful, tasty and becoming. It should, above all else, be Distinct. In order to insure that, we have bought a tremendous assortment—nearly all different and each one a gem. The purchaser of any of the below articles from us will not suffer the mortification of seeing her dearest foe walk into the opera house or church wearing a duplicate of her dress. In New York it might not matter, but here in Duluth—

OH, SAVE US!

TO OUR PATRONS: Never in our business career has such Reliable, Trustworthy Merchandise been so cheap as it is today. Never has our firm or its buyers exercised as much care in their purchases as they have this season, and never have we been able to offer you such inducements as we can and will this spring. NOTHING FREE—Realizing the fact that money is still scarce, we have decided to give nothing away FREE at this Opening. However, we have decided to give the $500.00 (we generally put into music and some article to be given away) TO OUR CUSTOMERS IN BARGAINS during the three days of our Opening. The Bargains quoted here are positively for those three days only. REMEMBER THE DAYS, REMEMBER THE PLACE, BE ON HAND EARLY. Bring your money with you; our terms are the same today as they were seven years ago, namely: Cash and One Price to All. MAIL ORDERS PROMPTLY ATTENDED TO.

NAVIGATION MATTERS

General Traffic Manager Finerson, of the Central Vermont, Here Arranging for the New Transportation Line.

Smith-See Steamer Ossifrage Will Run on Lake Huron, Exchanging Runs With the Steamer Lora.

Propeller Mahoning First Boat to Take Out Clearance Papers—Government Inspectors Are Busy Now.

John C. Fitzpatrick, formerly of Cleveland, has become associated with H. B. Earhart's vessel agency and the firm is Earhart & Fitzpatrick. Mr. Fitzpatrick is an old vessel man and knows the lakes thoroughly. He arrived in the city on Thursday and will remain here. This firm is agent for the Duluth-Ogdensburg Transportation line which was formed during this winter through the efforts of Mr. Earhart, as has been noted in The Herald heretofore. It is to operate in connection with the Central Vermont railway and covers a route which Duluth has not heretofore had. The boats which will run on the line are the J. C. Ford, Ohio and Saginaw Valley. The J. C. Ford will arrive here among the first lot. She is now in Buffalo. The Ohio is in Milwaukee and the Saginaw Valley in Buffalo. They will begin running immediately upon the opening of navigation. They connect with the Vermont Central at Ogdensburg, N. Y. L. A. Emerson, of St. Albans, Vt., manager of the Vermont Central road is in the city, making arrangements for the opening of the line. H. B. Earhart will be the traffic manager.

Ossifrage Going Away.
The Ossifrage, the Smith-See company's boat will run on Lake Huron this summer, an arrangement having been made with F. H. Wheeler, owner of the Lora, to exchange runs. The Lora will come here and run from Houghton. This change is made because the Lora is of too deep draught. Her gross tonnage is 616.66 and net, 466.66 against 137.71 and 389.35 respectively of the Ossifrage. There is not much difference in length, the Lora being 161 feet to the Ossifrage's 155, but in depth the Lora is 17.7 to only 9.2 for the Ossifrage.

Marine Notes.
The propeller Mahoning, Captain Doob, master, left the first clearance of the season at Duluth today. The vessel clears light for Buffalo, but will load flour at Superior. The earliest clearance last year was the James Fish, Jr., on May 3, but the boat did not leave port until May 9.

The first steam vessel to file a certificate of inspection this year was the A. Booth passenger and freight steamer. Hiram R. Dixon, inspectors Chalk and Monaghan inspected her thoroughly yesterday. She may have next week.

United States inspectors Chalk and Monaghan leave for Grand Forks Tuesday where they will inspect several of the Red river steamers. After the work on that river is cleared up they will proceed successively to Stillwater, Bayfield and Ashland.

No wheat charters are being made now but the rate at opening will be about 2 1/2 to 2 3/4 cents.

The Mahoning moved out of her winter quarters this morning and went over to the Duluth Roller mill to take on flour. Tomorrow or Monday she will complete her cargo at the Freeman and Daisy mills in Superior.

The Record was taken out of the dry dock this afternoon and the Bob Anderson and his party. The Record will break way for the Mahoning to Superior.

The W. H. Stevens moved yesterday from the Omaha dock to the Imperial mill.

A BOLD ROBBERY.
Thieves Remove Rings and Jewelry From a Show Case.

Quite a bold robbery was perpetrated on Superior street sometime between 11 and 11:30 o'clock this morning. Hirschy & Regli, manufacturing jewelers, have quarters over Howard & Haynie's dry goods store. At the bottom of the staircase a showcase filled with samples is usually located. The robbers pulled off the small padlock and scooped out a lot of rings, sword pins, spoons and other wares, making their escape without detection.

One of the tenants of the second floor happened to notice the case door open and notified the proprietors. The police were promptly notified and Detective Hayden being at headquarters immediately set out in search of the thieves. Up to 1:30 no trace of them had been reported to police headquarters.

The loss will amount to something over $100 and falls quite heavily upon this little manufacturing firm.

PERSONAL.

R. L. Montgomery, who has been acting as advertising manager for a large clothing house in Cincinnati for the past year, has returned to Duluth to remain. Mrs. Schrack, grand chief, and Mrs. Eldridge, grand junior, of Pythian Sisters of Minnesota, departed for Minneapolis, their homes, today.

Miss Clara Nelson, of Minneapolis, arrived in the city this morning to make her home with her sister, Mrs. F. E. Wyman.

C. W. Kimberly came down from Biwabik last evening.

F. E. Harris, of Ashland, Ohio, is at the Spalding.

Matt Clark came up from St. Paul this morning.

George C. Squires, of St. Paul, was in the city last evening.

J. H. Burns, C. D. Hibbard and George Bellinger leave tomorrow for Madison, Wis., to appear before the United States district court in the case against Barker, Coburn and Vokes for illegal voting from scows.

Dan W. Palmer returned from the West yesterday. He says the Midwinter fair is losing money. It is a nice show, especially in an architectural way, but is a good deal like a big bazaar.

Free Drinking Water
A little choice microbe
Upon the winds was driven;
It fell on the streets of Duluth,
And murmured, "This is Heaven."

Absolutely pure and safe to drink, can be had by calling at our store, where we have on exhibition the celebrated Pasteur Germ Proof Filter. Lake, river and spring water and also well and cistern water, contains a certain number of microbes. Consequently, when drinking such water, two cases are likely to present themselves—either these microbes will not meet such conditions as would be necessary for them to thrive, and then they will rapidly die; or they will meet with favorable elements, when they will multiply in our system. In the first case they will have no action; in the second they may bring illness and death as its consequence. There is no greater blessing than good, pure water. Men have lived without food for forty days, but no man ever went without water nine days and lived. The above cordial invitation is intended for you all. Don't come once, but as often as you can. We are always glad to see you.

A SPRING CHANGE.

My big stock of first class fine suitings must be sold in the next four weeks. My object is to do fine tailoring exclusively after that time. The large part of my custom is for fine tailoring only and in order to attend to that exclusively I want to clean up the stock which is now mixed. My full stock will be here in about four weeks and the present stock must be out of the way by that time. This is what will do it:

Suits for $25 up!
Pants for $7 to $10!

$10 will buy the finest pants in the house.
The lowest prices we ever had were $35 for suits and $10 for pants.

The Workmanship

Will be up to our standard, recognized in Duluth as the highest—we simply want to clean out our stock.

HIGH SCHOOL MUSEUM.

A Growing Feature of Duluth School Building About Which Very Little Has Been Said.

A Fine Start Has Been Made and the Exhibits Are Being Added to Every Day.

Some of the Curiosities Which Have Been Secured or Contributed--Donations Wanted From Everybody.

Those who look upon Duluth's Central High School building are never tired of giving expression of wonder and admiration. "If walls of brick and stone and mortar have such an effect, what will be the result when the educational features and accompaniments of the interior are perfected and fully known? The normal training room, the gymnasium, the assembly room and the normal training department, the physical and chemical laboratories have been praised and appreciated. Now comes a new feature--the museum.

The Duluth high school museum was started only last fall, yet today it is on a substantial basis and is bound to be one of the most meritorious and popular features of the high school. It is not only always available for the use of classes, but it is something that citizens and visitors can always give inspection, at any time and for any length of time.

The museum is located in a neatly finished, well lighted room, 40 by 60 feet, in the southwest corner of the third floor of the Central High School building. These quarters will accommodate enough specimens to put to shame the museums of nine-tenths of the Western colleges. It is only a question of a little time until that space will be pretty well filled, too.

Entering the door four large cases are found. They are about twelve feet long, six feet high and several feet wide. The glass-covered tops slope sharply like the roof of a house, inside narrow shelves rise one above another, affording an excellent view of the specimens and curios laid thereon. Beyond these cases are several others, similar in form to the first, but smaller, and containing various specimens. There are a couple of handsome upright cases, and several tables stand against the walls in the considerable space yet unutilized with cases.

The exhibit has been arranged under the direct supervision of H. W. Pearson, clerk of the board of education. In speaking of the museum he says: "We are just getting started. Many exhibits are yet unopened and others only commenced. In making our start last fall we had hopes of securing any amount of stuff at the World's fair. We found, however, that a great deal of the specimens and curios on exhibition there had been pledged to the great Columbian museum, but despite that we secured considerable material, especially in shells and minerals from all over the world. There are many people right here in Duluth who have things they might donate to this museum. We are sure that but few know that we have made any determined start in this direction. I wish that all citizens here would make it a point to remember our exhibit. Last fall Capt. Durand presented us with a steel tape bearing all the coefficients and just the other day he gave us a telegraph instrument used by government engineers on a battle field in the late war. All such presentations are but proper and appreciated."

A cursory glance at the display now to be seen may be of interest to many and at the same time give a better idea of the start made towards the museum. One case is filled with sponges. The Smithsonian institute donated some of those. Many varieties are shown, some of which are very rare, and some of those are not up on sponges. There are tube, finger and cup sponges. A glass rope sponge from Japan is very rare and quite valuable, as also is a skeleton glass sponge from the Philippine islands. Another case is filled with beautiful and curious shells from all over the world. A book of "Mathematical Recreations," bound in leather, brown with age and printed in London in 1633 is a rare specimen. It bears the imprint of Gales & Richards, London, and is a fine specimen of the press of today. The geometrical figures seem to be stamped in after the subject matter proper was printed, as the lines of the diagrams in many instances overlap the print. There are also the live parts of a Chinese volume, coverless and with the distracting characters printed on only one side of a leaf of the exceedingly thin, light paper. There is a nice exhibit of coral from the West Indies and California together with more shells from China, Florida, the English channel and the East Indies.

A section in one of the large cases contains star fishes and other crustaceans. Among the lot are a couple of shark's eggs, most interesting specimens. The United States fish commission, through Maj. Baldwin, presented most of these specimens.

A step farther and the case shows a fine exhibit of quartz, rubies, agates, opals, Jasper, onyx, and rose quartz. A specimen of agatized wood from Arizona is very beautiful as also amethysts from Hungary, Canada and Thunder Bay.

Silicates, phosphates and sulphates occupy the space in another section. There is a very nice collection of fossils from South Africa. Some mammoth garnets, in their natural matrix, from Alaska, are bound to attract attention. The next section contains galesites and carbonates, after which comes a small start towards a collection of fossils. New specimens are coming in every day. A very perfect crinoid is one of the prizes in the lot now exhibited.

A porcupine fish, a hawkbill turtle and a few similar specimens are bound to catch the eye, after silver, copper, lead, tin and manganese ore is seen. After that is a nice array of the elements--grain, the iron from Arizona, bismuth, a most interesting specimen of meteoric iron, which fell out of the fathomless heavens, graphite, sulphur and so on. A handsome specimen of rock salt, a perfect quadrilateral, with an appendage on one corner, is also among the lot. After the elements come the fluorites, chlorides and halides.

From one has been secured from Canada, Washington, Oregon, Iowa, South Dakota and Nova Scotia. There is a lot from other countries due just as soon as it can pass through the house from the Columbian exposition. Mr. Pearson says that a complete exhibit must be secured. Specimens from only eight or ten mines have been secured and those from forty mines are desired. It is desired that all the represented, and the people of Duluth and the range towns are expected to help.

In the hydrocarbons, a specimen of pure amber from the Baltic sea, secured beside jet from England and asphalt from Trinidad. By a piece of gilsonite, very rare, and a sort of refined asphalt, being discovered daily on the Canadian border, the gold ore must prove attractive. A specimen of free gold from mineral assaying $25,000 per ton is in the lot. One piece from Arizona was mined 9000 feet above the sea level.

A broom and bow used by the aborigines of Ceylon attract attention. Only two of these aborigines are left and not only are they about the bottom of the scale of intelligence and civilization, but they use none of the implements and articles of civilized people. There money is cowrie shells of which some beautiful specimens are exhibited. A cabinet of entomological specimens, made of red cedar, that preventative of moths, and containing over forty drawers, was presented the museum by Mr. Pearson and his wife. It is a complete collection, which is highly interesting even now, after which it is bound to be most valuable.

Mr. Pearson says the extent and efficiency of this museum depends not a little upon the public. To interest that public is one of the wishes and aims of the museum. Mr. Pearson says that the collection of any kind will be most welcome.

COMICAL EXPERIENCE

Story of How Mistaken a Traveler Was in His Opinion of an Ugly Looking Couple.

Heard Them Talking in the Night About Killing and Was Scared Half to Death.

His Chagrin Was Great When He Found They Had Killed a Chicken For His Lunch.

A company of men were discussing various subjects and swapping stories a few evenings ago and the conversation turned on judging human nature. One of them remarked that he had been badly mistaken once and relieved himself of the following tale:

"One summer about ten years ago, when I was a young clerk in a large wholesale establishment in Chicago, after a year's hard work, I was given a month's vacation. I was badly run down by my work, and my physician advised me to use my vacation in some way that would give me a good deal of outdoor exercise; to offset my long siege of hard clerical work. After some consideration we agreed that a pedestrian trip through the state or two would set me up right, so I prepared. If bicycles had been so much the thing then as now, I suppose it would have been a bicycle trip. But I had no bicycle, and I had no money to buy one, so I went on foot. I set off on my journey which took me from Chicago through Indiana to Cincinnati about 350 miles in a bee line. I had all the time I wished at my disposal, although at the end of my second day I thought it was a rash offer on the part of my employer to say so. I felt at that time as though I met him he had been before I got to Cincinnati and back. But I soon became used to walking, and by the time I had been out four days I could make as much time with as little trouble as any tramp, and I never felt better in my life."

"It was when I had covered more than half of the distance on my way home that I had an experience that nearly turned my hair gray in a single night."

"I was walking alone one evening about dark on a lonely country road, had been walking all day excepting an hour's stop for lunch, and I was about as tired and hungry as a man could be. I had been misinformed as to the distance to the next town, but I had intended to take supper and remain over night, and having gone too far to think of going back, I was looking anxiously for a farm house to which to apply for lodging. I had been going for fifteen miles with about as much rest as I could carry, and I was estimating the amount of good farmhouse fare I could stow away, when a cloud of darkness came over me and I found myself in a lower window."

"I quickened my pace and soon came up to the house. It was a large, handsome looking house with one dim light in a lower window. I quickened my pace and soon came up to the house. CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Topic For the Week Beginning April 15. Comment by Rev. S. H. Boyce.

Topic--Self control and how to gain it. Col. III, 1-17. (A temperance topic.)

The words which have been chosen to illustrate the topic have been peculiarly well chosen. They were written to those who had gone from asceticism to license. The motto for a change in this condition is the highest possible, "If ye then be risen with Christ." The passions that need controlling are aptly portrayed, and also the only principle by which we may have the nearest perfect self control is made manifest. Let us notice.

1. The appetites to be controlled (Col. I, 6-7). These are, first, the sensual appetites, the lusts of the flesh, such as fornication, uncleanness, incontinence, affection, evil companionship. In these things they had formerly indulged, but now they had become Christians and must flee worldly lusts. Nothing is more necessary to the Christian than a pure heart, a pure mind and a pure life. Social purity is one of the crying evils of the day. If we would make a success of this life, if we would have any hopes for the future, we must control this appetite.

2. The passions to be controlled (Col. II, 10-11). Paul not only speaks of the appetites which the Christians needed to control, but also the passions which needed to be held in check. 1. Anger and wrath. These are both prohibited in God's word. "Cure from wrath," says the apostle, and "be angry, but sin not." "Be not hasty in thy spirit to be angry." Anger and wrath are common sins. They are passions that are easily educated. A little indulgence, and they are hard to be controlled, but the Christian must control them. 2. Malice. Malice is worse than wrath and anger. It is anger in action. It delights in injuring others. It is entirely opposed to a true Christian spirit. 3. Blasphemy and filthy conversation, all speaking ill of God, and impure and vile conversation. The only way to effectively control these appetites and passions is to have Christ in the heart and life.

SEVENTY-FIVE MILES SHORTER.

Mr. Hill Calling the Distance Between Duluth and Puget Sound.

WASHINGTON, April 14.--[Special to the Herald.]--Senator Davis' bill, which was favorably reported by the senate Indian affairs committee Thursday, granting the Great Northern railroad right-of-way through White Earth, Leech Lake, Chippewa and Fond du Lac Indian reservations, has for its object the shortening of the route of this road between Duluth and Puget Sound. At the present time the route is 100 miles long, but the new route will make the distance seventy-five miles shorter and thus shorten the distance to Puget Sound.

A Conference at Ashland. St. Paul, April 14.--An Ashland Wis., conference, held at Ashland, Wis., and Bodwell, of the Wisconsin Central and Northwestern lines are in the city for a conference with the striking union men. It is thought the difference can be settled.

New Logging Road. It is reported that the Howe Lumber company will during the present season construct a logging road about thirteen or fourteen miles in length running from Tower in a southerly direction. The company has about 25,000,000 feet of staveage which will thus be tapped and brought in to its mill at Tower. The road will probably be a standard gauge as the logs are to be switched in from the Duluth & Iron Range junction over the latter line to the mill. The construction of this road is planned for last year but was postponed.

Bright Spring Days. The spring should be preeminently a season of contentment, happiness and hope. In these bright and pleasant months the country should enjoy its highest degree of tranquility and prosperity. But spring, it is well known, is often a period of discomfort and disturbance in the physical system. Important organs of the body become torpid or irregular in their action, and the fact is instantly reflected in the mental condition of the individual. A disordered liver and disordered stomach, and a dull and unsteady brain. Anything which will bring the physical system into harmony with budding nature confers an enormous benefit upon the action, besides the mere allaying of physical discomfort.

Hood's Sarsaparilla does this, as thousands of grateful and happy men and women can testify, and increased use of this standard spring medicine is of more real practical importance in promoting health and quiet in the business world than reams of abstract theorizing.

Those who never read the advertisements in their newspapers miss more than they presume. Jonathan Knison, of Bolin, Worth Co., Iowa, who had been troubled with rheumatism in his back, arms and shoulders read an item in his paper about how a prominent German citizen of Ft. Madison had been cured. He procured the same medicine and cured his own words: "A neighbor and his wife were both sick with rheumatism. Their boy was over to my house and said they were so sick in bed he had to do the cooking. I told him of Chamberlain's Pain Balm and how it had cured me, he got a bottle and used it and the next day he was up and about. He said he had cured his wife and his boy. He said he had cured his wife and his boy. He said he had cured his wife and his boy."

BOWSER AND THE GAS

He Had a Great Scheme Whereby He Could Save One-half the Gas Bill.

Because Mrs. Bowser Laughed Him to Scorn He Waxed Indignant and the Worm Turned.

The Editor of the Arizona Kicker Tries an Experiment That Always Meets With Failure.

[Copyright, 1894, by Charles E. Lewis.]
"I was thinking today that it was about time," observed Mrs. Bowser as Mr. Bowser came home the other evening with a suspicious looking package under his arm.

"About time for what?"
"I suppose you've run across some more germ killer, or a new kind of medicine chest, or a pocket fire escape. How on earth you fit people take you in as they do is a wonder to me!"

"Who has ever taken me in?" he hotly demanded.
"Everybody who had anything in the shape of a wrinkle."

"I deny it. You can't point to one single instance when I have made a poor investment. On the contrary, I have saved hundreds of dollars per year in cold cash, not to mention sickness, suffering and doctor's bills, by the outlay of a few shillings now and then."

"What new idea is it this time?" she asked as she resigned herself to the inevitable.
"Mrs. Bowser," he replied after walking back and forth across the room three or four times, "if I can save one-half of my gas bill just as well as not, I'd be a chump not to do it, wouldn't I?"

"We can save it all by burning kerosene."

"Don't try to be funny, Mrs. Bowser. The gas bill is a serious thing. If I can save anywhere from $80 to $100 per month by the outlay of a couple of dollars at the start, common sense dictates my course. If I didn't save to offset your waste, we should soon be in the poorhouse. The gas bill for last month was something appalling."

"It was $4.20, I believe!"
"What you believe has nothing to do with the matter. If it wasn't $5 or $80, it will be this month. Mrs. Bowser, do you know the principle on which a gas meter works?"

"No."
"Of course not, and yet you assume to criticize my actions! There is a bellows inside the meter. The bellows is arranged to force the gas through the pipes faster than it can be burned, and thereby profit the gas company. We have paid out thousands of dollars for gas we never burned, and the time has come to call a halt."

"Well!"
"I have here a patent regulator. It is attached to the inlet pipe. With this on the pressure is decreased, and the gas is cooled. Any child can attach it. It is simple."

"I've been smelling gas around here all night."

"compact and nothing about it to get out of order. By the expenditure of $4 I save hundreds."

"Well, don't blame me if it doesn't work, and I'm sure it won't."

"Because I wish to save $1,000 instead of giving it to the gas company you are sure it won't work. Is it any wonder, Mrs. Bowser, that so many husbands throw their dollars away and impoverish their families? You object to my scheme. Of course you do. Nevertheless the attachment will be attached, and before 9 o'clock tonight the president of our gas company will hear something of it."

After dinner Mr. Bowser armed himself with a monkey wrench, a hammer, a pair of pliers, a hatchet, a saw and a half an hour later came up stairs to rub his hands and chuckle and announce:

"The president of the gas company is already beginning to grow white around the mouth, Mrs. Bowser. He won't put in four weeks at the Catskills next summer on our cash. Can't you see the difference already?"

"I see no difference whatever," she replied as she looked up at the chandelier.
"Of course not. I didn't expect you would. When a wife is determined to bankrupt her husband, she can't see anything intended to save a dollar. The regulator is regulating, however, and I feel as if a great burden had rolled off my back."

"A dozen times during the evening Mr. Bowser got up to walk about and chuckle and refer to that regulator, and he went to bed figuring that the gas company would be financially busted in six months. He hadn't got to sleep when Mrs. Bowser asked him if he didn't smell gas."

"Not a smell!" he replied as he turned over. "The gas company of the gas company probably smells a rat, but there is no odor of gas around here."

It was daylight next morning when a policeman rang the doorbell and banged away till he got Mr. Bowser down stairs and said:

"I've been smelling gas around here all night. You'd better look at your meter. The odor seems to come from that open cellar window."

"He went down with Mr. Bowser to investigate. The regulator and the inlet pipe had parted company, and for eight or nine hours the gas had been steadily pouring out of the open window and filling around the corner of the house. At the breakfast table, after the plumber, and the policeman, and the crowd had departed, and the house had been aired, and the cook's wages raised 50 cents a week to keep her on, Mrs. Bowser looked up and asked:

"Mr. Bowser, if you call it eight hours, how much gas will have come out of that window?"

He pretended not to hear and hadn't a word to say until he stood at the door ready to go to the office. Then he turned on her with:

"You can figure it with your lawyer. You can give him the exact hour you sneaked down there and uncoupled that regulator to spite me, and he can work it out. While you are not entitled to alimony I am willing for the sake of our child that you should have a reasonable sum until you can learn to make straw hats or hickory shirts! Farewell, Mrs. Bowser; the worm has turned!"

But "the worm" returned home at the usual hour, and two days later, when Mrs. Bowser saw the patent gas regulator in the back yard and asked what it was, he quietly replied:

"It's probably an old beer faucet that Green heaved at those howling cats last night!"

FIVE MINUTES FOR MATRIMONY.

A Question of Wedded Bliss That Was Easily Adjusted.

I had to wait at the depot after the other passengers had scattered in order to see the agent, and when our business had been concluded I noticed a young colored woman lingering about. She seemed to want information, and I mentioned the matter to the colored porter. He walked up to her and brusquely demanded:

"Now, den, what yo' reckon yo' want to find out?"

"Gwine to find out 'bout Abner Jones," she replied.

"Did yo' spect him to meet yo' yere?"

"Yes."

"An den yo' was gwine to get married to him?"

"Shoo! Waal, Abner Jones he won't dun be around yere today. He married."

"I'm gwine to leave yo' alone wid her!"

My sister last week, an de happy couple hev gone to Opelika fur de honeymoon. We yo' all ready to marry him?"

"Yes."

"Cum right down fur dot purpose, ch?"

"Yes."

"Shoo! Jest wait a minit. Say, yo' Jim out dar?"

Jim was a young colored man who was unfurling cotton from a dry on the platform. He came up to where we stood, and the porter said:

"Jim, dis yere pusson cum down to marry Abner Jones, but Abner he can get married to yo' sister."

We walked down to the end of the platform and back, and Jim and the woman came out of the waiting room hand in hand.

"All dun settled?" asked the porter.

"Yes," replied the pair in chorus.

"Den go up town an get hitched by de preacher, an may de Lawd hev mercy on yo' souls!"

"It was pretty sudden, wasn't it?" I queried of the porter as we watched the happy pair going up the street.

"Shoo! What's de use in fussin around 'bout gittin married?" he replied. "Lize bin dar 'bout seven times myself, and I know de lawd is de lawd, and a woman dar pertended to be shy an kept me waitin' forty minits befo' she said yee!"

THE ARIZONA KICKER.

THE FUSY BUSINESS.—From the time we could talk to the present date there will be considered more or less funny. We have never desired to make a profession of it, but were content to be reasonably funny for reasonable pay. When we established THE KICKER, we gave ourselves more rope and started in to get off some real good things. The first issue didn't bring us any returns. The second did. In the second we had a squib about Mr. Hoke and his lugging broncho. Mr. Hoke was a purely imaginary character, and we had him backed out of the saddle in a way that tickled the compositor if anybody else. The ink was hardly dry on the paper before old Cy Schenckhorn kicked the office door open and hollered:

"What's the critter what has gone to work to larrer up my tender feelin's and make me cry fur the next week?"

"What has hurt your feelings?" we asked.

"That article about Hoke and his broncho. I hain't felt so broke up in 10 years. Trot out the kuss what put that job on Hoke!" We had to admit that Mr. Hoke

"What's the critter what has gone to work to larrer up my tender feelin's and make me cry fur the next week?"

"What has hurt your feelings?" we asked.

"That article about Hoke and his broncho. I hain't felt so broke up in 10 years. Trot out the kuss what put that job on Hoke!" We had to admit that Mr. Hoke was a purely imaginary character, and we had him backed out of the saddle in a way that tickled the compositor if anybody else. The ink was hardly dry on the paper before old Cy Schenckhorn kicked the office door open and hollered:

"What's the critter what has gone to work to larrer up my tender feelin's and make me cry fur the next week?"

of that kyote named Kabbit?"

"What for?"

"In gosh to camp on his trail! Durn his hide, but I'll hev both his ears to grease my heels with afore I let up on him!"

"It's over in Utah."

"But what 'bout 'em? Locate him! That mother-in-law of his is a woman, and any blamed critter of a man in this kentry wholl hunt a woman's feelin's has got to grow wings and fly away, or ole Pete Tarbell will wallop him!"

We thought it prudent to acknowledge that the characters were purely imaginary, and at the same time read the article over to Mr. Tarbell and laughed and tried to make him laugh too. It was no go. He called us a bunch of deceivers, tore our coat and pulled our hair, and when he departed he was sorry we had any excuse for living. In the last two years we have had three funny men on the staff of THE KICKER. All came here believing that this was one of the richest fields in America. The first one wrote up something to tickle the funny man and left town with a bullet tickling his shoulder. The second found a very funny article on an incident that happened in the hotel Eagle saloon, and forgot whether the crowd which came over to the office numbered 12 or 18 men, but we distinctly remember that when the shooting began our funny man asked for a week's vacation and bolted for the hills. Six months later we heard of him in Alaska, and he was still moving on. The third man started out to locate all his incidents in up Maine and New Hampshire, and for three weeks all went well. Then he got careless and had a broad horn steer chase a fat man up Cochise place. We did say anything when we read his article in print, but gave him the general course of the trail to Prescott and the quantity of crackers and cheese usually consumed on the journey. He took the hint and the $2 salary due him just three minutes before ex-Judge Hoelzer, who is a fat man and lives on Cochise place, came puffing in with a gun in either hand and gasped out:

"I won't give the miserable slacker but set seven seconds to write to his mother and fall dead before me!"

The funny man had a safe start, but the judge stopped his subscription to THE KICKER and called us names and vowed we should never be mayor of this town again. Two weeks ago, after a long rest, we rang up the curtain on a 10 line joke which included a woman and a male's hind feet and Apache avogue. Up to date over 40 men have called to demand and receive apologies, and we have had to tell about 50 lies regarding the age and color of the male. One of our grocers made up his mind that he was the party mentioned and has stopped an ad. which was paying us $300 a year. The undertaker is the only man in town who smiled when he read that joke. He was still smiling when he came over to the office. He even laughed a little as he patted us on the back, but next minute a look of sorrow replaced his smile, and he solemnly said:

"It may be a joke. Yes, I think it is a joke. Don't do it again, however. You meant me, of course, and while I will overlook it this time, owing to the fact that I have conspired with you, your next attempt on your part will result in death! Be warned in time!"

Lovers' Rock.

"Come, my child!"

It was Rolling Thunder, head chief of the Six Nations, who spoke, and his words were addressed to Sarah, his only daughter and the handsomest of all dusky maidens.

"Must I do it, father?" she asked as she rose up and took his hand.

"You must. The white man will come here after us and look for history. Yes, you must leap from Lovers' Rock and be dashed to pieces."

"It hurts to be dashed," murmured the maiden as they walked toward the rock.

"Yes, I know, but you must sacrifice yourself. Within a few years the white man's steamboat will be plowing these waters, and it is positively necessary that the captain may point to this rock and say to his gaping passengers, 'Behold, the spot where the beautiful Sparkling Vichy Water leaped to her death because her father wouldn't let her marry. Too-goo-he, the mighty racoon slayer!'"

"But you don't oppose it, father," she said.

"Of course not, but you must leap just the same. Twenty years hence there will be a summer hotel down there by the mineral spring. What sort of a paying institution would it be without a Lovers' Rock, and a tale of sorrow?"

"Couldn't we lie about it, father? If the white man gets the legend, he won't care whether it is two or six, who cares?"

"Of course he will. The white man wants the solid truth about these things. You can't charge a guest $4 per day at a summer hotel unless your legends are straighter than a string. My child, spend your wings."

"But wouldn't it be more interesting if you were to jump?"

"You are such a big Indian, you know, and have taken so many scalps and fought!"

Rolling Thunder sprang forward and seized her and did just what my right minded Indian father would have done under the circumstances—lured her to her death and laid the foundation for the summer hotel to come. She was fatally injured. She died. There are just 580 places from which she was hurled, and if you don't fincy you have 579 others to pick from. Anything not on the bill of fare will be extra.

M. QUAD.

Too Much For Him.

The man who insists upon conversation whether you will or no was on the train with me between Detroit and Chicago. This time, as is often the case, he was one of those dear fellows, the commercial travelers. I was reading when he took a seat opposite and began to talk.

"Traveling?"

"Yes."

"What line?"

"Paper."

"Waal!"

"Then I gave up.—Inter Ocean."

Coming to Particulars.

"I am sensible of the honor you do me, Mr. Spoonamore, in the proposal of marriage you have just made," said the young woman, with a slight curl of the lip, "but circumstances over which I have no control will compel me to decline the honor."

"What are those circumstances, Miss Grimshaw?" fiercely demanded the young man.

"Your circumstances, Mr. Spoonamore,"—Chicago Tribune.

Kept Away.

"How was it, Brother Johnsing, you wasn't at the church donation party last night?"

"Tough luck, Brother Lamsing, tough luck. I was dressed and ready when I found that onery boy, Josh, of mine had nicked my party mazer."—Brooklyn Life.

MERRITT IN MEXICO

Lon Merritt Returned From a Two Months' Tour of the Land of the Greaser.

The Country is Rich in Timber and als, But Enterprise is an Irridescent Dream.

The People Are Altogether Too Slow for Him and Set a Northern Man Wild.

Lon Merritt has returned from Southwestern Mexico, where he has been traveling for nearly two months with a party of friends. "We found it a most interesting country," he said to a reporter, "and the section in which we spent forty-five days was as wild as any big wilderness I ever heard of, to say nothing about seeing. But it was rich in gold, silver and copper, and some of the finest timber I ever saw anywhere grew in those mountains. The Mexicans are just as slow as they have been represented."
